A PLANETARY GUIDE TO YOUR FUTURE

Introduction

Of several methods astrologers use to study current and future trends, the most popular one is called TRANSITS. The word “transits” refers to the positions of planets in the zodiac of signs in relationship to the positions of planets in an individual’s birth chart. Interpreting transits generally proves to be the easiest way to relate astrology to the things that are happening in our lives and to how we feel.

Astro’s interpreted reports are designed to provide the tool of astrology in a straight-forward and easy-to-read presentation. They are intended primarily for the use of the layperson, who is interested in what astrology has to offer, but does not particularly care to learn its jargon and techniques. In this report, however, you are being exposed to a little bit of the language of astrology. This is because in order for you to make the best use of a daily transit report such as this, it is important for you to be aware of a few basic ideas about how the system works. It is even more important for you to know what you can reasonably expect from astrology—and what you cannot expect—and to know what part YOU must play in making it “work” for you.

What Can You Expect—and NOT Expect?

No astrologer, and certainly no computer, can tell you EXACTLY what is going to happen to you in the future. Indeed there is no proof that the positions of the planets in relation to your chart CAUSE anything to happen. There is empirical evidence that life experience seems to reflect, or be reflected by, the movements of the planets. It is as if one is mirroring the other, but whether it is the Cosmos that is the mirror, or whether it is Life, is an arguable point for philosophers.

The point for astrologers is that there IS an observable correspondence between specific planetary patterns and life experience, and therefore we can USE to best advantage our ability to anticipate and to project those observations onto future potentials. It is reasonable to assume that if, in the past, a particular planetary aspect has been associated with a certain theme (a behavior, feeling or general type of event), it may well correspond to the same or a very similar theme in the future. It’s as simple as that... AND as complex!

An astrological counselor in a personal interview with you is in a much better position than this computer report to make an educated guess in regard to the specific details of your future prospects. This is BECAUSE the counselor can put the astrological information into the CONTEXT of the feedback you are giving as to your personal circumstances at the time and your current attitudes. The “accuracy” of your “reading” is variable according to the training of the astrologer, how forthcoming you are, and the moods of both of you at the time of the consultation.

A computer interpreted report is based upon only 2 set factors that are in no way influenced by the mood of the day:

1. A prewritten text by an author who is very knowledgeable about astrological tradition, and how astrology generally “works,” but who does not personally know YOU. The text is a “best effort” of the author that has been edited by others, then proofread, checked and rechecked before being programmed into the computer.
2. A mathematical calculation of your horoscope and, in the case of this report, of the positions of the planets on the days given.

The computer is as accurate and consistent as it can be, according to what has been programmed into it.

At the bottom line, it is YOU who will determine what happens to you!

Every astrological factor has several possible interpretations, and within those possibilities are many nuances, influenced by such things as your environmental circumstances, your ethnic background, your religious beliefs, how you fit into current social trends, how you customarily cope with emotional issues, etc.

A report such as this can tell you some of the possibilities that would enable you to use the themes of your transits to good advantage—and it can warn you of some of the possible choices you might make, or reactions that you might have, that would probably not be to your advantage. You will have to “make the connection” as to how the possibilities that the text suggests actually apply to your own life. If the text does not “hit it” just right for you, perhaps the general character of what is said has a similar flavor to what you are experiencing. If so, the suggestions given in the text may still trigger an idea you can use. The “trick” is: be an active participant”

None of this will be effective unless YOU contribute!

Certainly you can use the possibilities suggested in these transit interpretations to help you understand why you may be feeling the way you do. Don't just accept those suggestions as a reason or excuse, though. If you are not comfortable with a current situation, CHOOSE TO CHANGE it.

Of course we all know that there are some situations that you cannot change completely. A planetary theme in your chart may reflect a current aspect of your life that is affected by outside circumstances beyond your personal control. Here it is most important for you to realize that the manner in which you RESPOND to that circumstance IS within your personal control.

The text of this report gives positive suggestions for every transit. Your task is to look ahead, think about how the interpretations may correlate with the specific circumstances of your life, and then choose your best options for making the most of the transit.

This report interprets three categories of transits:

1. Major Trend—the slow-moving outer planet transits
2. Day-to-Day Trends—the faster-moving “personal” planet transits
3. Lunations and Eclipses

1. Major Trends

The transits that most people perceive as most strongly reflecting the major trends, events or critical periods of their lives are the transits of the outer planets—Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto. The outer planets move very slowly, so they indicate themes in your life that you will experience over periods of weeks, months and sometimes even years. Outer planet transits, in more detail than in this report, are the sole topic of our Your Future report which is subtitled Outer Planet Transits.

This Planetary Guide to Your Future report interprets the outer planet transits, but in less detail than the Your Future report. Because the outer planet transits are so long-lasting, you should read them first, and keep them in the back of your mind when you are looking at your faster moving day-to-day transits. It is a reasonable assumption that if you are going through a longer-lasting critical period (indicated by your outer planet transits), the manner in which you are dealing with that issue will influence the choices you might make, or the feelings you might experience, as indicated by your one-day short term transits.

You will find the interpretations of the outer planet transits listed at the beginning of each month. The beginning and ending dates given in each heading show the range of time from when the transit approaches its aspect to your natal planet within 1° until it separates from your natal planet by 1°. Listed under the range of dates, you might find, in italic type, one or more emphasized days. These denote either a day that the transiting aspect is in EXACT aspect to your natal planet, or a day that the transit is stationary (apparently “standing still” before changing direction). Astrological tradition supposes that the transit is “strongest” on an emphasized day, but this may or may not be true. Sometimes a faster moving planet, listed in the day-to-day section, perhaps on a different day from the “station,” will seem to “trigger” the major theme suggested by the outer planet transit.

2. Day-to- Day Transits

Following the outer planet transits at the beginning of each month, you will find a sequential listing of each day of the month on which one of the faster-moving planets—Sun, Mercury, Venus and Mars— is transiting in exact aspect to one of your natal planets. If there is no exact aspect on a date, the date will be skipped.

The Sun will always be a one-day transit. Mercury and Venus are usually one-day transits, except when they are near a “station,” about to turn retrograde or direct. At these times, they may be in effect for more than one day. The heading will give you the range of dates, just as for the outer planets. The interpretation will be given only on the day the transiting aspect is exact or stationary.

Mars is the only outer planet (farther out from the Sun than Earth) that is also considered to be a “personal” planet. Mars' motion is much faster than the other outer planets, but it is slow enough that it will always be within orb of aspect for more than one day. Again, the interpretation will be given on the day it is EXACT, and the heading will tell you the full range of days. Occasionally you may see a longer range because Mars is near a station.

This information is being given to you so that you will know to read ahead a few days in planning how to make best use of your transits. A transit is considered to be strongest when it is APPLYING. The slower moving a transit is, the more likely you are to perceive its theme in action. For example: let's say it is January 1, and on this date you have listed only an exact transit of the Sun to your natal Venus. Nothing is listed for January 2, but on January 3, an exact aspect of Mars to your natal Neptune is given, with a range that begins January 1. Even on January 1, the Mars transit is probably going to indicate a more notable theme in your life than the Sun transit, because it is applying and slower-moving. Now, let's say that on January 4, the aspect listed is Mercury to natal Jupiter. The Mars transit is still within range, but it is since it is now SEPARATING, the Mercury transit will probably be the stronger theme for that day, although Mars-Neptune may still be "felt," too.

Lunations and Eclipses

The Moon moves from 12° to 15° in one day, so Moon transits, as such, go by so fast that they are seldom noticed. However, a strong theme in your life is very likely to be indicated by the placement of lunations and eclipses in your chart. This report interprets the New Moon and the Full Moon each month, according to the house of your horoscope in which it occurs, and according to the aspects it makes to your natal planets. The Lunations will be given on the exact date that they occur, but these should definitely NOT be taken as one-day transits. They are focal points for the month, or longer.

About twice each year the New Moon will also be a Solar Eclipse. From two to four times each year the Full Moon will also be a Lunar Eclipse. Although the basic interpretation in regard to house and aspect will be the same, consider a lunation that is also an eclipse as a much stronger and longer-lasting focus in your life than a lunation that is not also an eclipse. The thoughts, feelings or events that you may associate with an eclipse may be "felt" for a few weeks BEFORE the eclipse date, and for months afterward.

The Lunations of the Moon through the Houses of the Horoscope

The zodiacal degree of the lunations of the New Moon and the Full Moon each month will fall in one of the 12 houses of your chart. Usually each lunation series will be in a sequentially different house each month, although very rarely, you may have two successive New Moons or two successive Full Moons in the same house.

The New Moon symbolizes new beginnings, and the themes symbolized by the New Moon are said to be in focus for the entire period of time until the next New Moon. Examples of "new beginnings" might be outwardly noticed changes—a new hairstyle, new job, new project, new relationship—or they might be inner changes—a changed priority, a new way of thinking, a new plan for the future.

The Full Moon symbolizes fulfillment and mature recognition of the responsibility that comes with that fulfillment. Again, examples of "fulfillment" might be outwardly noticed or inwardly felt. It might be a time when a positive decision you've made is acknowledged by others, or when success is perceived on a project begun earlier, or when any change or new start you have made shows fruition, or "feels" successful to you. The "recognition of responsibility" aspect of fulfillment is very important, for if you merely receive, without understanding of what must be done from there on, you are unlikely to continue to reap full benefit from your progress. The themes symbolized by the Full Moon are said to be in focus for the two week period beginning at Full Moon and ending at the next New Moon.

The house interpretations for the lunations are based on astrological traditions regarding the affairs of that house. These traditional meanings may give you insight into areas of your life in which you could be called upon to make choices or changes during the lunation periods. It is not possible in a report of this scope to cover all possibilities. If those suggested do not seem to "fit," you may find appropriate application in your own life if you consider the CHARACTER of the examples given, rather than the literal example alone.

The Lunations of the Moon in Aspect

More important than house interpretations, however, are the ASPECTS of the New Moon and the Full Moon to the planets in your chart. If a lunation occurs within a conjunction or opposition aspect of 5°, or other aspect of 3°, to a planet in your chart, or to the Ascendant or Midheaven, you will find an interpretation of that aspect immediately following the house interpretation. Some months there will be an aspect; other months there will not. If there is an aspect, that interpretation should be considered as a stronger theme than the house interpretation.

Color and Type Face as a Key to “Weighting” Transits

All paragraphs of interpretation are not equal. You have already read that outer planet transits are more likely to be “felt” because they last longer. Still, there is a difference that you should recognize. Because outer planets move so slowly, everyone in your general age group has outer planets in his or her natal chart in about the same place as you do. Therefore, an outer planet transiting an outer planet in your natal chart is the same for everyone around your age. Obviously, it is most unlikely that you will ALL be experiencing very similar things. The interpretations given may “ring true” for you, but probably only if similar themes are echoed in other more personal transits. The most personally significant outer planet transits will be those that aspect a personal planet or point in your chart—Sun, Moon, Mercury, Venus, Mars, Ascendant or Midheaven. Outer planet transits to these personal planets or points are highlighted in dark red.

Among the day-to-day transits, dark red is used to highlight all of the transits of Mars to your chart. This is because the Mars transits last a little longer and tend to have more impact than the transits of Sun, Mercury and Venus. For example, if you see a Mars transit coming up a day or two ahead, and a Mercury transit listed for today, you would do well to consider that the Mars transit theme might be just as significant as the Mercury transit theme, and perhaps even more so. Additionally, the day-to-day transits to personal planets or points are in bold type (black bold for transits of Sun, Mercury and Venus; red bold for transits of Mars). This is, again, because such transits are more personally unique to you than are the transits to your natal outer planets, which are shared with everyone around your age.

For the lunations and eclipses, italic type is used to call attention to the House interpretation, because this is the area of your life in focus. Among the aspects, the lunations or eclipses in conjunction (same sign, same or nearly same degree) or opposition (opposite sign, same or nearly same degree) are the most significant, so these are highlighted with the dark red type.

For Those Whose Birth Times are Unknown

This report can be ordered by those who do not know their exact time of birth, and the interpretations will still be valid, with most dates reasonably accurate, at least within a few days. If you did not give time of birth, however, you will not have quite as long a report because all transiting aspects to natal Moon, Ascendant and Midheaven have been suppressed. These positions in the natal chart cannot be used with any reasonable accuracy without birth time.

A Technical Note on Aspects for the Astrologically Knowledgeable

The aspects used in this report are the conjunction, opposition, square, semi-square, and sesquiquadrate. These are the so-called “hard” aspects. Some astrologically knowledgeable readers may at this point question why this report does not also include the “soft” aspects (sextile, trine). It is my opinion, based on long experience and observation, that the “hard” aspects are more strongly “felt,” and are more likely to reflect action and the actual manifestation of events. “Soft” transits (trine, sextile) often go by unnoticed, and are nearly always overpowered by “hard” transits happening in the same time frame. Including the “soft” transits for you to look at would give you more interpretations for more days, but it would also tend to obscure your ability to sort out what is really the most meaningful for you to consider in terms of what is happening in your life and how you might choose to direct your energy. Additionally, giving you all possible transits would make this report so long that we would not be able to offer it at such an economical price.

For those who want more, a deluxe version of this report is available. The larger report is called Transit Profile. It contains all of the text of this report slightly expanded, plus interpretations for all of the “soft” transits and all transits of planets through the Houses of your chart. Transit Profile costs $32.95 for 6 months, or $49.95 for one year.

Separate text was written for each conjunction, but for each planetary combination in the other hard aspects, the text is the same. I believe that it is the planetary combination that count. No matter which hard aspect is involved, the same general feelings, options and alternatives apply. Within the scope of computer interpretation, further differentiation is artificial, based on a mindset that, in my experience, is not valid. For example, oppositions have been said to indicate relationship issues, while squares have to do with a challenge in circumstances or situations. I’ve found that it’s often the other way around, or both! I think it is more helpful to understand the general theme of how two planets blend together, and then apply that theme to whatever current feelings and/or events fit!

JANUARY 2005

MAJOR TRENDS

Saturn sesquiquare Natal Sun

From December 28, 2004 to January 21, 2005
Emphasized on January 9, 2005.

This is a stage in a developmental cycle of your life that may present a challenge or test of your methods and structure. As with any test, vitality may be strained, and you could feel alone, discouraged and unappreciated. This may indicate that some changes should be made. On the upside, you now have extra ability to concentrate and to persevere. Take well-considered and disciplined steps forward toward your goals. Responsibility may increase.

Jupiter conjunct Natal Neptune

From December 18, 2004 to January 5, 2005

Dreams, idealism and faith are abundant. Reality may not be your strong suit. Not the best time for investments or business deals. Definitely not a time to risk money you can't afford to lose. Plans may soar, but take time to think them through. Your interest in metaphysics and mysticism is heightened. Working in spiritual areas is favored at this time, and could do much to relieve any anxieties you might have. You could find new security in your personal belief system.

DAY-TO-DAY ACTIVITY

JANUARY 1, 2005 Saturday

Mercury square Natal Mars

From December 31, 2004 to January 2, 2005

If you're feeling irritable and nervous, try to find a moment to slow down and perhaps meditate for a bit. Understand that your tolerance and patience level is a bit stressed by this transit. While debate may be quite constructive, arguments could make things worse. In your haste to make your point, don't lose touch with your feelings. Channel your assertive energy into a positive mental challenge.

Mercury square Natal Saturn

From December 31, 2004 to January 2, 2005

You are not likely to feel in a playful mood today, but your ability for concentrated mental discipline is excellent. If there's a matter that calls for serious analysis, this is a time for it. Yet beware of being too hard on yourself or too critical of others.

Mercury square Natal Midheaven

From December 31, 2004 to January 2, 2005

Career concerns today call for communication, making or carrying out plans, and quite possibly, making decisions. If you're clear about your objectives, say so! Be willing also to listen to others' views.

Venus square Natal Midheaven

From December 31, 2004 to January 1, 2005

A productive day for those whose careers are involved with creativity, art, beauty or entertainment. In any case, it's a good day to beautify your surroundings. Sociable and amorous intents are also enhanced.

JANUARY 5, 2005 Wednesday

Sun opposite Natal Ascendant

From January 4, 2005 to January 6, 2005

Spotlight on encounters with others. Some may be at cross-purposes with you. Lead, if you can--you have the extra energy. But do NOT seek to dominate. Be aware of what you really want. Compromise and seeking consensus might get it for you more easily than willfulness.

JANUARY 6, 2005 Thursday _____

Sun square Natal Neptune

From January 5, 2005 to January 7, 2005

This is just not the day to forge ahead with enthusiasm in the working world. In fact, you could feel discouraged or just plain pooped. It will pass. Take the day off if you can. If you can't, try to pace yourself and relax tonight. Matters of spirituality, idealism, faith are highlighted, however, and could be beautiful.

JANUARY 8, 2005 Saturday _____

Mars conjunct Natal Sun

From January 6, 2005 to January 9, 2005

This is a high energy transit--a time to be active, assertive, strenuous, sexual, competitive. You can accomplish a lot and endure longer. Just take care that you don't burn yourself out or explode! Others may not be ready for your extra push and could find you irritating, so try to be considerate. You don't have to "mow them down" in your process.

JANUARY 10, 2005 Monday _____

Mars semisquare Natal Venus

From January 9, 2005 to January 12, 2005

The urge to ACT is heightened in matters of love, sex, self-indulgence, art, entertainment--in most anything you enjoy. A potential challenge could arise requiring balance of your desires and what you want to do with the other(s) involved.

New Moon in Your 7th House

A New Moon in your seventh house places focus on your important one-to-one relationships. Such relationships might be defined as your actual or potential marriage partner or business partner, or it could possibly even mean your adversary in a competition or dispute. A "new beginning" theme for this house suggests that you could take the initiative in whatever may need to be done to improve your relationships. Arbitrate a dispute. Compete fairly. Have that heart-to-heart talk. Make a commitment. Take your share of responsibility for a previous commitment that now must be modified. Set the date. Join in social situations where you could meet potential partners. Negotiate a business agreement. Cooperate. Work out a compromise. Invite your partner out for an enjoyable social evening.

JANUARY 11, 2005 Tuesday _____

Mars sesquisquare Natal Moon

From January 9, 2005 to January 12, 2005

Greatly stimulated emotional responses could lead to excitement and passion--or tension, rashness and irritability. Express your feelings directly and frankly, but in a manner that is considerate of others.

JANUARY 12, 2005 Wednesday _____

Venus opposite Natal Uranus

From January 12, 2005 to January 13, 2005

Excitement in romance and/or art--so enjoy! Possible challenges: love relationships can conflict over issues of stability vs. freedom. Risk appeals--and this could apply to finance, too. Today could bring a surprise.

Mercury sesquisquare Natal Pluto

From January 11, 2005 to January 13, 2005

Deep thinking required! Something must be confronted, or a decision or commitment made. Ambiguity just won't work. You could feel stressed, even irritable, but it will be a big relief when that issue is resolved. Say or decide what you must, but try not to come on like a "heavy." Smile, both for you and others.

Venus sesquisquare Natal Pluto

From January 11, 2005 to January 13, 2005

Where love, sex, finance or self-indulgence are concerned, halfway measures are not your style today. You may face a challenge to balance your desires with self-control. Profound connections are possible when barriers are dropped.

JANUARY 13, 2005 Thursday

Mercury opposite Natal Uranus

From January 12, 2005 to January 13, 2005

Bright ideas come in a flash! You're mentally quick, cleverer than usual. Try a new approach. What is unorthodox could be the key to discovery. In any case, try to take a break from routine. If you are bored, blocked or too confined today, your unproductive outlet could be tension or disputes.

JANUARY 14, 2005 Friday

Sun semisquare Natal Sun

From January 13, 2005 to January 15, 2005

Today you shine--or at least you want to, or think you should. Your ego is in the forefront, and if you don't get attention effortlessly, you're inclined to do something to draw attention. Yet, this is a good time to push yourself onward. If circumstances or others challenge you, understand that it is only a test of your goals, and you have the will and energy to pass that test. Your challenger also wants to shine. Respect that, without denying your own needs. Show how brightly you can shine through constructive effort. Take pride in doing your best.

JANUARY 15, 2005 Saturday

Mars conjunct Natal Mercury

From January 14, 2005 to January 17, 2005

Lots of intellectual or nervous energy at this time. If your mind is flooded with ideas, creativity, originality, restlessness, take advantage. You can convince, sell, impress others with your thinking. Or you could become impatient, maybe irritable, and waste energy in arguments. If you're too inclined toward the latter, it might be best to work alone--but keep your mind busy! In travel, take extra care not to speed. A too heavy foot could lead to accidents or tickets.

JANUARY 16, 2005 Sunday

Sun square Natal Moon

From January 15, 2005 to January 17, 2005

Tension could result today as your outer self (public, professional life, perhaps) comes into conflict with your inner emotional needs. The challenge is to bring them into balance, for neither can be denied. If you feel "on edge" it is a sign that you are out of balance. You may be giving too much attention to your own ego needs, or too career-pressured, and may be letting down your family or your own need to be nurtured. Or you may be giving in to emotional demands at the expense of what you know needs your attention in the outer world. Take a break--perhaps take a walk alone--and think about which area is being neglected, and then do something about it.

Sun conjunct Natal Venus

From January 15, 2005 to January 17, 2005

Venus symbolizes all matters of love, pleasure, beauty and relating. You can be at your most attractive today, and you are likely to feel the urge to be with people, have fun--or to indulge yourself. Express your affection for those you love--give and get hugs! Socialize. Make a new friend. Give a party, or go to one. Create or buy something beautiful. Do something to improve your personal appearance. Take time to "smell the roses," visit an art show, have lunch with a friend.

Mars semisquare Natal Jupiter

From January 15, 2005 to January 18, 2005

You are stimulated to act, and your activities are fruitful, successful, joyful and contribute to growth--just so long as you also integrate your actions with ethical principles. Make the most of this time period. You've got the energy, and this transit is usually a success indicator.

JANUARY 19, 2005 Wednesday _____

Sun semisquare Natal Mercury

From January 18, 2005 to January 20, 2005

Does it seem like "everybody" wants to talk to you or hear from you today? If the phone doesn't stop, a dozen errands need to be run, several talk at once, opinions conflict, at least you've got the extra mental energy to deal with it. Your opinions may be tested. Strive to be very clear about what YOU say and remember that it is equally important to LISTEN. Maintain your objectivity. Compromise may be the key.

JANUARY 20, 2005 Thursday _____

Sun conjunct Natal Jupiter

From January 19, 2005 to January 21, 2005

You'll probably feel just plain good today--optimistic, positive, confident, expansive and generous. Others are likely to see you at your best, so it's a good time to advance yourself. This transit will usually reflect a very good day--but every transit has its potential downside. Possible misuses of the energy are arrogant or domineering behavior or excesses, such as eating or drinking too much or taking on more than you can handle. Use this day to share your good feelings with others, to "put your best foot forward," and you are sure to have a good day, and perhaps even a reason to celebrate!

Mercury opposite Natal Ascendant

From January 20, 2005 to January 21, 2005

Extra energy to all your communications with others. Make that call, write that letter, have that talk. Exchange ideas. And don't forget, listening to the other person's opinion is communication, too!

JANUARY 21, 2005 Friday _____

Mars square Natal Saturn

From January 20, 2005 to January 23, 2005

This transit can reflect a conflict between what you want to do and what the structures of your life permit. Somehow you must balance the two. Blocking your desire or giving up on it could strain the health. Are your perceived limitations truly absolute, or could they be changed? Constructive, disciplined work is favored, and you can accomplish much. Stress means something is out of balance. Try to take a break, then, and reflect on a better approach.

Mercury square Natal Neptune

From January 21, 2005 to January 22, 2005

This is a day when it could seem as if the "logic wires" in your brain got somehow crossed with those from fantasy land. On the other hand, if your intent is to tune in to the intuition and the imagination, messages could come through with extra oomph. Don't be a victim. Save the details for another day, or if you can't, double-check them. Take some time to sniff the roses and listen to music.

Venus opposite Natal Ascendant

From January 21, 2005 to January 22, 2005

A good day to enjoy yourself with others--or that special "other." Relationships are generally harmonious. Have a good time, but don't overindulge. Self-discipline may not be strong.

JANUARY 22, 2005 Saturday _____

Mars square Natal Mars

From January 20, 2005 to January 23, 2005

It's a day for activity--Physical, energetic, strenuous, competitive. High accomplishment is possible, but you could overextend. Don't be foolhardy or "run over" others, but don't suppress your urge to act, either. An extreme result of suppressing your own energy and desires can be illness. Do something--and as much as possible, do it your way.

Mars square Natal Midheaven

From January 20, 2005 to January 23, 2005

Your objectives, your career, your goals, your ego have priority now. You want to do it your own way. With control over your rasher impulses, you can get a lot done and assert yourself with confidence. You may work best alone, for you are less able than usual to compromise with others.

JANUARY 23, 2005 Sunday _____

Sun sesquisquare Natal Mars

From January 23, 2005 to January 24, 2005

Competitive or confrontational situations could arise today. Ego conflicts are likely. Your energy is high and you can accomplish much--so long as you maintain your awareness of your own motivations. Irritability or hostility, from yourself or others, signals a need to take a break, calm down and think through a possible compromise.

Sun sesquisquare Natal Saturn

From January 22, 2005 to January 24, 2005

Today you could be confronted with a conflict between what you'd like to do and either a circumstance or authority figure that limits you. Duty calls, but energy may be low. Self-discipline is required. Blaming will only increase frustration. Dig in and get done what needs to be done--the feelings will pass. Or, if you are truly in a rut, seriously and quietly consider your options for change.

Venus square Natal Neptune

From January 22, 2005 to January 23, 2005

Fantasy, beauty and idealistic love can appeal to the heights of your imagination. Enjoy creative pursuits and all that's beautiful. Just be aware that your view is through rose-colored glasses, and the view may not be so rosy another day.

JANUARY 24, 2005 Monday _____

Sun semisquare Natal Midheaven

From January 23, 2005 to January 24, 2005

Not the easiest day to be a "team-player" because your own interests and purposes are likely to be in the forefront of your concerns. Yet alienating others could threaten a consensus you need. Do your "thing"--it's a good day for it--but be considerate of others.

JANUARY 25, 2005 Tuesday _____

Full Moon in Your 1st House

At the New Moon something in your life may have begun or changed in the area of relationships. Now you are dealing with the results of that change and its effect on you, your personal identity and your environment. If the new start or change was a positive one, you are probably feeling quite good about it now, and will have little trouble carrying it on to further success. If something about it is not right for you, this is a time when an adjustment needs to be made, or a more mature understanding achieved.

During the two weeks to come your focus is on your own personal issues. You are not likely to be as objective as you might be about the concerns of others that might not agree with your own. Understand that fulfillment flows from doing your own thing and being independent without losing sight of the needs of others.

Full Moon semisquare Natal Mars

Illuminated in this period is your capacity to ACT, to assert yourself, to express what you want. Your independence and personal power (or lack of these attributes) are in focus. This can be an especially dynamic time for you. Your energy is likely to be high, and your life eventful. Extra emotional energy contributes to the excitement--or could add to any tendencies to be impulsive and jump into holes feet first, only to learn later that they were deeper than you thought. Don't plunge in without checking first! If you use your energy constructively, this could be a period of considerable accomplishment. If, however, you find yourself being irritable and edgy, you are probably letting your emotions run away with all that energy. In that case, you would do well to find a harmless outlet to expend some physical energy, and then take the initiative to express your feelings calmly and directly. This is a time when you SHOULD assert yourself and go after what you want--just do so with purposeful awareness, and respectful consideration for others involved.

Full Moon semisquare Natal Saturn

Responsibility and discipline are the keywords for this time period. The focus is on REALITY and that involves awareness of your limitations, the effort that you expend in achieving what you set out to do, and your self-discipline (or lack of it) in persisting. A great deal can be achieved through a practical, serious approach and steady, persistent progress. You are concerned about your security, and you could be inclined to translate worry into stress, anxiety and negative thinking. Recognize that it may be your mood rather than the true reality of the situation. Don't magnify your problems, and avoid making decisions that are based on emotional issues during this time. Instead, concentrate on the practical. If work vs. your emotional life is a CAUSE of your stress, however, quiet reflection on your priorities is called for. Saturnine aspects and transits have no need to worry you unless you wish to avoid dealing with your own responsibility for your life. Saturn symbolizes that which is solid and stable, and some of the most concrete gains you will ever make can take place when you accept and work with your Saturn energy.

Full Moon sesquisquare Natal Midheaven

There is a strong focus on your career interests, your work in the world, your reputation and your status. You are "on display" during this time period. If you want to promote yourself, or sell an idea, you can be more effective than usual because you have increased sensitivity to the moods of others, and can "play to" them. You can appeal to their emotional concerns. Be also aware that the more visible you are, the more likely that things which are hidden could come to light. A career focus may still mean that issues of polarity may need to be balanced. You may have concerns regarding your career interests vs. your home life or your career or status vs. a close personal relationship. Your own life's work and reputation are very important, but without the support of others and of a harmonious home base, your successes could seem hollow and incomplete. If these things are out of balance, you may need to readjust your priorities in order to take best advantage of this time.

JANUARY 26, 2005 Wednesday _____

Mercury semisquare Natal Sun

From January 25, 2005 to January 27, 2005

Busy, busy, busy. Lots of talk, phone jangles. Paper to shuffle. Errands to run. It may well be a test of your nervous energy! Ego needs could conflict. Make your point clearly, then let it be. Going on and on isn't necessary and could work against you.

JANUARY 27, 2005 Thursday _____

Mercury conjunct Natal Venus

From January 27, 2005 to January 28, 2005

Your words flow smoothly during this transit. Is there someone you love, but whom you haven't said it to lately? Do it now--you may even wax poetic! Say it, or write a letter. Have you been having a communication problem with someone? Today you may be able to talk it out productively. Your appreciation of beauty is stimulated. Emotions blend well with the intellect. A pleasant mood and pleasant conversation are favored.

JANUARY 28, 2005 Friday _____

Mercury square Natal Moon

From January 27, 2005 to January 28, 2005

Is your mind racing today? Your thinking is more likely to be heavily influenced by your feelings, so examine which is which. This may be a day when you can more clearly express your feelings--or understand them. Could be the right time for that heart-to-heart talk--just so long as you LISTEN to and respect the other person's feelings, too.

JANUARY 29, 2005 Saturday _____

Venus semisquare Natal Sun

From January 28, 2005 to January 29, 2005

A lovely day for love--and that includes you for you. Indulge yourself a bit--but not excessively, for extravagance may appeal. Be social. Give and receive compliments. Express your tender feelings for a special someone.

JANUARY 30, 2005 Sunday _____

Venus square Natal Moon

From January 30, 2005 to January 31, 2005

Feelings of love and affection are strong. Express them! So be amorous, be nurturing, be protective. But do NOT be possessive or smothering! Good for sociability, but watch tendency to overindulge.

Mercury semisquare Natal Mercury

From January 29, 2005 to January 30, 2005

Communication issues dominate today--and some of them could seem in conflict with your own views. Conversations, dialogues, debates, business matters and errands all could be more evident than usual. If you feel restless, don't give in to nervous tension. Take a short trip, visit a friend who likes to talk, or travel through books, to learn anything new that you may be curious about. Your mind works more quickly than usual.

Venus conjunct Natal Venus

From January 29, 2005 to January 31, 2005

Today could be a new beginning for you in terms of love relationships or artistic endeavors. It's a good time for a favorable new direction in an existing relationship, for beginning a new relationship, for trying out a new form of artistic expression, for buying things of beauty, for parties and entertainment events.

Mercury conjunct Natal Jupiter

From January 29, 2005 to January 31, 2005

A "good news" transit. This is a day when you can put your communications skills to good advantage. Speak up about your ideas--others are more likely to listen. Papers need signing? This is a good day. Also good for most any business matter. Favorable for travel, too.

FEBRUARY 2005

MAJOR TRENDS

DAY-TO-DAY ACTIVITY

FEBRUARY 1, 2005 Tuesday _____

Mercury sesquisquare Natal Mars

From February 1, 2005 to February 2, 2005

If you're feeling irritable and nervous, try to find a moment to slow down and perhaps meditate for a bit. Understand that your tolerance and patience level is a bit stressed by this transit. While debate may be quite constructive, arguments could make things worse. In your haste to make your point, don't lose touch with your feelings. Channel your assertive energy into a positive mental challenge.

Mercury sesquiquare Natal Saturn

From January 31, 2005 to February 2, 2005

You are not likely to feel in a playful mood today, but your ability for concentrated mental discipline is excellent. If there's a matter that calls for serious analysis, this is a time for it. Yet beware of being too hard on yourself or too critical of others.

Mercury semisquare Natal Midheaven

From February 1, 2005 to February 2, 2005

Career concerns today call for communication, making or carrying out plans, and quite possibly, making decisions. If you're clear about your objectives, say so! Be willing also to listen to others' views.

FEBRUARY 2, 2005 Wednesday

Venus semisquare Natal Mercury

From February 1, 2005 to February 3, 2005

If you've had tension in a close relationship, this would be a good day to talk things over agreeably. Mental activity will be enjoyable or seem easier now. Communication or travel matters go smoothly, comfortably.

Venus conjunct Natal Jupiter

From February 2, 2005 to February 3, 2005

A "best day" for pleasure-seeking, social occasions, romance, financial interests or investments, artistic endeavors, taking a vacation--or perhaps just a bit of self-indulgence. At its worst this is still a day when you should be able to find time for a pleasant respite from the daily routine. If you are planning a wedding or special celebration, this should be an excellent time for it.

FEBRUARY 5, 2005 Saturday

Venus sesquiquare Natal Mars

From February 5, 2005 to February 6, 2005

Your assertive nature is stimulated by an urge for enjoyment. Could take the form of teasing, active play, enthusiastic activity in the arts, expressions of affection, good sex . . . Could be a need to balance what you want or desire with someone else's mood.

Venus sesquiquare Natal Saturn

From February 4, 2005 to February 6, 2005

Today your need to work and your wish for pleasure may be in conflict. Or the issue may be career vs. relationship needs. Integration is up to you. Uncomfortable feelings signal that balance is needed. Taking responsibility can be pleasurable.

Venus semisquare Natal Midheaven

From February 5, 2005 to February 6, 2005

A productive day for those whose careers are involved with creativity, art, beauty or entertainment. In any case, it's a good day to beautify your surroundings. Sociable and amorous intents are also enhanced.

FEBRUARY 6, 2005 Sunday

Sun opposite Natal Pluto

From February 5, 2005 to February 7, 2005

You could be confronted with a mini-crisis--anything from pressure from the boss to a machine that breaks, forcing you to stop and fix it. Or this could be a focal day in an ongoing intense issue reflected by your long-term transits. Whatever, consider it a test of your ability to handle what needs to be done. Do it without force or ego, and your inner strength will increase.

FEBRUARY 7, 2005 Monday _____

Sun sesquisquare Natal Uranus

From February 6, 2005 to February 8, 2005

Expect the unexpected. If you are determined to stick doggedly to routine, something or someone is likely to disrupt it. Face it. YOU want a break. It would be best if you acknowledged that and found a way to be individual, different or free today. Decide what you could do to express your uniqueness, WITHOUT shaking up your life in a way that you might be sorry for tomorrow!

and you may be inclined to be a bit reckless. If you are experiencing excitement and joy, it is a sign that you are flowing creatively with the changes within. If you are experiencing tension, you are probably suppressing, denying or resisting changes that you should make. Explore and experiment with new ways of thinking and behaving. Create new freshness in your life--but do so in a manner that is considerate of those with whom you are emotionally involved, for they may not understand you and may resist the changes.

FEBRUARY 8, 2005 Tuesday _____

New Moon in Your 8th House

A primary concern of the eighth house is that of joint resources. Assets you share with a partner or debts that you owe are two examples. Your initiative or "new beginning" here might be taking a positive step to lessen or remove your debts. Perhaps you need to review your insurance policies, or make an estate plan, or deal with a tax matter. Is there anything to do with your marriage or partnership agreement regarding assets that you feel needs discussion or clarification? Time to talk it over! Take carefully considered steps to improve your situation that are CONSIDERATE of the other person involved. Other themes of the Eighth House are self-mastery and deeply psychological or hidden (occult) interests. You might benefit from increased self-discipline. Take steps now to control an undesirable habit that you'd like to break. Your capacity for self-mastery could increase through delving into a new course of study in metaphysics or psychology.

New Moon opposite Natal Pluto

Your power to create transformative changes in your life is in focus during this period. Also at issue may be your ability to eliminate that which no longer serves you, to bring matters to completion, or to deal with compulsions, either in behavior or in obsessive feelings. Power and control issues in your interactions with others may be of concern. Your emotions are likely to be more intense than usual. If you feel very stressed, take it as a signal that there are changes you know you should make. Suppressing them will not work; it will only increase your tension--and change is probably inevitable, anyway. Your choice is to claim your power to take the lead, or to give it away by your avoidance. In the latter case, you may attract a situation or person who will force the issue. Blame and excuses won't help. If something must end, let it go. One door may close--but another one opens. If you take charge and do what you must do, this can be a very powerful time for you. A new, more fulfilling life may be beginning.

New Moon sesquisquare Natal Uranus

Illuminated during this period are your capacities to express your individuality, your originality, your freedom urges, and your ability to deal with change. Change is in the air--perhaps sudden and unexpected. Be prepared to be flexible. You may precipitate or attract change because you are feeling restless, and wish to be free of something or someone. Innovation attracts you,

FEBRUARY 10, 2005 Thursday _____

Mercury sesquisquare Natal Uranus

From February 10, 2005 to February 11, 2005

Bright ideas come in a flash! You're mentally quick, cleverer than usual. Try a new approach. What is unorthodox could be the key to discovery. In any case, try to take a break from routine. If you are bored, blocked or too confined today, your unproductive outlet could be tension or disputes.

Mercury opposite Natal Pluto

From February 9, 2005 to February 10, 2005

Deep thinking required! Something must be confronted, or a decision or commitment made. Ambiguity just won't work. You could feel stressed, even irritable, but it will be a big relief when that issue is resolved. Say or decide what you must, but try not to come on like a "heavy." Smile, both for you and others.

FEBRUARY 11, 2005 Friday

Mars sesquiquare Natal Pluto

From February 9, 2005 to February 12, 2005

Power urges are stimulated. Possible control conflicts arise. You need to express your own deep feelings--perhaps about something that needs to be transformed. Don't suppress--that may only attract controlling behavior from others. Act constructively and you can accomplish much. Sexual urges are heightened; emotions are likely intense.

FEBRUARY 12, 2005 Saturday

Mars opposite Natal Uranus

From February 10, 2005 to February 13, 2005

You're likely to be in a hurry, or to be feeling more impulsive, risk-taking and even rebellious than usual. So go--just watch out you don't precipitate an accident by being too much in a rush! If you don't express the energy yourself, you'll probably just experience rash behavior from others. Find a constructive and reasonably safe way to express your individuality--and do it with a smile for others.

FEBRUARY 16, 2005 Wednesday

Mercury sesquiquare Natal Ascendant

From February 16, 2005 to February 17, 2005

Extra energy to all your communications with others. Make that call, write that letter, have that talk. Exchange ideas. And don't forget, listening to the other person's opinion is communication, too!

FEBRUARY 17, 2005 Thursday

Venus sesquiquare Natal Uranus

From February 17, 2005 to February 18, 2005

Excitement in romance and/or art--so enjoy! Possible challenges: love relationships can conflict over issues of stability vs. freedom. Risk appeals--and this could apply to finance, too. Today could bring a surprise.

Mercury sesquiquare Natal Neptune

From February 17, 2005 to February 18, 2005

This is a day when it could seem as if the "logic wires" in your brain got somehow crossed with those from fantasy land. On the other hand, if your intent is to tune in to the intuition and the imagination, messages could come through with extra oomph. Don't be a victim. Save the details for another day, or if you can't, double-check them. Take some time to sniff the roses and listen to music.

Venus opposite Natal Pluto

From February 16, 2005 to February 18, 2005

Where love, sex, finance or self-indulgence are concerned, halfway measures are not your style today. You may face a challenge to balance your desires with self-control. Profound connections are possible when barriers are dropped.

FEBRUARY 18, 2005 Friday _____

Sun sesquisquare Natal Ascendant

From February 17, 2005 to February 19, 2005

Spotlight on encounters with others. Some may be at cross-purposes with you. Lead, if you can--you have the extra energy. But do NOT seek to dominate. Be aware of what you really want. Compromise and seeking consensus might get it for you more easily than willfulness.

FEBRUARY 20, 2005 Sunday _____

Sun sesquisquare Natal Neptune

From February 19, 2005 to February 21, 2005

This is just not the day to forge ahead with enthusiasm in the working world. In fact, you could feel discouraged or just plain pooped. It will pass. Take the day off if you can. If you can't, try to pace yourself and relax tonight. Matters of spirituality, idealism, faith are highlighted, however, and could be beautiful.

Mercury semisquare Natal Venus

From February 22, 2005 to February 23, 2005

If you've been needing to have a good talk with someone you love, this is a day for it. You may not agree, and will need to compromise, but your ability to express yourself is better than usual. This can also apply to that letter you've been procrastinating about writing. Social occasions are enjoyable.

Your mind works more quickly than usual.

Mercury semisquare Natal Jupiter

From February 24, 2005 to February 25, 2005

Your ability to think quickly is an asset, and today good ideas are more than likely. Business matters are favored, as is travel. Though you could be inclined to relax--and that could be OK--know that today you can put your communications skills to work for your advantage.

Full Moon in Your 3rd House

Illuminated in your third house are your communications with others, especially with those who are part of your daily life, and your movements and activities in your neighborhood and surrounding area. The period since New Moon may have found you feeling quite restless, longing for something more, something different and more interesting than that which exists in your everyday life. To satisfy those urges, you may have started something new. This Full Moon period may be one in which you are experiencing fulfillment and successful continuation of your new interest. Or it may be a period in which you must face and meet a challenge of integrating changed perceptions into your "normal" life. You may need to communicate--and possibly convince--others. You may need to find a balance point between the pursuit of your higher ideas and the necessities of your mundane life.

Venus sesquisquare Natal Ascendant

From February 25, 2005 to February 27, 2005

A good day to enjoy yourself with others--or that special "other." Relationships are generally harmonious. Have a good time, but don't overindulge. Self-discipline may not be strong.

Mercury conjunct Natal Midheaven

From February 26, 2005 to February 27, 2005

Your attention is best directed to your career today, or on whatever you consider to be your primary work in the world. Good time to initiate public discussions or to announce plans. Or just think through your plans, for thinking may be clearer than usual. A day to keep busy, communicate, get things done.

FEBRUARY 27, 2005 Sunday _____

Sun square Natal Sun

From February 26, 2005 to February 28, 2005

Today you shine--or at least you want to, or think you should. Your ego is in the forefront, and if you don't get attention effortlessly, you're inclined to do something to draw attention. Yet, this is a good time to push yourself onward. If circumstances or others challenge you, understand that it is only a test of your goals, and you have the will and energy to pass that test. Your challenger also wants to shine. Respect that, without denying your own needs. Show how brightly you can shine through constructive effort. Take pride in doing your best.

FEBRUARY 28, 2005 Monday _____

Venus sesquisquare Natal Neptune

From February 27, 2005 to February 28, 2005

Mars opposite Natal Ascendant

From February 26, 2005 to March 1, 2005

DO IT NOW and MY WAY is your urge with this transit. If the other(s) involved do not agree, dispute can result. Clearing the air is better than suppressed tension, and compromise may be possible. Be direct and be clear. But realize that if you can't compromise, but you want peace in the relationship, you might better spend this day's energy on a competitive sport or a project that you can work on alone.

high priority for you. You need to find a way to express them creatively, without placing in jeopardy the structures of your life that you really wouldn't want to threaten. Don't try to suppress your craving for adventure, independence and change, for that may mean that something unexpected will "happen" that may force a change you don't really want. You decide--do something creative and original to reawaken your joy in life.

MARCH 2005

MAJOR TRENDS

Jupiter conjunct Natal Neptune —————
From March 1, 2005 to March 20, 2005
Emphasized on March 11, 2005.

Dreams, idealism and faith are abundant. Reality may not be your strong suit. Not the best time for investments or business deals. Definitely not a time to risk money you can't afford to lose. Plans may soar, but take time to think them through. Your interest in metaphysics and mysticism is heightened. Working in spiritual areas is favored at this time, and could do much to relieve any anxieties you might have. You could find new security in your personal belief system.

Jupiter square Natal Ascendant —————
From March 17, 2005 to April 2, 2005
Emphasized on March 25, 2005.

A time of general optimism in the area of one-to-one relationships. You can more easily make good contacts, either personal or business. Also, if you are looking for a time to celebrate or contract a partnership, this could be it. Don't be a "loner" now. Be with others. Be considerate of them, and much enjoyment, and even benefit, can result. Also a good time for making your environment or yourself more attractive.

Uranus square Natal Sun —————
From March 23, 2005 to May 9, 2005

Feeling restless, maybe even rebellious? This is a time when freedom needs have a

DAY-TO-DAY ACTIVITY

MARCH 1, 2005 Tuesday —————

Sun semisquare Natal Moon
From February 28, 2005 to March 2, 2005

Tension could result today as your outer self (public, professional life, perhaps) comes into conflict with your inner emotional needs. The challenge is to bring them into balance, for neither can be denied. If you feel "on edge" it is a sign that you are out of balance. You may be giving too much attention to your own ego needs, or too career-pressured, and may be letting down your family or your own need to be nurtured. Or you may be giving in to emotional demands at the expense of what you know needs your attention in the outer world. Take a break--perhaps take a walk alone--and think about which area is being neglected, and then do something about it.

Sun semisquare Natal Venus
From February 28, 2005 to March 2, 2005

Try to find something to do that you enjoy today. Spend time with a friend or romantic partner, or get out where you can meet someone new. Play a little--indulge just a bit. But beware of extravagance you might regret tomorrow! Arts and crafts activities can go especially well today.

MARCH 2, 2005 Wednesday _____

Mars square Natal Neptune

From February 28, 2005 to March 3, 2005

Your escape mechanism is stimulated into action. If you escape through creating art or music, or if you're engaged in a spiritual pursuit, make the most of this tuned-in time. If you're vulnerable to negative escapes--alcohol, drugs, illness--watch out. Better to curl up with a good fantasy book. If you're feeling tired, or too sensitive to criticism, don't take yourself or it too seriously. A little break, some soft music . . .

MARCH 5, 2005 Saturday _____

Sun square Natal Mercury

From March 4, 2005 to March 6, 2005

Does it seem like "everybody" wants to talk to you or hear from you today? If the phone doesn't stop, a dozen errands need to be run, several talk at once, opinions conflict, at least you've got the extra mental energy to deal with it. Your opinions may be tested. Strive to be very clear about what YOU say and remember that it is equally important to LISTEN. Maintain your objectivity. Compromise may be the key.

Sun semisquare Natal Jupiter

From March 4, 2005 to March 6, 2005

You should feel good today--expansive, in fact. Put your "best foot forward," for this is a time you can more easily succeed. Your confidence radiates and attracts. Reach for the stars, but keep in mind that your desire to get ahead must be balanced with good principles. Give business initiatives and presentations a "jump start." Social affairs and celebrations can be joyous--so long as you don't overdo!

MARCH 6, 2005 Sunday _____

Venus square Natal Sun

From March 5, 2005 to March 6, 2005

A lovely day for love--and that includes you for you. Indulge yourself a bit--but not excessively, for extravagance may appeal. Be social. Give and receive compliments. Express your tender feelings for a special someone.

MARCH 7, 2005 Monday _____

Venus semisquare Natal Moon

From March 7, 2005 to March 8, 2005

Feelings of love and affection are strong. Express them! So be amorous, be nurturing, be protective. But do NOT be possessive or smothering! Good for sociability, but watch tendency to overindulge.

Venus semisquare Natal Venus

From March 6, 2005 to March 8, 2005

Most likely this day favors casual, pleasant sociability with others; perhaps sentimentality, nostalgia or sensuality with loved ones. Minor differences in approaches to manner of pleasure, finance could require balance.

Mercury square Natal Uranus

From March 6, 2005 to March 8, 2005

Bright ideas come in a flash! You're mentally quick, cleverer than usual. Try a new approach. What is unorthodox could be the key to discovery. In any case, try to take a break from routine. If you are bored, blocked or too confined today, your unproductive outlet could be tension or disputes.

Mercury sesquisquare Natal Pluto

From March 6, 2005 to March 7, 2005

Deep thinking required! Something must be confronted, or a decision or commitment made. Ambiguity just won't work. You could feel stressed, even irritable, but it will be a big relief when that issue is resolved. Say or decide what you must, but try not to come on like a "heavy." Smile, both for you and others.

MARCH 9, 2005 Wednesday

Sun opposite Natal Mars

From March 8, 2005 to March 10, 2005

Competitive or confrontational situations could arise today. Ego conflicts are likely. Your energy is high and you can accomplish much--so long as you maintain your awareness of your own motivations. Irritability or hostility, from yourself or others, signals a need to take a break, calm down and think through a possible compromise.

Sun opposite Natal Saturn

From March 8, 2005 to March 10, 2005

Today you could be confronted with a conflict between what you'd like to do and either a circumstance or authority figure that limits you. Duty calls, but energy may be low. Self-discipline is required. Blaming will only increase frustration. Dig in and get done what needs to be done--the feelings will pass. Or, if you are truly in a rut, seriously and quietly consider your options for change.

Sun conjunct Natal Midheaven

From March 8, 2005 to March 10, 2005

Focus on your career or life-goals. Express your vitality to the world. Good time to seek advantage from those in authority or from the public in general. Good time to seek the spotlight. If you've been looking for a good day to put yourself forward, this could be it.

MARCH 10, 2005 Thursday

Venus square Natal Mercury

From March 9, 2005 to March 11, 2005

If you've had tension in a close relationship, this would be a good day to talk things over agreeably. Mental activity will be enjoyable or seem easier now. Communication or travel matters go smoothly, comfortably.

Venus semisquare Natal Jupiter

From March 10, 2005 to March 11, 2005

A day for pleasure. Impetus to overdo, so watch extravagance--but with that small caveat, this is a time to enjoy. Plan a social activity, a little trip, a gift, an art activity. Or perhaps an idealistic or philosophical pursuit will bring joy and satisfaction.

New Moon in Your 10th House

You and your life's work--career, business concerns, reputation--are in high focus now and in the month to come. This is a time when you can more easily take the initiative to improve your status in your career. Be visible--put yourself in line for promotion. Put forth extra effort to win new business clientele. Make public appearances. Public relations and sales may well be favored now, because your ability to be sensitive to others is emphasized. Be aware, though, that because you ARE more likely than usual to be "on display," to be visible, you could easily damage your reputation if you are undiplomatic, appear overly ambitious or arrogant. If you have been hiding something that could be damaging to your reputation, it may be more difficult to keep it hidden during this transit. Best to be above reproach. Push yourself forward, but do so ethically and with honor and with consideration for others.

New Moon opposite Natal Mars

Illuminated in this period is your capacity to ACT, to assert yourself, to express what you want. Your independence and personal power (or lack of these attributes) are in focus. This can be an especially dynamic time for you. Your energy is likely to be high, and your life eventful. Extra emotional energy contributes to the excitement--or could add to any tendencies to be impulsive and jump into holes feet first, only to learn later that they were deeper than you thought. Don't plunge in without checking first! If you use your energy constructively, this could be a period of considerable accomplishment. If, however, you find yourself being irritable and edgy, you are probably letting your emotions run away with all that energy. In that case, you would do well to find a harmless outlet to expend some physical energy, and then take the initiative to express your feelings calmly and directly. This is a time when you SHOULD assert yourself and go after what you want--just do so with purposeful awareness, and respectful consideration for others involved.

New Moon opposite Natal Saturn

Responsibility and discipline are the keywords for this time period. The focus is on REALITY and that involves awareness of your limitations, the effort that you expend in achieving what you set out to do, and your self-discipline (or lack of it) in persisting. A great deal can be achieved through a practical, serious approach and steady, persistent progress. You are concerned about your security, and you could be inclined to translate worry into stress, anxiety and negative thinking. Recognize that it may be your mood rather than the true reality of the situation. Don't magnify your problems, and avoid making decisions that are based on emotional issues during this time. Instead, concentrate on the practical. If work vs. your emotional life is a CAUSE of your stress, however, quiet reflection on your priorities is called for. Saturnine aspects and transits have no need to worry you unless you wish to avoid dealing with your own responsibility for your life. Saturn symbolizes that which is solid and stable, and some of the most concrete gains you will ever make can take place when you accept and work with your Saturn energy.

New Moon conjunct Natal Midheaven

There is a strong focus on your career interests, your work in the world, your reputation and your status. You are "on display" during this time period. If you want to promote yourself, or sell an idea, you can be more effective than usual because you have increased sensitivity to the moods of others, and can "play to" them. You can appeal to their emotional concerns. Be also aware that the more visible you are, the more likely that things which are hidden could come to light. A career focus may still mean that issues of polarity may need to be balanced. You may have concerns regarding your career interests vs. your home life or your career or status vs. a close personal relationship. Your own life's work and reputation are very important, but without the support of others and of a harmonious home base, your successes could seem hollow and incomplete. If these things are out of balance, you may need to readjust your priorities in order to take best advantage of this time.

MARCH 12, 2005 Saturday

Mars semisquare Natal Sun

From March 11, 2005 to March 14, 2005

Whatever else, today, keep active. Endurance is good. Competitive or risk-taking urges are heightened. Impatience, arrogance or foolish impulses could lead to trouble. Do it--but with consideration and tact for others.

MARCH 13, 2005 Sunday

Venus opposite Natal Mars

From March 13, 2005 to March 14, 2005

Your assertive nature is stimulated by an urge for enjoyment. Could take the form of teasing, active play, enthusiastic activity in the arts, expressions of affection, good sex . . . Could be a need to balance what you want or desire with someone else's mood.

Venus opposite Natal Saturn

From March 12, 2005 to March 14, 2005

Today your need to work and your wish for pleasure may be in conflict. Or the issue may be career vs. relationship needs. Integration is up to you. Uncomfortable feelings signal that balance is needed. Taking responsibility can be pleasurable.

Venus conjunct Natal Midheaven

From March 13, 2005 to March 14, 2005

If your career or public image is involved with art, beauty, entertaining, this is a day you can use to good advantage. Put yourself forward. This is also a good time for social activity, for love and romance--excellent for a wedding! Alone? Try not to be. Today is best for company and friends, and--who knows?--perhaps a new love.

MARCH 15, 2005 Tuesday

Mars square Natal Moon

From March 14, 2005 to March 17, 2005

Greatly stimulated emotional responses could lead to excitement and passion--or tension, rashness and irritability. Express your feelings directly and frankly, but in a manner that is considerate of others.

Mars conjunct Natal Venus

From March 13, 2005 to March 16, 2005

Today brings one of the most potent transits for intensification of your sex drive. Passions are inflamed--with a willing partner. Yet gratification could be out of reach. Still, energies need an outlet. Physically active creative work also fits this transit--dance, music, sculpture. Or get going on that project to improve the looks of your surroundings, or yourself.

MARCH 20, 2005 Sunday

Mars semisquare Natal Mercury

From March 18, 2005 to March 21, 2005

Mental energy is high, so keep that mind of yours busy. Ideas are more creative, original. Channel them into activity. Today's energies could also lead to argument. This can be productive (being direct, debating to win) or destructive (pointless, tactless, impatient)--depends on the purpose and the person.

MARCH 21, 2005 Monday

Mars conjunct Natal Jupiter

From March 19, 2005 to March 22, 2005

This transit has the basic theme of "fruitful activity." It's a classic positive indicator for childbirth, but of course, favors many other activities, as well. Do physical work today--athletics, home improvement, for example. New projects begun now are favored. Your confidence may lead to more risk-taking than usual, and today you could win, if other indicators support.

MARCH 23, 2005 Wednesday

Sun sesquisquare Natal Pluto

From March 22, 2005 to March 24, 2005

You could be confronted with a mini-crisis--anything from pressure from the boss to a machine that breaks, forcing you to stop and fix it. Or this could be a focal day in an ongoing intense issue reflected by your long-term transits. Whatever, consider it a test of your ability to handle what needs to be done. Do it without force or ego, and your inner strength will increase.

MARCH 24, 2005 Thursday

Sun square Natal Uranus

From March 23, 2005 to March 25, 2005

Expect the unexpected. If you are determined to stick doggedly to routine, something or someone is likely to disrupt it. Face it. YOU want a break. It would be best if you acknowledged that and found a way to be individual, different or free today. Decide what you could do to express your uniqueness, WITHOUT shaking up your life in a way that you might be sorry for tomorrow!

MARCH 25, 2005 Friday

Mars sesquisquare Natal Saturn

From March 24, 2005 to March 27, 2005

This transit can reflect a conflict between what you want to do and what the structures of your life permit. Somehow you must balance the two. Blocking your desire or giving up on it could strain the health. Are your perceived limitations truly absolute, or could they be changed? Constructive, disciplined work is favored, and you can accomplish much. Stress means something is out of balance. Try to take a break, then, and reflect on a better approach.

Venus square Natal Uranus

From March 25, 2005 to March 26, 2005

Excitement in romance and/or art--so enjoy! Possible challenges: love relationships can conflict over issues of stability vs. freedom. Risk appeals--and this could apply to finance, too. Today could bring a surprise.

Venus sesquisquare Natal Pluto

From March 24, 2005 to March 26, 2005

Where love, sex, finance or self-indulgence are concerned, halfway measures are not your style today. You may face a challenge to balance your desires with self-control. Profound connections are possible when barriers are dropped.

Full Moon in Your 4th House

Since the New Moon you have probably been experiencing an increased focus on your work and status in the world. Career matters have been prominent. Now, with the Full Moon in your Fourth House, you may face the necessity of integrating your work goals, requirements and ambitions with your home life. You need to succeed in the world, but you also need the secure foundation of a harmonious home base. You need to meet the expectations of authorities, customers, your public, etc., but you must also give fair and balanced attention to your family. At this time you may need to give serious thought to the ways in which you can successfully balance both sides of this polarity, and you may have to prioritize and make some changes. A true sense of fulfillment here may well include a blending of compassion and the "bottom line," or nurturing responsibly.

Full Moon square Natal Uranus

Illuminated during this period are your capacities to express your individuality, your originality, your freedom urges, and your ability to deal with change. Change is in the air--perhaps sudden and unexpected. Be prepared to be flexible. You may precipitate or attract change because you are feeling restless, and wish to be free of something or someone. Innovation attracts you, and you may be inclined to be a bit reckless. If you are experiencing excitement and joy, it is a sign that you are flowing creatively with the changes within. If you are experiencing tension, you are probably suppressing, denying or resisting changes that you should make. Explore and experiment with new ways of thinking and behaving. Create new freshness in your life--but do so in a manner that is considerate of those with whom you are emotionally involved, for they may not understand you and may resist the changes.

Full Moon semisquare Natal Pluto

Your power to create transformative changes in your life is in focus during this period. Also at issue may be your ability to eliminate that which no longer serves you, to bring matters to completion, or to deal with compulsions, either in behavior or in obsessive feelings. Power and control issues in your interactions with others may be of concern. Your emotions are likely to be more intense than usual. If you feel very stressed, take it as a signal that there are changes you know you should make. Suppressing them will not work; it will only increase your tension--and change is probably inevitable, anyway. Your choice is to claim your power to take the lead, or to give it away by your avoidance. In the latter case, you may attract a situation or person who will force the issue. Blame and excuses won't help. If something must end, let it go. One door may close--but another one opens. If you take charge and do what you must do, this can be a very powerful time for you. A new, more fulfilling life may be beginning.

MARCH 26, 2005 Saturday

Mars sesquisquare Natal Mars

From March 25, 2005 to March 27, 2005

It's a day for activity--Physical, energetic, strenuous, competitive. High accomplishment is possible, but you could overextend. Don't be foolhardy or "run over" others, but don't suppress your urge to act, either. An extreme result of suppressing your own energy and desires can be illness. Do something--and as much as possible, do it your way.

Mars semisquare Natal Midheaven

From March 25, 2005 to March 27, 2005

Your objectives, your career, your goals, your ego have priority now. You want to do it your own way. With control over your rasher impulses, you can get a lot done and assert yourself with confidence. You may work best alone, for you are less able than usual to compromise with others.

APRIL 2005

MAJOR TRENDS

Jupiter square Natal Ascendant

From March 17, 2005 to April 2, 2005

A time of general optimism in the area of one-to-one relationships. You can more easily make good contacts, either personal or business. Also, if you are looking for a time to celebrate or contract a partnership, this could be it. Don't be a "loner" now. Be with others. Be considerate of them, and much enjoyment, and even benefit, can result. Also a good time for making your environment or yourself more attractive.

Uranus square Natal Sun

From March 23, 2005 to May 9, 2005
Emphasized on April 12, 2005.

Feeling restless, maybe even rebellious? This is a time when freedom needs have a high priority for you. You need to find a way to express them creatively, without placing in jeopardy the structures of your life that you really wouldn't want to threaten. Don't try to suppress your craving for adventure, independence and change, for that may mean that something unexpected will "happen" that may force a change you don't really want. You decide--do something creative and original to reawaken your joy in life.

Neptune opposite Natal Pluto

From April 9, 2005 to June 30, 2005

Deep-rooted psychological evolution could be involved in this transit. To the degree that more personal transits echo this theme, you may be dealing with changes in your basic views of life, purpose and reality. You must integrate the spiritual and the material. Yet know that this transit, itself, is also being experienced by your entire age group, so its theme may be more evident in social changes that affect you all.

Uranus semisquare Natal Venus

From April 30, 2005 to July 31, 2005

Sudden love! Or perhaps new "zing" in an old one. You're ready for it, so experiment and flirt a bit. No? Well, in some area of your life you are likely to face an issue of what makes you comfortable versus the urge for change. It could be trying a new approach to an art form, instead of sticking to the tried and true. Others could resist, causing some emotional tension. Be considerate, but don't suppress. Open yourself to new freedom, and your joy may be contagious!

DAY-TO-DAY ACTIVITY

APRIL 3, 2005 Sunday

Venus square Natal Ascendant

From April 3, 2005 to April 4, 2005

A good day to enjoy yourself with others--or that special "other." Relationships are generally harmonious. Have a good time, but don't overindulge. Self-discipline may not be strong.

APRIL 4, 2005 Monday

Sun square Natal Ascendant

From April 3, 2005 to April 5, 2005

Spotlight on encounters with others. Some may be at cross-purposes with you. Lead, if you can--you have the extra energy. But do NOT seek to dominate. Be aware of what you really want. Compromise and seeking consensus might get it for you more easily than willfulness.

APRIL 5, 2005 Tuesday

Mercury square Natal Uranus

From April 3, 2005 to April 7, 2005

Bright ideas come in a flash! You're mentally quick, cleverer than usual. Try a new approach. What is unorthodox could be the key to discovery. In any case, try to take a break from routine. If you are bored, blocked or too confined today, your unproductive outlet could be tension or disputes.

Venus opposite Natal Neptune

From April 4, 2005 to April 5, 2005

Fantasy, beauty and idealistic love can appeal to the heights of your imagination. Enjoy creative pursuits and all that's beautiful. Just be aware that your view is through rose-colored glasses, and the view may not be so rosy another day.

APRIL 6, 2005 Wednesday

Sun opposite Natal Neptune

From April 5, 2005 to April 7, 2005

This is just not the day to forge ahead with enthusiasm in the working world. In fact, you could feel discouraged or just plain pooped. It will pass. Take the day off if you can. If you can't, try to pace yourself and relax tonight. Matters of spirituality, idealism, faith are highlighted, however, and could be beautiful.

Mercury sesquisquare Natal Pluto

From April 4, 2005 to April 9, 2005

Deep thinking required! Something must be confronted, or a decision or commitment made. Ambiguity just won't work. You could feel stressed, even irritable, but it will be a big relief when that issue is resolved. Say or decide what you must, but try not to come on like a "heavy." Smile, both for you and others.

APRIL 8, 2005 Friday

New Moon--Solar Eclipse

New Moon in Your 10th House

Because this New Moon is an eclipse, its themes are more significant and longer lasting. It may indicate a major focus in your life for months to come.

You and your life's work--career, business concerns, reputation--are in high focus now and in the month to come. This is a time when you can more easily take the initiative to improve your status in your career. Be visible--put yourself in line for promotion. Put forth extra effort to win new business clientele. Make public appearances. Public relations and sales may well be favored now, because your ability to be sensitive to others is emphasized. Be aware, though, that because you ARE more likely than usual to be "on display," to be visible, you could easily damage your reputation if you are undiplomatic, appear overly ambitious or arrogant. If you have been hiding something that could be damaging to your reputation, it may be more difficult to keep it hidden during this transit.

Best to be above reproach. Push yourself forward, but do so ethically and with honor and with consideration for others.

New Moon opposite Natal Neptune

Any psychic sensitivity that you have is in strong focus now. You may be picking up signals from all around--which doesn't necessarily mean that they are accurate! You will feel best if you're around positive people and situations. If you're feeling "down," recognize that it may be what you're intuiting from others and not really your own feelings. Neptune symbolizes the way in which you "escape" reality and "get away from it all." This can be a very positive function and a necessary balance for mundane life, but there are constructive ways to escape and there are very destructive ones. Stay away from drugs and alcohol--you are more susceptible to their negative influences now. Meditation, art, music, ritual worship or other forms of creative, aesthetic fantasy are good methods of "getting away from it all," and these activities may yield exceptional beauty during this period. Deception, self-deception and confusion are potential downsides of this transit. However, if you are aware that your perceptions of reality may not be clear, you can flow with the positive attributes of your inner Neptune energy. Enjoy a little "fantasyland," but don't project it onto others--they may not deserve it, and you can't be sure just now.

APRIL 11, 2005 Monday _____

Venus sesquisquare Natal Sun

From April 10, 2005 to April 12, 2005

A lovely day for love--and that includes you for you. Indulge yourself a bit--but not excessively, for extravagance may appeal. Be social. Give and receive compliments. Express your tender feelings for a special someone.

APRIL 12, 2005 Tuesday _____

Venus square Natal Venus

From April 11, 2005 to April 13, 2005

Most likely this day favors casual, pleasant sociability with others; perhaps sentimentality, nostalgia or sensuality with loved ones. Minor differences in approaches to manner of pleasure, finance could require balance.

APRIL 13, 2005 Wednesday _____

Venus conjunct Natal Moon

From April 12, 2005 to April 13, 2005

Today emotional stresses can be dismissed as you enjoy the company of others, or just enjoy pampering yourself. All expressions of affection, love, beauty, pleasure and tenderness are favored. Give someone a hug and get one back--or two or three!

APRIL 14, 2005 Thursday _____

Sun sesquisquare Natal Sun

From April 13, 2005 to April 15, 2005

Today you shine--or at least you want to, or think you should. Your ego is in the forefront, and if you don't get attention effortlessly, you're inclined to do something to draw attention. Yet, this is a good time to push yourself onward. If circumstances or others challenge you, understand that it is only a test of your goals, and you have the will and energy to pass that test. Your challenger also wants to shine. Respect that, without denying your own needs. Show how brightly you can shine through constructive effort. Take pride in doing your best.

Mars opposite Natal Pluto

From April 13, 2005 to April 16, 2005

Power urges are stimulated. Possible control conflicts arise. You need to express your own deep feelings--perhaps about something that needs to be transformed. Don't suppress--that may only attract controlling behavior from others. Act constructively and you can accomplish much. Sexual urges are heightened; emotions are likely intense.

APRIL 15, 2005 Friday _____

Venus sesquiquare Natal Mercury

From April 14, 2005 to April 16, 2005

If you've had tension in a close relationship, this would be a good day to talk things over agreeably. Mental activity will be enjoyable or seem easier now. Communication or travel matters go smoothly, comfortably.

Sun square Natal Venus

From April 14, 2005 to April 16, 2005

Try to find something to do that you enjoy today. Spend time with a friend or romantic partner, or get out where you can meet someone new. Play a little--indulge just a bit. But beware of extravagance you might regret tomorrow! Arts and crafts activities can go especially well today.

Mars sesquiquare Natal Uranus

From April 14, 2005 to April 17, 2005

You're likely to be in a hurry, or to be feeling more impulsive, risk-taking and even rebellious than usual. So go--just watch out you don't precipitate an accident by being too much in a rush! If you don't express the energy yourself, you'll probably just experience rash behavior from others. Find a constructive and reasonably safe way to express your individuality--and do it with a smile for others.

APRIL 16, 2005 Saturday _____

Sun conjunct Natal Moon

From April 15, 2005 to April 17, 2005

Sunlight shines on your deeply personal concerns today. Emotions come to the surface. If you are comfortable with your feelings, fine. You'll probably feel good, enjoy the day. You could have a productive time with a loved one, gain some new understanding, and if there have been any misunderstandings, perhaps forge a new beginning. If you are hiding your feelings, however, the day may not be so easy, for you may not be able to hide! Let them out. Today you can achieve an integration of your inner and outer selves that can add to your enjoyment of life. Think of today as if it is a personal New Moon, a time of new beginning.

Venus square Natal Jupiter

From April 15, 2005 to April 16, 2005

A day for pleasure. Impetus to overdo, so watch extravagance--but with that small caveat, this is a time to enjoy. Plan a social activity, a little trip, a gift, an art activity. Or perhaps an idealistic or philosophical pursuit will bring joy and satisfaction.

APRIL 18, 2005 Monday _____

Venus sesquiquare Natal Saturn

From April 18, 2005 to April 19, 2005

Today your need to work and your wish for pleasure may be in conflict. Or the issue may be career vs. relationship needs. Integration is up to you. Uncomfortable feelings signal that balance is needed. Taking responsibility can be pleasurable.

Mercury sesquiquare Natal Pluto

From April 15, 2005 to April 20, 2005

Deep thinking required! Something must be confronted, or a decision or commitment made. Ambiguity just won't work. You could feel stressed, even irritable, but it will be a big relief when that issue is resolved. Say or decide what you must, but try not to come on like a "heavy." Smile, both for you and others.

APRIL 19, 2005 Tuesday

Sun sesquisquare Natal Mercury

From April 18, 2005 to April 20, 2005

Does it seem like "everybody" wants to talk to you or hear from you today? If the phone doesn't stop, a dozen errands need to be run, several talk at once, opinions conflict, at least you've got the extra mental energy to deal with it. Your opinions may be tested. Strive to be very clear about what YOU say and remember that it is equally important to LISTEN. Maintain your objectivity. Compromise may be the key.

Venus sesquisquare Natal Mars

From April 18, 2005 to April 19, 2005

Your assertive nature is stimulated by an urge for enjoyment. Could take the form of teasing, active play, enthusiastic activity in the arts, expressions of affection, good sex . . . Could be a need to balance what you want or desire with someone else's mood.

Mercury square Natal Uranus

From April 17, 2005 to April 21, 2005

Bright ideas come in a flash! You're mentally quick, cleverer than usual. Try a new approach. What is unorthodox could be the key to discovery. In any case, try to take a break from routine. If you are bored, blocked or too confined today, your unproductive outlet could be tension or disputes.

Venus semisquare Natal Midheaven

From April 18, 2005 to April 19, 2005

A productive day for those whose careers are involved with creativity, art, beauty or entertainment. In any case, it's a good day to beautify your surroundings. Sociable and amorous intents are also enhanced.

APRIL 20, 2005 Wednesday

Sun square Natal Jupiter

From April 19, 2005 to April 21, 2005

You should feel good today--expansive, in fact. Put your "best foot forward," for this is a time you can more easily succeed. Your confidence radiates and attracts. Reach for the stars, but keep in mind that your desire to get ahead must be balanced with good principles. Give business initiatives and presentations a "jump start." Social affairs and celebrations can be joyous--so long as you don't overdo!

APRIL 23, 2005 Saturday

Sun sesquisquare Natal Saturn

From April 22, 2005 to April 24, 2005

Today you could be confronted with a conflict between what you'd like to do and either a circumstance or authority figure that limits you. Duty calls, but energy may be low. Self-discipline is required. Blaming will only increase frustration. Dig in and get done what needs to be done--the feelings will pass. Or, if you are truly in a rut, seriously and quietly consider your options for change.

APRIL 24, 2005 Sunday

Sun sesquisquare Natal Mars

From April 23, 2005 to April 25, 2005

Competitive or confrontational situations could arise today. Ego conflicts are likely. Your energy is high and you can accomplish much--so long as you maintain your awareness of your own motivations. Irritability or hostility, from yourself or others, signals a need to take a break, calm down and think through a possible compromise.

Sun semisquare Natal Midheaven

From April 23, 2005 to April 25, 2005

Not the easiest day to be a "team-player" because your own interests and purposes are likely to be in the forefront of your concerns. Yet alienating others could threaten a consensus you need. Do your "thing"--it's a good day for it--but be considerate of others.

Full Moon--Lunar Eclipse

Full Moon in Your 4th House

Because this Full Moon is an eclipse, its themes are more significant and longer lasting. It may indicate a major focus in your life for months to come.

Since the New Moon you have probably been experiencing an increased focus on your work and status in the world. Career matters have been prominent. Now, with the Full Moon in your Fourth House, you may face the necessity of integrating your work goals, requirements and ambitions with your home life. You need to succeed in the world, but you also need the secure foundation of a harmonious home base. You need to meet the expectations of authorities, customers, your public, etc., but you must also give fair and balanced attention to your family. At this time you may need to give serious thought to the ways in which you can successfully balance both sides of this polarity, and you may have to prioritize and make some changes. A true sense of fulfillment here may well include a blending of compassion and the "bottom line," or nurturing responsibly.

Full Moon semisquare Natal Mars

Illuminated in this period is your capacity to ACT, to assert yourself, to express what you want. Your independence and personal power (or lack of these attributes) are in focus. This can be an especially dynamic time for you. Your energy is likely to be high, and your life eventful. Extra emotional energy contributes to the excitement--or could add to any tendencies to be impulsive and jump into holes feet first, only to learn later that they were deeper than you thought. Don't plunge in without checking first! If you use your energy constructively, this could be a period of considerable accomplishment. If, however, you find yourself being irritable and edgy, you are probably letting your emotions run away with all that energy. In that case, you would do well to find a harmless outlet to expend some physical energy, and then take the initiative to express your feelings calmly and directly. This is a time when you SHOULD assert yourself and go after what you want--just do so with purposeful awareness, and respectful consideration for others involved.

Full Moon semisquare Natal Saturn

Responsibility and discipline are the keywords for this time period. The focus is on REALITY and that involves awareness of your limitations, the effort that you expend in achieving what you set out to do, and your self-discipline (or lack of it) in persisting. A great deal can be achieved through a practical, serious approach and steady, persistent progress. You are concerned about your security, and you could be inclined to translate worry into stress, anxiety and negative thinking. Recognize that it may be your mood rather than the true reality of the situation. Don't magnify your problems, and avoid making decisions that are based on emotional issues during this time. Instead, concentrate on the practical. If work vs. your emotional life is a CAUSE of your stress, however, quiet reflection on your priorities is called for. Saturnine aspects and transits have no need to worry you unless you wish to avoid dealing with your own responsibility for your life. Saturn symbolizes that which is solid and stable, and some of the most concrete gains you will ever make can take place when you accept and work with your Saturn energy.

Full Moon sesquisquare Natal Midheaven

There is a strong focus on your career interests, your work in the world, your reputation and your status. You are "on display" during this time period. If you want to promote yourself, or sell an idea, you can be more effective than usual because you have increased sensitivity to the moods of others, and can "play to" them. You can appeal to their emotional concerns. Be also aware that the more visible you are, the more likely that things which are hidden could come to light. A career focus may still mean that issues of polarity may need to be balanced. You may have concerns regarding your career interests vs. your home life or your career or status vs. a close personal relationship. Your own life's work and reputation are very important, but without the support of others and of a harmonious home base, your successes could seem hollow and incomplete. If these things are out of balance, you may need to readjust your priorities in order to take best advantage of this time.

APRIL 30, 2005 Saturday

Venus square Natal Pluto

From April 29, 2005 to May 1, 2005

Where love, sex, finance or self-indulgence are concerned, halfway measures are not your style today. You may face a challenge to balance your desires with self-control. Profound connections are possible when barriers are dropped.

MAY 2005

MAJOR TRENDS

Uranus square Natal Sun

From March 23, 2005 to May 9, 2005

Feeling restless, maybe even rebellious? This is a time when freedom needs have a high priority for you. You need to find a way to express them creatively, without placing in jeopardy the structures of your life that you really wouldn't want to threaten. Don't try to suppress your craving for adventure, independence and change, for that may mean that something unexpected will "happen" that may force a change you don't really want. You decide--do something creative and original to reawaken your joy in life.

Neptune opposite Natal Pluto

From April 9, 2005 to June 30, 2005

Emphasized on May 20, 2005.

Deep-rooted psychological evolution could be involved in this transit. To the degree that more personal transits echo this theme, you may be dealing with changes in your basic views of life, purpose and reality. You must integrate the spiritual and the material. Yet know that this transit, itself, is also being experienced by your entire age group, so its theme may be more evident in social changes that affect you all.

Uranus semisquare Natal Venus

From April 30, 2005 to July 31, 2005

Sudden love! Or perhaps new "zing" in an old one. You're ready for it, so experiment and flirt a bit. No? Well, in some area of your life you are likely to face an issue of what makes you comfortable versus the urge for change. It could be trying a new approach to an art form, instead of sticking to the tried and true. Others could resist, causing some emotional tension. Be considerate, but don't suppress. Open yourself to new freedom, and your joy may be contagious!

Saturn sesquisquare Natal Sun

From May 18, 2005 to June 7, 2005

Emphasized on May 29, 2005.

This is a stage in a developmental cycle of your life that may present a challenge or test of your methods and structure. As with any test, vitality may be strained, and you could feel alone, discouraged and unappreciated. This may indicate that some changes should be made. On the upside, you now have extra ability to concentrate and to persevere. Take well-considered and disciplined steps forward toward your goals. Responsibility may increase.

Uranus semisquare Natal Moon

From May 18, 2005 to July 13, 2005

Emotional tension is a key phrase for this transit combination, but if that is your experience it may be a signal that you should look at your resistance to changes that you know you need to make in your old habit patterns. Creatively dealing with those changes can bring new freshness and new freedom. Be considerate of others who may not immediately understand, but don't suppress. Do it! Be inventive. Try a new style--just don't throw out all the old stuff until this transit passes into a calmer one!

DAY-TO-DAY ACTIVITY

MAY 1, 2005 Sunday _____

Venus semisquare Natal Uranus
From April 30, 2005 to May 2, 2005

Excitement in romance and/or art--so enjoy!
Possible challenges: love relationships can conflict over issues of stability vs. freedom. Risk appeals--and this could apply to finance, too. Today could bring a surprise.

Mercury square Natal Ascendant
From May 1, 2005 to May 2, 2005

Extra energy to all your communications with others. Make that call, write that letter, have that talk. Exchange ideas. And don't forget, listening to the other person's opinion is communication, too!

Mars sesquiquare Natal Ascendant
From April 29, 2005 to May 2, 2005

DO IT NOW and MY WAY is your urge with this transit. If the other(s) involved do not agree, dispute can result. Clearing the air is better than suppressed tension, and compromise may be possible. Be direct and be clear. But realize that if you can't compromise, but you want peace in the relationship, you might better spend this day's energy on a competitive sport or a project that you can work on alone.

MAY 3, 2005 Tuesday _____

Mercury opposite Natal Neptune
From May 2, 2005 to May 3, 2005

This is a day when it could seem as if the "logic wires" in your brain got somehow crossed with those from fantasy land. On the other hand, if your intent is to tune in to the intuition and the imagination, messages could come through with extra oomph. Don't be a victim. Save the details for another day, or if you can't, double-check them. Take some time to sniff the roses and listen to music.

Mars sesquiquare Natal Neptune
From May 2, 2005 to May 4, 2005

Your escape mechanism is stimulated into action. If you escape through creating art or music, or if you're engaged in a spiritual pursuit, make the most of this tuned-in time. If you're vulnerable to negative escapes--alcohol, drugs, illness--watch out. Better to curl up with a good fantasy book. If you're feeling tired, or too sensitive to criticism, don't take yourself or it too seriously. A little break, some soft music . . .

MAY 8, 2005 Sunday _____

Mercury sesquiquare Natal Sun
From May 7, 2005 to May 9, 2005

Busy, busy, busy. Lots of talk, phone jangles. Paper to shuffle. Errands to run. It may well be a test of your nervous energy! Ego needs could conflict. Make your point clearly, then let it be. Going on and on isn't necessary and could work against you.

Sun square Natal Pluto
From May 7, 2005 to May 9, 2005

You could be confronted with a mini-crisis--anything from pressure from the boss to a machine that breaks, forcing you to stop and fix it. Or this could be a focal day in an ongoing intense issue reflected by your long-term transits. Whatever, consider it a test of your ability to handle what needs to be done. Do it without force or ego, and your inner strength will increase.

New Moon in Your 11th House

The themes of the eleventh house include your friendships, your group activities, the goals of your life's work and your hopes and dreams for the future. It could also symbolize your experience with innovation or new technology. Take the initiative in meeting and cultivating new friendships, or in solidifying existing friendships. Join groups. Take on increased responsibility within your group activities. Run for a club office. Cooperate with others for a humanitarian cause. Do volunteer work for an organization. Help organize an event that will benefit your community. Plan and evaluate your future goals, and take some step toward achieving them. If you feel a lack of progress, try a new and original approach. Learn to use a computer.

New Moon semisquare Natal Uranus

Illuminated during this period are your capacities to express your individuality, your originality, your freedom urges, and your ability to deal with change. Change is in the air--perhaps sudden and unexpected. Be prepared to be flexible. You may precipitate or attract change because you are feeling restless, and wish to be free of something or someone. Innovation attracts you, and you may be inclined to be a bit reckless. If you are experiencing excitement and joy, it is a sign that you are flowing creatively with the changes within. If you are experiencing tension, you are probably suppressing, denying or resisting changes that you should make. Explore and experiment with new ways of thinking and behaving. Create new freshness in your life--but do so in a manner that is considerate of those with whom you are emotionally involved, for they may not understand you and may resist the changes.

New Moon square Natal Pluto

Your power to create transformative changes in your life is in focus during this period. Also at issue may be your ability to eliminate that which no longer serves you, to bring matters to completion, or to deal with compulsions, either in behavior or in obsessive feelings. Power and control issues in your interactions with others may be of concern. Your emotions are likely to be more intense than usual. If you feel very stressed, take it as a signal that there are changes you know you should make. Suppressing them will not work; it will only increase your tension--and change is probably inevitable, anyway. Your choice is to claim your power to take the lead, or to give it away by your avoidance. In the latter case, you may attract a situation or person who will force the issue. Blame and excuses won't help. If something must end, let it go. One door may close--but another one opens. If you take charge and do what you must do, this can be a very powerful time for you. A new, more fulfilling life may be beginning.

MAY 9, 2005 Monday

Mercury square Natal Venus

From May 9, 2005 to May 10, 2005

If you've been needing to have a good talk with someone you love, this is a day for it. You may not agree, and will need to compromise, but your ability to express yourself is better than usual. This can also apply to that letter you've been procrastinating about writing. Social occasions are enjoyable.

Sun semisquare Natal Uranus

From May 8, 2005 to May 10, 2005

Expect the unexpected. If you are determined to stick doggedly to routine, something or someone is likely to disrupt it. Face it. YOU want a break. It would be best if you acknowledged that and found a way to be individual, different or free today. Decide what you could do to express your uniqueness, WITHOUT shaking up your life in a way that you might be sorry for tomorrow!

MAY 10, 2005 Tuesday _____

Mercury conjunct Natal Moon

From May 9, 2005 to May 10, 2005

This is a day to give attention to mental work and communication matters. Your mind is extremely active. Satisfy your curiosity, talk things over, study, expressive yourself through writing or speaking. Get that problem you've been holding back "off your chest"--but be sure you listen to the other's side, too.

Venus semisquare Natal Ascendant

From May 9, 2005 to May 11, 2005

A good day to enjoy yourself with others--or that special "other." Relationships are generally harmonious. Have a good time, but don't overindulge. Self-discipline may not be strong.

MAY 11, 2005 Wednesday _____

Venus sesquisquare Natal Neptune

From May 10, 2005 to May 12, 2005

Fantasy, beauty and idealistic love can appeal to the heights of your imagination. Enjoy creative pursuits and all that's beautiful. Just be aware that your view is through rose-colored glasses, and the view may not be so rosy another day.

MAY 12, 2005 Thursday _____

Mercury sesquisquare Natal Mercury

From May 11, 2005 to May 12, 2005

Communication issues dominate today--and some of them could seem in conflict with your own views. Conversations, dialogues, debates, business matters and errands all could be more evident than usual. If you feel restless, don't give in to nervous tension. Take a short trip, visit a friend who likes to talk, or travel through books, to learn anything new that you may be curious about. Your mind works more quickly than usual.

Mercury square Natal Jupiter

From May 11, 2005 to May 13, 2005

Your ability to think quickly is an asset, and today good ideas are more than likely. Business matters are favored, as is travel. Though you could be inclined to relax--and that could be OK--know that today you can put your communications skills to work for your advantage.

MAY 13, 2005 Friday _____

Mars square Natal Sun

From May 12, 2005 to May 15, 2005

Whatever else, today, keep active. Endurance is good. Competitive or risk-taking urges are heightened. Impatience, arrogance or foolish impulses could lead to trouble. Do it--but with consideration and tact for others.

MAY 14, 2005 Saturday _____

Mercury sesquisquare Natal Mars

From May 14, 2005 to May 15, 2005

If you're feeling irritable and nervous, try to find a moment to slow down and perhaps meditate for a bit. Understand that your tolerance and patience level is a bit stressed by this transit. While debate may be quite constructive, arguments could make things worse. In your haste to make your point, don't lose touch with your feelings. Channel your assertive energy into a positive mental challenge.

Mercury sesquisquare Natal Saturn

From May 14, 2005 to May 15, 2005

You are not likely to feel in a playful mood today, but your ability for concentrated mental discipline is excellent. If there's a matter that calls for serious analysis, this is a time for it. Yet beware of being too hard on yourself or too critical of others.

Mercury semisquare Natal Midheaven

From May 14, 2005 to May 15, 2005

Career concerns today call for communication, making or carrying out plans, and quite possibly, making decisions. If you're clear about your objectives, say so! Be willing also to listen to others' views.

MAY 16, 2005 Monday

Mars semisquare Natal Venus

From May 14, 2005 to May 17, 2005

The urge to ACT is heightened in matters of love, sex, self-indulgence, art, entertainment--in most anything you enjoy. A potential challenge could arise requiring balance of your desires and what you want to do with the other(s) involved.

MAY 17, 2005 Tuesday

Venus opposite Natal Sun

From May 16, 2005 to May 18, 2005

A lovely day for love--and that includes you for you. Indulge yourself a bit--but not excessively, for extravagance may appeal. Be social. Give and receive compliments. Express your tender feelings for a special someone.

Mars semisquare Natal Moon

From May 15, 2005 to May 18, 2005

Greatly stimulated emotional responses could lead to excitement and passion--or tension, rashness and irritability. Express your feelings directly and frankly, but in a manner that is considerate of others.

MAY 19, 2005 Thursday

Venus semisquare Natal Moon

From May 18, 2005 to May 20, 2005

Feelings of love and affection are strong. Express them! So be amorous, be nurturing, be protective. But do NOT be possessive or smothering! Good for sociability, but watch tendency to overindulge.

Venus sesquisquare Natal Venus

From May 18, 2005 to May 19, 2005

Most likely this day favors casual, pleasant sociability with others; perhaps sentimentality, nostalgia or sensuality with loved ones. Minor differences in approaches to manner of pleasure, finance could require balance.

MAY 21, 2005 Saturday

Mars square Natal Mercury

From May 20, 2005 to May 22, 2005

Mental energy is high, so keep that mind of yours busy. Ideas are more creative, original. Channel them into activity. Today's energies could also lead to argument. This can be productive (being direct, debating to win) or destructive (pointless, tactless, impatient)--depends on the purpose and the person.

Sun semisquare Natal Ascendant

From May 20, 2005 to May 22, 2005

Spotlight on encounters with others. Some may be at cross-purposes with you. Lead, if you can--you have the extra energy. But do NOT seek to dominate. Be aware of what you really want. Compromise and seeking consensus might get it for you more easily than willfulness.

MAY 22, 2005 Sunday _____

Venus opposite Natal Mercury

From May 21, 2005 to May 23, 2005

If you've had tension in a close relationship, this would be a good day to talk things over agreeably. Mental activity will be enjoyable or seem easier now. Communication or travel matters go smoothly, comfortably.

Venus sesquisquare Natal Jupiter

From May 21, 2005 to May 23, 2005

A day for pleasure. Impetus to overdo, so watch extravagance--but with that small caveat, this is a time to enjoy. Plan a social activity, a little trip, a gift, an art activity. Or perhaps an idealistic or philosophical pursuit will bring joy and satisfaction.

Mars semisquare Natal Jupiter

From May 20, 2005 to May 23, 2005

You are stimulated to act, and your activities are fruitful, successful, joyful and contribute to growth--just so long as you also integrate your actions with ethical principles. Make the most of this time period. You've got the energy, and this transit is usually a success indicator.

Sun sesquisquare Natal Neptune

From May 21, 2005 to May 23, 2005

This is just not the day to forge ahead with enthusiasm in the working world. In fact, you could feel discouraged or just plain pooped. It will pass. Take the day off if you can. If you can't, try to pace yourself and relax tonight. Matters of spirituality, idealism, faith are highlighted, however, and could be beautiful.

Mercury square Natal Pluto

From May 22, 2005 to May 23, 2005

Deep thinking required! Something must be confronted, or a decision or commitment made. Ambiguity just won't work. You could feel stressed, even irritable, but it will be a big relief when that issue is resolved. Say or decide what you must, but try not to come on like a "heavy."

Smile, both for you and others.

MAY 23, 2005 Monday _____

Mercury semisquare Natal Uranus

From May 22, 2005 to May 23, 2005

Bright ideas come in a flash! You're mentally quick, cleverer than usual. Try a new approach. What is unorthodox could be the key to discovery. In any case, try to take a break from routine. If you are bored, blocked or too confined today, your unproductive outlet could be tension or disputes.

Full Moon in Your 5th House

Illuminated at this Full Moon is the manner in which you express your individuality and personal creativity, and how you give love. It is a good time to do something that you really enjoy, that excites you, that gives you the opportunity to express YOU. Your children are a highly significant result of your personal creativity, so your support for their activities might also be a significant issue at this time. What may need to be balanced and integrated here is the issue of your individual expression vs. your role within society as a whole or in groups to which you belong that are still in focus during this New Moon lunar month. Perhaps your larger group responsibilities are leaving too little time for your individual needs. Perhaps your larger goals are competing with time for your children. If both sides of this polarity are balanced, this may be a time when you can just let yourself shine. If you are overextended, it is time to consider what you can do to increase your individual expression and enjoyment of life.

Full Moon semisquare Natal Neptune

Any psychic sensitivity that you have is in strong focus now. You may be picking up signals from all around--which doesn't necessarily mean that they are accurate! You will feel best if you're around positive people and situations. If you're feeling "down," recognize that it may be what you're intuiting from others and not really your own feelings. Neptune symbolizes the way in which you "escape" reality and "get away from it all." This can be a very positive function and a necessary balance for mundane life, but there are constructive ways to escape and there are very destructive ones. Stay away from drugs and alcohol--you are more susceptible to their negative influences now. Meditation, art, music, ritual worship or other forms of creative, aesthetic fantasy are good methods of "getting away from it all," and these activities may yield exceptional beauty during this period. Deception, self-deception and confusion are potential downsides of this transit. However, if you are aware that your perceptions of reality may not be clear, you can flow with the positive attributes of your inner Neptune energy. Enjoy a little "fantasyland," but don't project it onto others--they may not deserve it, and you can't be sure just now.

Full Moon sesquisquare Natal Ascendant

Transits to the Ascendant symbolize a strong focus on YOU. This can mean your personal identity, your appearance, your environment and your close interactions with others. You are looking for attention, and you are likely to get it. Increased popularity or problems can result, depending on what energies you are creating. It is very likely that you are feeling restless about something or someone and would like to make changes. With consideration for others, and with reasonable foresight and thought to avoid impulses that you might regret later, DO it. This is a time to put forward your own interests. An aspect of balance must be a factor, however. What you want for yourself may need to be balanced with outer circumstances or with others who are important to your life. If you are not thinking clearly about this, and considering all aspects, you could find that having one thing means losing another. Go for it, but be aware.

MAY 25, 2005 Wednesday

Venus square Natal Mars

From May 24, 2005 to May 26, 2005

Your assertive nature is stimulated by an urge for enjoyment. Could take the form of teasing, active play, enthusiastic activity in the arts, expressions of affection, good sex . . . Could be a need to balance what you want or desire with someone else's mood.

Venus square Natal Saturn

From May 24, 2005 to May 26, 2005

Today your need to work and your wish for pleasure may be in conflict. Or the issue may be career vs. relationship needs. Integration is up to you. Uncomfortable feelings signal that balance is needed. Taking responsibility can be pleasurable.

Venus square Natal Midheaven

From May 24, 2005 to May 26, 2005

A productive day for those whose careers are involved with creativity, art, beauty or entertainment. In any case, it's a good day to beautify your surroundings. Sociable and amorous intents are also enhanced.

MAY 27, 2005 Friday

Mars opposite Natal Mars

From May 26, 2005 to May 29, 2005

It's a day for activity--Physical, energetic, strenuous, competitive. High accomplishment is possible, but you could overextend. Don't be foolhardy or "run over" others, but don't suppress your urge to act, either. An extreme result of suppressing your own energy and desires can be illness. Do something--and as much as possible, do it your way.

Mars opposite Natal Saturn

From May 25, 2005 to May 28, 2005

This transit can reflect a conflict between what you want to do and what the structures of your life permit. Somehow you must balance the two. Blocking your desire or giving up on it could strain the health. Are your perceived limitations truly absolute, or could they be changed? Constructive, disciplined work is favored, and you can accomplish much. Stress means something is out of balance. Try to take a break, then, and reflect on a better approach.

Mars conjunct Natal Midheaven

From May 26, 2005 to May 29, 2005

This is a transit during which a new surge of energy toward your work in the world could positively influence your activities for the next two years. Don't hide behind the scenes today. If you have a plan, talent, idea, ambition, put it forward. Assert your individuality. Work for your personal goals. If ego conflicts arise from working within a peer group, you might best try to work alone. Focus energy on the work to be done.

MAY 28, 2005 Saturday

Mercury semisquare Natal Ascendant

From May 28, 2005 to May 29, 2005

Extra energy to all your communications with others. Make that call, write that letter, have that talk. Exchange ideas. And don't forget, listening to the other person's opinion is communication, too!

MAY 29, 2005 Sunday

Mercury sesquiquare Natal Neptune

From May 28, 2005 to May 29, 2005

This is a day when it could seem as if the "logic wires" in your brain got somehow crossed with those from fantasy land. On the other hand, if your intent is to tune in to the intuition and the imagination, messages could come through with extra oomph. Don't be a victim. Save the details for another day, or if you can't, double-check them. Take some time to sniff the roses and listen to music.

MAY 30, 2005 Monday

Sun opposite Natal Sun

From May 29, 2005 to May 31, 2005

Today you shine--or at least you want to, or think you should. Your ego is in the forefront, and if you don't get attention effortlessly, you're inclined to do something to draw attention. Yet, this is a good time to push yourself onward. If circumstances or others challenge you, understand that it is only a test of your goals, and you have the will and energy to pass that test. Your challenger also wants to shine. Respect that, without denying your own needs. Show how brightly you can shine through constructive effort. Take pride in doing your best.

JUNE 2005

MAJOR TRENDS

Neptune opposite Natal Pluto

From April 9, 2005 to June 30, 2005

Deep-rooted psychological evolution could be involved in this transit. Saturn sesquisquare Natal Sun

From May 18, 2005 to June 7, 2005

This is a stage in a developmental cycle of your life that may present a challenge or test of your methods and structure. As with any test, vitality may be strained, and you could feel alone, discouraged and unappreciated. This may indicate that some changes should be made. On the upside, you now have extra ability to concentrate and to persevere. Take well-considered and disciplined steps forward toward your goals. Responsibility may increase.

Uranus semisquare Natal Moon

Saturn opposite Natal Venus

From June 4, 2005 to June 22, 2005
Emphasized on June 13, 2005.

A time of reality for affairs of the heart. Balance love and pleasure with responsibility and discipline. Give attention to security needs--yours and others'. Limit indulgences and keep a conservative eye on your finances. Any of these issues could be involved in a testing period for an existing relationship. Or this could be the time that you enter into or solidify a relationship that will be stable and enduring.

Saturn square Natal Moon

From June 9, 2005 to June 26, 2005
Emphasized on June 18, 2005.

Your emotional life may be stressed to the point that you are inclined to magnify problems or to be more vulnerable than usual. Recognize that it may be your mood rather than reality. It is probably best to postpone any major decisions with an emotional basis for the time being. Instead concentrate on practical concerns of your work in the world--unless it is a conflict between your work and your personal relationships that is at the root of your stress. In that case, your practical concern must be to rethink your priorities and restore balance.

DAY-TO-DAY ACTIVITY

JUNE 1, 2005 Wednesday

Mercury opposite Natal Sun

From June 1, 2005 to June 2, 2005

Busy, busy, busy. Lots of talk, phone jangles. Paper to shuffle. Errands to run. It may well be a test of your nervous energy! Ego needs could conflict. Make your point clearly, then let it be. Going on and on isn't necessary and could work against you.

Sun semisquare Natal Moon

From May 31, 2005 to June 2, 2005

Tension could result today as your outer self (public, professional life, perhaps) comes into conflict with your inner emotional needs. The challenge is to bring them into balance, for neither can be denied. If you feel "on edge" it is a sign that you are out of balance. You may be giving too much attention to your own ego needs, or too career-pressured, and may be letting down your family or your own need to be nurtured. Or you may be giving in to emotional demands at the expense of what you know needs your attention in the outer world. Take a break--perhaps take a walk alone--and think about which area is being neglected, and then do something about it.

Sun sesquisquare Natal Venus

From May 31, 2005 to June 2, 2005

Try to find something to do that you enjoy today. Spend time with a friend or romantic partner, or get out where you can meet someone new. Play a little--indulge just a bit. But beware of extravagance you might regret tomorrow! Arts and crafts activities can go especially well today.

JUNE 2, 2005 Thursday

Mercury semisquare Natal Moon

From June 2, 2005 to June 3, 2005

Is your mind racing today? Your thinking is more likely to be heavily influenced by your feelings, so examine which is which. This may be a day when you can more clearly express your feelings--or understand them. Could be the right time for that heart-to-heart talk--just so long as you LISTEN to and respect the other person's feelings, too.

Mercury sesquisquare Natal Venus

From June 2, 2005 to June 2, 2005

If you've been needing to have a good talk with someone you love, this is a day for it. You may not agree, and will need to compromise, but your ability to express yourself is better than usual. This can also apply to that letter you've been procrastinating about writing. Social occasions are enjoyable.

JUNE 4, 2005 Saturday

Mercury opposite Natal Mercury

From June 3, 2005 to June 4, 2005

Communication issues dominate today--and some of them could seem in conflict with your own views. Conversations, dialogues, debates, business matters and errands all could be more evident than usual. If you feel restless, don't give in to nervous tension. Take a short trip, visit a friend who likes to talk, or travel through books, to learn anything new that you may be curious about. Your mind works more quickly than usual.

Mercury sesquisquare Natal Jupiter

From June 4, 2005 to June 4, 2005

Your ability to think quickly is an asset, and today good ideas are more than likely. Business matters are favored, as is travel. Though you could be inclined to relax--and that could be OK--know that today you can put your communications skills to work for your advantage.

JUNE 5, 2005 Sunday

Sun opposite Natal Mercury

From June 4, 2005 to June 6, 2005

Does it seem like "everybody" wants to talk to you or hear from you today? If the phone doesn't stop, a dozen errands need to be run, several talk at once, opinions conflict, at least you've got the extra mental energy to deal with it. Your opinions may be tested. Strive to be very clear about what YOU say and remember that it is equally important to LISTEN. Maintain your objectivity. Compromise may be the key.

Sun sesquisquare Natal Jupiter

From June 4, 2005 to June 6, 2005

You should feel good today--expansive, in fact. Put your "best foot forward," for this is a time you can more easily succeed. Your confidence radiates and attracts. Reach for the stars, but keep in mind that your desire to get ahead must be balanced with good principles. Give business initiatives and presentations a "jump start." Social affairs and celebrations can be joyous--so long as you don't overdo!

JUNE 6, 2005 Monday _____

Mercury square Natal Mars

From June 5, 2005 to June 6, 2005

If you're feeling irritable and nervous, try to find a moment to slow down and perhaps meditate for a bit. Understand that your tolerance and patience level is a bit stressed by this transit. While debate may be quite constructive, arguments could make things worse. In your haste to make your point, don't lose touch with your feelings. Channel your assertive energy into a positive mental challenge.

Mercury square Natal Saturn

From June 5, 2005 to June 6, 2005

You are not likely to feel in a playful mood today, but your ability for concentrated mental discipline is excellent. If there's a matter that calls for serious analysis, this is a time for it. Yet beware of being too hard on yourself or too critical of others.

Venus conjunct Natal Uranus

From June 6, 2005 to June 7, 2005

Expect the unexpected in love and romance, in creative work, in financial matters. You could fall in love at first sight--but take care. It may be more exciting than stable! A creative flash is possible--be experimental! Invest wisely, or "easy come" could also be "easy go." A day to break with dull routine and be open to stimulation.

Venus semisquare Natal Pluto

From June 5, 2005 to June 7, 2005

Where love, sex, finance or self-indulgence are concerned, halfway measures are not your style today. You may face a challenge to balance your desires with self-control. Profound connections are possible when barriers are dropped.

Mercury square Natal Midheaven

From June 5, 2005 to June 6, 2005

Career concerns today call for communication, making or carrying out plans, and quite possibly, making decisions. If you're clear about your objectives, say so! Be willing also to listen to others' views.

New Moon in Your 11th House

The themes of the eleventh house include your friendships, your group activities, the goals of your life's work and your hopes and dreams for the future. It could also symbolize your experience with innovation or new technology. Take the initiative in meeting and cultivating new friendships, or in solidifying existing friendships. Join groups. Take on increased responsibility within your group activities. Run for a club office. Cooperate with others for a humanitarian cause. Do volunteer work for an organization. Help organize an event that will benefit your community. Plan and evaluate your future goals, and take some step toward achieving them. If you feel a lack of progress, try a new and original approach. Learn to use a computer.

New Moon opposite Natal Mercury

A strong focus during this period is on your capacity to think, to communicate and to learn. The fact that the transit in this case involves the Moon to your Mercury symbolizes that the way in which you think and communicate is likely to be influenced by your feelings, so it is well to be aware of which is which. For example, a persuasive speech propelled by emotional excitement can be most compelling, but an interchange punctuated with emotions not understood and out of control can be ruinous. In any case, during this time you are likely to be especially busy and on the go--talking, speaking, writing, perhaps traveling. Your mind is extremely active and seeks stimulation. Satisfy your curiosity, talk things over, study, express yourself. Get that concern you've been holding back "off your chest"--but be sure you listen to the other's side, too. You can draw on the powers of both your conscious, logical mind and your intuitive sense. It is important to use them with awareness and balance.

New Moon square Natal Mars

Illuminated in this period is your capacity to ACT, to assert yourself, to express what you want. Your independence and personal power (or lack of these attributes) are in focus. This can be an especially dynamic time for you. Your energy is likely to be high, and your life eventful. Extra emotional energy contributes to the excitement--or could add to any tendencies to be impulsive and jump into holes feet first, only to learn later that they were deeper than you thought. Don't plunge in without checking first! If you use your energy constructively, this could be a period of considerable accomplishment. If, however, you find yourself being irritable and edgy, you are probably letting your emotions run away with all that energy. In that case, you would do well to find a harmless outlet to expend some physical energy, and then take the initiative to express your feelings calmly and directly. This is a time when you SHOULD assert yourself and go after what you want--just do so with purposeful awareness, and respectful consideration for others involved.

New Moon sesquisquare Natal Jupiter

In high focus now are your capacities for optimism, growth and idealism. Your sense of ethics and your faith may be factors in issues that you initiate or are impacted by. This is very likely to be an especially fortunate period for you in terms of opportunities to expand. Philosophical, spiritual and educational pursuits are avored. You could even have the feeling that "Lady Luck" is with you, and you are quite optimistic about the prospects. Be alert for opportunities that come your way, and take advantage of them, but it is never wise to gamble that which you can't afford to lose. Since your ethical sense may be at stake, it is important that you conduct your activities with integrity and within "the rules" as you see them. If your rules differ from those of others, be aware and balance, or be prepared to defend and justify. If you have been looking for a good time to schedule an important social event or celebration, this may be one of the best. (Look for other supporting transits, too.) You're likely to be feeling quite generous, now, but guard against extravagance. Be happy.

New Moon square Natal Saturn

Responsibility and discipline are the keywords for this time period. The focus is on REALITY and that involves awareness of your limitations, the effort that you expend in achieving what you set out to do, and your self-discipline (or lack of it) in persisting. A great deal can be achieved through a practical, serious approach and steady, persistent progress. You are concerned about your security, and you could be inclined to translate worry into stress, anxiety and negative thinking. Recognize that it may be your mood rather than the true reality of the situation. Don't magnify your problems, and avoid making decisions that are based on emotional issues during this time. Instead, concentrate on the practical. If work vs. your emotional life is a CAUSE of your stress, however, quiet reflection on your priorities is called for. Saturnine aspects and transits have no need to worry you unless you wish to avoid dealing with your own responsibility for your life. Saturn symbolizes that which is solid and stable, and some of the most concrete gains you will ever make can take place when you accept and work with your Saturn energy.

New Moon square Natal Midheaven

There is a strong focus on your career interests, your work in the world, your reputation and your status. You are "on display" during this time period. If you want to promote yourself, or sell an idea, you can be more effective than usual because you have increased sensitivity to the moods of others, and can "play to" them. You can appeal to their emotional concerns. Be also aware that the more visible you are, the more likely that things which are hidden could come to light. A career focus may still mean that issues of polarity may need to be balanced. You may have concerns regarding your career interests vs. your home life or your career or status vs. a close personal relationship. Your own life's work and reputation are very important, but without the support of others and of a harmonious home base, your successes could seem hollow and incomplete. If these things are out of balance, you may need to readjust your priorities in order to take best advantage of this time.

JUNE 9, 2005 Thursday _____

Sun square Natal Mars

From June 8, 2005 to June 10, 2005

Competitive or confrontational situations could arise today. Ego conflicts are likely. Your energy is high and you can accomplish much--so long as you maintain your awareness of your own motivations. Irritability or hostility, from yourself or others, signals a need to take a break, calm down and think through a possible compromise.

Sun square Natal Saturn

From June 8, 2005 to June 10, 2005

Today you could be confronted with a conflict between what you'd like to do and either a circumstance or authority figure that limits you. Duty calls, but energy may be low. Self-discipline is required. Blaming will only increase frustration. Dig in and get done what needs to be done--the feelings will pass. Or, if you are truly in a rut, seriously and quietly consider your options for change.

Sun square Natal Midheaven

From June 8, 2005 to June 10, 2005

Not the easiest day to be a "team-player" because your own interests and purposes are likely to be in the forefront of your concerns. Yet alienating others could threaten a consensus you need. Do your "thing"--it's a good day for it--but be considerate of others.

JUNE 12, 2005 Sunday _____

Mercury semisquare Natal Pluto

From June 12, 2005 to June 13, 2005

Deep thinking required! Something must be confronted, or a decision or commitment made. Ambiguity just won't work. You could feel stressed, even irritable, but it will be a big relief when that issue is resolved. Say or decide what you must, but try not to come on like a "heavy." Smile, both for you and others.

JUNE 13, 2005 Monday _____

Mercury conjunct Natal Uranus

From June 12, 2005 to June 13, 2005

This is a good time to take a break from the daily drudge and explore something new. You'll thrive on satisfying curiosity, on discovery, on allowing your unorthodox ideas to emerge. If you repress these thoughts, or feel blocked and bored, tension or disputes may result.

JUNE 16, 2005 Thursday _____

Mars sesquisquare Natal Pluto

From June 15, 2005 to June 18, 2005

Power urges are stimulated. Possible control conflicts arise. You need to express your own deep feelings--perhaps about something that needs to be transformed. Don't suppress--that may only attract controlling behavior from others. Act constructively and you can accomplish much. Sexual urges are heightened; emotions are likely intense.

Venus conjunct Natal Ascendant

From June 15, 2005 to June 16, 2005

This is an especially favorable day for love, affection, relationships, social occasions, enjoying the company of others. Expect to feel good today, content with yourself and your surroundings.

JUNE 17, 2005 Friday

Mars square Natal Uranus

From June 16, 2005 to June 19, 2005

You're likely to be in a hurry, or to be feeling more impulsive, risk-taking and even rebellious than usual. So go--just watch out you don't precipitate an accident by being too much in a rush! If you don't express the energy yourself, you'll probably just experience rash behavior from others. Find a constructive and reasonably safe way to express your individuality--and do it with a smile for others.

Venus square Natal Neptune

From June 16, 2005 to June 18, 2005

Fantasy, beauty and idealistic love can appeal to the heights of your imagination. Enjoy creative pursuits and all that's beautiful. Just be aware that your view is through rose-colored glasses, and the view may not be so rosy another day.

JUNE 19, 2005 Sunday

Mercury square Natal Neptune

From June 19, 2005 to June 20, 2005

This is a day when it could seem as if the "logic wires" in your brain got somehow crossed with those from fantasy land. On the other hand, if your intent is to tune in to the intuition and the imagination, messages could come through with extra oomph. Don't be a victim. Save the details for another day, or if you can't, double-check them. Take some time to sniff the roses and listen to music.

Mercury conjunct Natal Ascendant

From June 18, 2005 to June 19, 2005

You could give minor boost to all communication activities on this day. Negotiate, communicate, keep busy. Run errands. Call whomever you need to call. Not an easy day to relax--the tempo of your life is likely to be accelerated.

JUNE 22, 2005 Wednesday

Full Moon in Your 6th House

Illuminated by the Full Moon are your day-to-day work, your co-workers and your working environment, any service you perform for others and also your health. Changes and improvements in any of these areas may be significant now. The New Moon period may have found you dwelling on matters that you keep inside yourself and do not show to the outside world or even to those who are close to you. In your introspection, perhaps you have considered ways in which small changes in your daily life might ease your ability to relax and nurture your inner self. Now it would be well to do something about it. Acts of kindness and helpfulness toward co-workers, improved organization for yourself, better attention to your own nutrition and good health habits--all these could help YOU now.

Full Moon opposite Natal Uranus

Illuminated during this period are your capacities to express your individuality, your originality, your freedom urges, and your ability to deal with change. Change is in the air--perhaps sudden and unexpected. Be prepared to be flexible. You may precipitate or attract change because you are feeling restless, and wish to be free of something or someone. Innovation attracts you, and you may be inclined to be a bit reckless. If you are experiencing excitement and joy, it is a sign that you are flowing creatively with the changes within. If you are experiencing tension, you are probably suppressing, denying or resisting changes that you should make. Explore and experiment with new ways of thinking and behaving. Create new freshness in your life--but do so in a manner that is considerate of those with whom you are emotionally involved, for they may not understand you and may resist the changes.

Full Moon sesquisquare Natal Pluto

Your power to create transformative changes in your life is in focus during this period. Also at issue may be your ability to eliminate that which no longer serves you, to bring matters to completion, or to deal with compulsions, either in behavior or in obsessive feelings. Power and control issues in your interactions with others may be of concern. Your emotions are likely to be more intense than usual. If you feel very stressed, take it as a signal that there are changes you know you should make. Suppressing them will not work; it will only increase your tension--and change is probably inevitable, anyway. Your choice is to claim your power to take the lead, or to give it away by your avoidance. In the latter case, you may attract a situation or person who will force the issue. Blame and excuses won't help. If something must end, let it go. One door may close--but another one opens. If you take charge and do what you must do, this can be a very powerful time for you. A new, more fulfilling life may be beginning.

JUNE 23, 2005 Thursday

Venus sesquisquare Natal Sun

From June 22, 2005 to June 24, 2005

A lovely day for love--and that includes you for you. Indulge yourself a bit--but not excessively, for extravagance may appeal. Be social. Give and receive compliments. Express your tender feelings for a special someone.

JUNE 24, 2005 Friday

Mercury sesquisquare Natal Sun

From June 23, 2005 to June 25, 2005

Busy, busy, busy. Lots of talk, phone jangles. Paper to shuffle. Errands to run. It may well be a test of your nervous energy! Ego needs could conflict. Make your point clearly, then let it be. Going on and on isn't necessary and could work against you.

Venus opposite Natal Venus

From June 24, 2005 to June 25, 2005

Most likely this day favors casual, pleasant sociability with others; perhaps sentimentality, nostalgia or sensuality with loved ones. Minor differences in approaches to manner of pleasure, finance could require balance.

Sun semisquare Natal Pluto

From June 23, 2005 to June 25, 2005

You could be confronted with a mini-crisis--anything from pressure from the boss to a machine that breaks, forcing you to stop and fix it. Or this could be a focal day in an ongoing intense issue reflected by your long-term transits. Whatever, consider it a test of your ability to handle what needs to be done. Do it without force or ego, and your inner strength will increase.

JUNE 25, 2005 Saturday

Mercury square Natal Moon

From June 25, 2005 to June 26, 2005

Is your mind racing today? Your thinking is more likely to be heavily influenced by your feelings, so examine which is which. This may be a day when you can more clearly express your feelings--or understand them. Could be the right time for that heart-to-heart talk--just so long as you LISTEN to and respect the other person's feelings, too.

Venus square Natal Moon

From June 24, 2005 to June 26, 2005

Feelings of love and affection are strong. Express them! So be amorous, be nurturing, be protective. But do NOT be possessive or smothering! Good for sociability, but watch tendency to overindulge.

Mercury opposite Natal Venus

From June 24, 2005 to June 26, 2005

If you've been needing to have a good talk with someone you love, this is a day for it. You may not agree, and will need to compromise, but your ability to express yourself is better than usual. This can also apply to that letter you've been procrastinating about writing. Social occasions are enjoyable.

Sun conjunct Natal Uranus

From June 24, 2005 to June 26, 2005

This day goes best if you expect the unexpected. You are likely to feel restless, and more in need of freedom than usual. If you try to repress that energy, it's even more likely that your carefully made plans are likely to be changed or your established routine broken. Repression could even cause you to "trip over your feet" or lose your patience in irritation with some innocent soul. Best way to use the energy: do something different or unusual. Who knows? Maybe the untried will be stimulating. Life offers surprises today--accept them! You may discover something new about yourself that will prove to be very valuable.

JUNE 28, 2005 Tuesday _____

Mercury sesquiquare Natal Mercury

From June 27, 2005 to June 28, 2005

Communication issues dominate today--and some of them could seem in conflict with your own views. Conversations, dialogues, debates, business matters and errands all could be more evident than usual. If you feel restless, don't give in to nervous tension. Take a short trip, visit a friend who likes to talk, or travel through books, to learn anything new that you may be curious about. Your mind works more quickly than usual.

Venus sesquiquare Natal Mercury

From June 27, 2005 to June 28, 2005

If you've had tension in a close relationship, this would be a good day to talk things over agreeably. Mental activity will be enjoyable or seem easier now. Communication or travel matters go smoothly, comfortably.

Mercury opposite Natal Jupiter

From June 27, 2005 to June 29, 2005

Your ability to think quickly is an asset, and today good ideas are more than likely. Business matters are favored, as is travel. Though you could be inclined to relax--and that could be OK--know that today you can put your communications skills to work for your advantage.

Venus opposite Natal Jupiter

From June 27, 2005 to June 29, 2005

A day for pleasure. Impetus to overdo, so watch extravagance--but with that small caveat, this is a time to enjoy. Plan a social activity, a little trip, a gift, an art activity. Or perhaps an idealistic or philosophical pursuit will bring joy and satisfaction.

JUNE 30, 2005 Thursday _____

Mercury semisquare Natal Saturn

From June 30, 2005 to July 1, 2005

You are not likely to feel in a playful mood today, but your ability for concentrated mental discipline is excellent. If there's a matter that calls for serious analysis, this is a time for it. Yet beware of being too hard on yourself or too critical of others.
