The diamonds on the map represent cities

INTRODUCTION

Astrolocality Maps are a method for quickly assessing certain features of your horoscope if you are considering a visit or move to anywhere in the world other than your birthplace. Because your horoscope changes when you change residence, certain planets will be in higher focus than others in different parts of the world. "Focus" in a horoscope is determined in this instance by planets conjuncting (or forming other aspects to) the four angles (Ascendant, Midheaven, Descendant and IC) of the horoscope.

Each of these angles is associated with certain general areas in your life. Following are some key words for the four angles.

Ascendant: self-expression, identity, appearance, personal action, natural drive, sense of self, physical energy and assertion.

Midheaven: career, status, drive for power, worldly ambitions, contribution to society, public life, authority figures and reputation.

Descendant: partners, other people, close associates, qualities you face in relationships, desire for balance and harmony, aesthetic instincts.

IC: home, family, nurturing figures, dependency needs, domestic environment, caretaking instincts, compassion, emotional base.

If you ordered the "work" interpretation, this report will interpret planets aspecting your Midheaven in Astrolocality. If you ordered the "self" interpretation, this report will analyze the planets aspecting your ASCENDANT in Astrolocality. If you ordered the "home" interpretation, this report will discuss planets aspecting your IC in Astrolocality, while "relationship" interpretations look at planets aspecting the DESCENDANT.

In addition, this report lists any major cities which are near a line of planetary focus. (A planetary focus can be seen as radiating out from that planet's line on the Astrolocality Map. Thus, it is not limited to only one city, but will encompass an area running around 75 miles on each side of the planetary line.)

Your natal chart is very important. If you put a planet in high focus which has many tension aspects in your natal horoscope, you are likely to face challenges and have to work to integrate the themes and issues of that planet (but may build strong mental, emotional and spiritual muscles in that regard). If, on the other hand, you put a planet in high focus which has many harmony aspects in your horoscope, you are likely to find matters flowing more smoothly (but could sometimes overdo or be excessive). Thus, this report will also note if any of the planets connected to your focus area of choice are VERY harmoniously or VERY challengingly configured in your natal (birth) horoscope.

Remember that there is no such thing as a "perfect" or "ideal" horoscope. Every horoscope has a mixture of positive and negative (or easy and challenging) patterns. And, tension is a part of life. If we had no friction, we wouldn't grow and develop! So, in questions of relocation, you are dealing with issues of priority. You must decide what is most important to you. (You have done so in this report by ordering a focus on love, work, self, or home.) And, you must decide where you want more harmony, and where you are willing to work with some challenges. (The planetary aspects will help reveal that.)

An Astrolocality Map is used primarily for an overview, however, to gain a sense of areas which might be of interest to you. If you are seriously considering a move, you should look at your actual Relocation Chart (your whole horoscope) for the city to which you are considering relocating. It will give you more detail about the strengths and weaknesses of your horoscope in that location.

The Sun is conjunct the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Kabul, Afghanistan; Hyderabad, Pakistan; Karachi, Pakistan.

Your self-esteem is tied to your sense of authority and your handling of reality and responsibilities here. You may take pride in (or be ashamed of) your authority, power role or practicality. You will feel most energized when in charge, authoritative, realistic and sensible.

You can be a highly creative leader. You may take risks in your dealing with authority figures. You could get involved with charismatic (or egotistical) bosses or be a dynamic, magnetic leader yourself. Love and playfulness may bring you authority (or you may try to dominate loved ones). You can play with power (be fun-loving as an authority).

Your career aspirations are mixed with your self-esteem. You may be proud (or ashamed of) your career, but feel revitalized when shining through your work. Your inner child (playful, fun-loving spirit) can advance your career aspirations.

Creative careers are appropriate in this area. You need to be a star on the job and to get excitement in your work. You can turn work into play, or work in fields of recreation. You may be willing to speculate in or for your career and will take risks in developing your expertise.

Your status affects your self-esteem. You want to be proud of your place in society and will feel most vital and alive when in a high position.

The Sun is square the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Nouakchott, Mauritania; Banjul, Gambia.

Authorities may challenge your need to shine, or may clash with you in regard to recognition, attention or issues of control. Perhaps your status is at odds with your self-esteem or inner pride.

Your power drive might compete with your inner child. Work may clash with play. Your pride or need to be a star may challenge career aspirations. Love needs may compete with your ambitions. Your reality quotient could vie with your speculative side and you might feel torn between safety and risk-taking instincts.

It may seem difficult to meet both your creative needs and career ambitions. Perhaps vocational success seems "dull" and you find it difficult to direct your life force toward realism. You could experience a "forced choice" between excitement and career drives.

Your reality quotient may feel incompatible with your inner child (your desire to laugh, to play, to take chances and be spontaneous). It might seem difficult to satisfy your pride and your practicality. It may be challenging to satisfy both your desire for lasting, tangible results and your risk-taking instincts. It may take effort to satisfy both your love needs and your work drives.

The Sun is sextile the Midheaven.

Power feeds your self-esteem here. You feel most energized when in charge. Leaders or authority figures may assist you in career advancement. Your willingness to risk can help you to gain status. Your creativity augments your authority. Your dynamism, star quality and pride can reinforce your power drive and add to your success.

Your inner child harmonizes with your vocational aspirations. Your worldly aspirations harmonize with your fun-loving spirit; you know when to work and when to play. Your drive for excitement may enhance your vocational accomplishments. Loved ones can assist your career development.

Your status may be fed by your need to shine. Your reality quotient harmonizes with your speculative side and risk-taking. You can meld competence and confidence here.

The Moon is conjunct the Midheaven.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You may find security in being an authority here, or in having power and status, yet you can feel vulnerable as an authority. (This position can denote the Earth Mother--or the professional baby.) You might take care of others as a way of taking charge. You may be receptive to authority figures or find safety in power. You may be emotional in your focus on reality, or realistic about feelings. You could seek security through being grounded and pragmatic. You probably feel safest with the known, the habitual, the familiar.

You want to nurture responsibly. You can be a practical caretaker. You may make a career out of nurturing or be a "mother of the world" type in your profession. You can be sensible about dependency needs, yet could feel torn between home and career demands. Your profession could involve women, the home, land, commodities, emotions, food, shelter clothing or basic security while in this area.

The Moon is sextile the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Porto-Novo, Benin; Niamey, Niger; Lome, Togo.

Your habit patterns may assist your career here. Your need for security could support your quest for authority. Your emotions may help you to handle your responsibilities. Your receptivity may enhance your authority.

You can comfortably combine compassion and pragmatism. You can be caring as well as capable, integrating strength and gentleness. Your caretaking instincts may aid your career, or nurturing figures could contribute to your status.

Family and professional matters may enhance each other. You can harmonize emotional needs and realism, keeping family and career mutually supportive. Women, emotions, family or your home could contribute to your career. Your drive to nurture could harmonize with your vocational aspirations.

Your career ambitions may amplify your security needs. You may seek safety through power. You can be compassionate as well as competent and your caring instincts could enhance your contribution to society. Women, emotional matters, food, shelter, clothing, or basic commodities could contribute to your material success. Your emotional warmth may be a factor in your achievements.

Mercury is conjunct the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Kabul, Afghanistan; Hyderabad, Pakistan.

You may seek authority through communication, in your communications. Your ambitions could center around your mind and/or tongue. Listening or talking could become power issues in this area. You can be authoritatively logical (and logically authoritative). Your status may be tied to your capacity to learn. Thinking could be a form of power for you. You may be somewhat critical of your thinking or communicating abilities. You are likely to pursue concepts that are useful and applicable to the real world.

Your career aspirations may encompass listening, talking, or dexterity. Your vocation could involve information-gathering skills or communication. Your communications may center around professional or realistic matters. You can gather practical information. Relatives could be involved in your work. You need mental stimulation and variety in your work. (Job-hopping is possible if you are not in a field with enough change and intellectual challenges.) You can be adaptable and flexible in your career and in your perceptions of reality. Commerce, business, media, paperwork or the mind will be central to your vocation.

Mercury is square the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Bissau, Guinea-Bissau; Nouakchott, Mauritania.

Authorities may clash with your thinking and/or communicating. Your perceptiveness or awareness may bother authorities. Media clashes or power plays around information may affect your work. Logic may not offer your best route to success. Youthful attitudes may clash with older, experienced approaches. Maintaining objectivity regarding your own authority (or toward authority figures) may be a challenge.

Your practical/serious side may compete with your lighthearted side. Your career aspirations may clash with your social needs or desire for variety. Your capacity to be flippant may not blend with your ambitions. Vocational aspirations may seem at odds with informal learning and exploration. You may feel torn between adaptability and flexibility versus structure. Casual curiosity may seem incompatible with your serious, dedicated desire for success, as knowledge-seeking could pull you away from professional demands. Mental restlessness could challenge your drive to accomplish something tangible. (You may get bored easily with your duties.) Learning through observation may seem to clash with learning through experience; both are essential.

Your critical/realistic side might inhibit your urge to communicate. Your need to control could compete with your adaptability and flexibility. Relatives might clash with your career drives or status needs. You or a relative might choose to pursue power rather than using logic or rationality.

Power issues may affect commercial transactions. Transportation snafus could affect your career. Paperwork may seem an impediment to your professional aspirations. You are learning to integrate lighthearted detachment and serious pragmatism, to achieve while continuing to expand your base of knowledge.

Mercury is sextile the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Walvis Bay, South Africa; Lobito, Angola; Matadi, Zaire; Luanda, Angola; Maiduguri, Nigeria.

Social contacts could contribute to your professional success. Your career aspirations can be aided by your communication skills. Your information-gathering skills will aid your ability to take charge. Your adaptability and flexibility can enhance your career. Relatives might assist your career ambitions. Your willingness to learn aids and abets your vocational advances.

You can be objective about power issues. Dexterity/listening/talking may enhance your status. Your vocational ambitions can be furthered through logical reasoning. The media, business or finger dexterity could enhance your career. You can learn from experience as well as vicariously. Authority figures may assist your learning. Your status can be enhanced through objectivity, openness and learning.

Your mind can make a contribution to society here. Your capacity to learn may augment your authority. Your drive for power may reinforce your perceptiveness, encouraging your use of logic and mental skills. Your skill at comparing and contrasting may enhance your dealings with authority. Your thinking and mental skills can raise your status.

Venus is square the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Porto-Novo, Benin; Niamey, Niger; Lome, Togo.

Having authority yourself or your relationships with authority figures may compete with your drive for pleasure, comfort, or ease. Perhaps hard work is at odds with relaxation. You may feel your ambitions do not leave time for pleasure-seeking, or be too comfortable and laid-back to drive for the top.

Reality demands may conflict with your need for tangible beauty, or with your financial prospects, or with your desire for pleasure. Status needs could clash with being sweet and affectionate. Women may challenge you vocationally. Practical matters may compete with sensual indulgences. Your partner (or desire for love) may compete with your ambitions.

Authorities may clash with your beauty needs. Your power drives may seem incompatible with courtesy, affection or relationships. Power and pleasure may seem incompatible. Duties may clash with pleasures. Reality may seem at odds with kindness and gentleness. Financial strains and adjustments may be necessary in your career. You are learning to integrate love and work, ease and effort, acceptance and achievement.

Venus is sextile the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Al-ubayyid, Sudan; Kigali, Rwanda; Alexandria, Egypt; Bujumbura, Burundi; Umtata, Transkei.

Your desire for pleasure may contribute to your achievement of ambitions. Beauty skills may assist your vocational aspirations. Women could contribute to your career efforts or status. Your sensuality or pleasure-seeking might further your career. Material goods and resources may support your career efforts. Authorities may assist you financially. Sweetness can enhance your authority or increase your status.

Your career aspirations may contribute to your comfort or ease. You can be realistic in regard to pleasure-seeking, but are apt to seek tangible measurements of success (material goodies). You can be practical about money. Your desire for comfort could contribute to your realism, although you may sometimes prefer being laid-back to laboring.

Authority or authority figures could feed your drive for pleasure. Your desire for stability/predictability may strengthen your drive for power. You may enjoy high status or seek the "good things" of life. Talent for tangible beauty could raise your status. Good financial prospects are possible in your career. Partners might assist your career or contribute to your position in society.

Mars is conjunct the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Mecca, Saudi Arabia; Mombasa, Kenya; Medina, Saudi Arabia; Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania; Asmera, Ethiopia.

You can assert your authority directly and forthrightly, and probably feel a drive for power here. You may confront or anger authorities. You are apt to be ambitious in this area and may be impatient with regard to power issues. You will tend to express yourself where issues of responsibility and reality-testing are concerned. You instinctively seek status.

You need a career where you can do your own thing (be on your own). You can be extremely energetic on the job, but may be impatient of limits. You could work with weapons, force, the military, the outdoors or anything requiring independence of action, pioneering spirit or physical activity.

You can be instinctively realistic and practical here, but are working on the blend between self-will and societal duties and demands. One extreme is feeling blocked, inhibited, afraid to try for fear of frustration or not measuring up. The other extreme is trying to take everything on your shoulders, pushing the world around, believing you have a right to whatever you want. A happy medium is assertive accomplishment, where you confidently seek what you want within the "rules of the game" (the physical and social boundaries of the world). You are capable of achieving a great deal in this area.

Mars is sextile the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Nouakchott, Mauritania; Banjul, Gambia.

Having authority or your relationships with authority figures may feed your self-assertion and expression. Your spontaneous instincts incline toward power and authority. Assertion may further your career, and independence could be a vocational asset. Your immediate impulses may enhance your status. Men may contribute to your career. Your courage and pioneering spirit can make a contribution to the world.

You can blend spontaneity and control. You can balance speed and caution. You can get along with authority figures and the rules of the game. You know how to balance immediate impulses and planned responsibilities. You know how to get what you want within the rules of the game (of life).

You will be most satisfied when putting something of yourself into your work. You can be highly motivated to achieve if you are able to do your own thing vocationally.

Jupiter is conjunct the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Agra, India; Bangalore, India; Delhi, India.

You can be quite authoritative about ideals, goals and ethics. Authorities may influence your philosophy, religion or world view. You may place your faith in authority (power), or idealize status, control or expertise. You will have an instinct for making the most of your opportunities in this area.

You might pursue the truth professionally. You can be quite optimistic in your career goals, and may seek expanded horizons. Your contribution to the world may involve beliefs, values, ethics or principles. Your vocational could include education, philosophy, publishing, the law, travel, foreign cultures or anything mind-expanding or on a LARGE scale.

You might seek the perfect job (and be a job-hopper, hoping the next one will be ideal), try to do your work perfectly (never making a mistake), work to make a more ideal world, or believe in the work ethic. You are learning to balance the real and the ideal and optimism and pessimism. The challenge is neither to expect the impossible, nor to give up too soon on your dreams. Breaking your aspirations into smaller steps will help you to actualize your visions in a practical form.

Jupiter is square the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Casablanca, Morocco; Marrakech, Morocco; Bamako, Mali.

Authorities may conflict with you over ideals and goals. You (or power figures) may expect more than is possible of yourself, of a job, or of how you perform as a worker. The establishment may be at odds with your philosophy, religion or world view. You may need to integrate optimism and pessimism; faith could clash with fear in your life.

Moral or ethical issues may challenge your career aspirations or worldly ambitions. Expectations may clash with reality. Beware of seeking the "perfect" job or demanding that you always do your work flawlessly. Faith (too much or too little) could affect your professional achievement. Your drive for expanded horizons may compete with essential duties. Truth-seeking may seem to take you away from vocational achievements (or vice versa).

Your beliefs and values may clash with your status ambitions. Your power drives may seem at odds with your philosophy/religion. Status needs may challenge your faith. You may be afraid to dream, or fly too high in your visions. Real world limits may feel at odds with your hopes and schemes. You are learning to bring together hopes and aspirations with the real world, to take practical steps toward a larger dream.

Jupiter is sextile the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Banghazi, Libya.

Authorities may support your ideals and goals. You may agree with power figures in regard to morality, beliefs and principles. Authorities may support your world view. You may experience "lucky breaks" by instinctively taking advantages of opportunities.

Your beliefs and values may further your career. Your quest for the truth could be a professional asset. Your philosophy, religion, or education could contribute to your vocation. Faith and optimism may enhance your career aspirations. Your searching and seeking can contribute to your professional accomplishments. You may expect a lot from your job, yourself as a worker or the concept of achievement.

Your faith and optimism may contribute to your status. Your enlarged perspective may enhance your societal position. A willingness to risk could raise your status, although you may sometimes overreach--seeking more than is possible. Seeking the best and the highest can contribute to your reputation and place in the world. Optimism and a willingness to explore may raise your status.

A drive for power may fuel your seeking, exploring side. Your sense of power and/or competence may be fed by your ideals, goals and faith. You can blend optimism and pessimism. Your ideals and goals are likely to be in harmony with reality. Your aspirations tend to harmonize with the demands of the real world. You can be idealistic and realistic, envisioning and also manifesting. Your practicality feeds your faith (and vice versa). In its highest form, you can make dreams into reality.

Saturn is opposite the Midheaven.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

This suggests meeting reality rather than nurturing. You are likely to rework old, familial (and familiar) issues about competence, support, and responsibility that go back to your family's attitudes when you were young. The emotional tone is very serious and cautious here. Emotional and physical security are important. You may hold back emotionally for fear of not getting the support you feel you need. This combination emphasizes a parenting theme and it is essential for you to be able to BE taken care of as well as caring for others (taking turns nurturing and being nurtured).

Your emotional foundation and sense of adequacy are tied to a career or position in the community. Your professional role may affect your family situation (or you could work from your home, in a family business, with real estate, the land, the public, nurturing, etc.). You might feel pulled in two different career directions, or be unsure what profession you are willing to settle into. Perhaps you are ambivalent about taking an executive role or feel at odds with authorities. You might overdo or underdo your desire to solidify gains. Time management and responsibility (taking on too much or too little) could be career challenges. You may swing between too much and too little effort until you learn to balance.

You are apt to be very responsible toward family members now and may sometimes carry more than your share of the load. Your challenge is to balance work and home, dominance and dependency, compassion and realism, protecting and being protected.

Saturn is square the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Ouagadougou, Burkina Faso; Kumasi, Ghana; Sekondi-Takoradi, Ghana.

You may clash with authorities over issues of control or discipline here. Disagreements about responsibilities could affect your career. Power figures may seem to block or frustrate you, until you achieve a sense of your own strength and abilities. Doubting or self-critical instincts could affect your vocational life. The wisdom of experience is not always appropriate in your work; sometimes you need to go in a different direction. You need to work at being practical about career demands--neither taking on more than your fair share, nor giving up and not trying. You could feel ambivalent about your level of commitment in your work.

Over or underdoing sensible limits could affect your status ambitions. Too much or too little effort may threaten your worldly attainments. Your desire for safety and solidity may be at odds with your vocational needs. Your status ambitions may be challenged by practical demands and duties.

You could feel ambivalent about status needs or power drives. You may be unsure how much you want to seek safety, solidity, power, control or authority. You are learning to do what you can, avoiding the extremes of overdrive (carrying the world on your back) and self-blocking (afraid to try, convinced you'll be blocked or fail anyway). Tangible results feed your sense of success and capacity to do more.

Saturn is trine the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Welkom, South Africa; Serowe, Botswana; Klerksdorp, South Africa; Bloemfontein, South Africa; Gaborone, Botswana; Port Elizabeth, South Africa; Lobatse, Botswana.

Your sense of responsibility can contribute to your career. Your practicality can be a vocational asset. Your willingness to learn through doing may assist your career. Your executive instincts may further your work accomplishments. Your discipline and willingness to work assist your career development. Your ability to understand essential limits can contribute to your work. Authorities may assist your vocational ambitions. You can plan well to work your way to the top.

Your pragmatism may help you in your status ambitions. Your sense of responsibility can help you gain power and control in the world. Your power drive can contribute to your worldly attainments. You have a good sense of when to consolidate your gains. You learn well through apprenticeship and experience. You appreciate tangible results and focus on accomplishment. You are more sensible, grounded, dedicated and dutiful in this area. You work well in systems, structures and orderly situations.

Uranus is conjunct the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Antananarivo, Madagascar; Riyadh, Saudi Arabia; Mahajanga, Madagascar; Mogadishu, Somalia; Aden, Yemen; Hargeysa, Somalia.

You need a career that is individualistic in this area. You are apt to seek variety in your work and function best under conditions of freedom and openness. (If these are lacking, you may change jobs are lot--quitting or getting fired.) You may be drawn to a humanitarian or new age profession. Your work could involve a future orientation or new technology/ideas. Either the field you work in, your hours, your setting, your boss or other circumstances should be unusual, different or unique. Nonstandard vocational situations have more appeal to you here.

Authorities with whom you deal may seem eccentric or erratic. You can be unconventional in your approach to the outer world and societal rules and regulations. You might be detached or objective about your responsibilities. Your status may be different or unusual in some way. For you, in this place, power lies in freedom and independence.

Uranus is sextile the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Monrovia, Liberia.

Your individuality may assist your work. The future and "cutting edge" could contribute to you professionally. Your inventiveness could be a career asset. An open mind facilitates your practical achievements. The unexpected, technology, groups, astrology, or the unusual could contribute to your professional accomplishments. Your objectivity and detachment can further you vocationally. Your work might contribute to humanitarian or new age causes and/or principles. Your feel for the future may enhance your vocational opportunities.

Your need for freedom can fuel your status ambitions. Your willingness to be different may help you deal with duties and responsibilities. Humanitarian instincts might enhance your worldly accomplishments.

Authorities may reinforce your originality and new perspectives. Your inventiveness may aid relationships with authorities. You can be objective and detached about your career and status. You can bring together the old and the new for best results. You can blend conventionality and unconventionality, knowing when to follow the rules and when to break them. You can integrate openness and structure, stability and change.

Neptune is square the Midheaven.

Your power drive may compete with your urge to merge, to unite, to be One with All. Your imaginative, dreamy side may clash with authorities. You might be at odds with the power structure over issues of faith, trust, or visions. A lack of clarity (due to wanting to only see the best, or looking for easy answers) could affect relationships with power figures or your own handling of power.

Rose-colored glasses or escapism could challenge your vocational accomplishments. Your imagination may be at odds with practical, worldly demands. Your quest for infinite love and beauty may pull you away from achievement (or vice versa). Savior/victim entanglements (including deception) could affect your career or status until you have a constructive channel for your need to save, to succor, to rescue (or be rescued).

Your status needs may clash with your quest for perfect love and harmony. Status demands do not easily combine with your imaginative, romantic images. Your dreamy side may compete with your need to achieve (and vice versa).

Idealism could war with realism in your life. Spirituality could war with materialism within you. Compassion could clash with pragmatism and the bottom line. You could be torn between taking charge and going with the flow. You may feel torn between merging/unifying versus setting clear limits. Your intuition may sometimes be at odds with practicalities. You are learning to visualize the best and take sensible steps toward manifesting your dreams without selling short your potentials and also without demanding inhuman perfection. Your goal is practical mysticism, realistic idealism or grounded beauty.

Neptune is trine the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Amman, Jordan; Beirut, Lebanon; Jerusalem, Israel; Blantyre, Malawi; Beira, Mozambique; Tel Aviv, Israel; Mwanza, Tanzania; Khartoum, Sudan; Kampala, Uganda; Port Said, Egypt.

You are likely to exhibit an intense drive for power, and being in control (of self and/or others) may be very important here. Your forceful, competitive side could be constructively channeled into business, law enforcement, the military, sports, games, politics or professions involving physical manipulation (e.g., chiropractic, massage). If you are uncomfortable with your power-oriented side (often because a parent abused power), you may unconsciously attract authorities who are dominating, manipulative and dictatorial--until you reclaim your own power, mastery, and control in constructive uses.

You are capable of tremendous self-discipline and self-control and might limit your sensuality to gain a sense of self-mastery. You can be practical about sensual and sexual needs. You are working on the challenge of having enough control without too much. Addictions, excessive self-denial, or letting go might be difficult for you until you achieve a balance between self-indulgence and self-control.

You may be drawn to careers involving shared finances or resources and could get involved in business partnerships. You have more organizational skills and a talent for the financial world in this area. Your career ambitions may include a probing, investigative approach.

Pluto is sextile the Midheaven.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Your intensity may assist your career ambitions. Your organizational skills could aid your professional development. You could have excellent abilities in the business world and in research. Mates or partners may further your work in the world. Your self-discipline and self-control can be vocational assets. You may have an instinct for nuances, shades of meaning, and nonverbal cues. You could be a skilled negotiator and bargainer (perhaps even to the point of manipulation or emotional blackmail). You may have talent for working with money and investments.

Your probing instincts could enhance your authority and power. Authorities may feed your confrontational skills, although you are likely to have a natural desire for power. Mentors may encourage you to dig beneath the surface. Your intuitive grasp of people's motives could help you to achieve a position of power, authority or competence.

You want to build things to LAST here. You tend to have good endurance and followthrough, coping well in difficult situations. You can be more thorough, purposeful, organized and loyal here. Your practicality can enhance your dealing with shared resources and pleasures in this region.

Chiron is opposite the Midheaven.

You may place a high value on home and family, yet simultaneously have the urge to leave home periodically for far horizons. You could take trips regularly, live on the road, have a communal household with many different people coming and going, or live in a foreign country. Mental stimulation, unusual people or provocative discussions may be important to you. It could be a challenge to fit your beliefs and principles into society's demands.

The urge to go beyond known boundaries may pull you away from conventional success, or your desire to take risks could separate you from authorities and positions of authority. It may seem difficult to get enough variety and mental challenges at work. Your idealistic visions may seem to work better in the home than in the vocational world; the challenge is to integrate your aspirations in both arenas.

Chiron is trine the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Bissau, Guinea-Bissau.

Your willingness to take risks can enlarge your career success here. An attraction to far horizons could enrich your work. You may sometimes want more than is possible from your job, yourself as a worker or the work ethic. Your urge to know more may expand your power base in this region. Your quest for truth and meaning may augment your sense of authority. Your intellectual openness could enhance your status.

Mentors may assist your ability to seek spiritual, metaphysical, religious answers. Further training and/or education is likely to add to your success in this area. Your high standards and quest for the best can increase your achievements. You have the capacity to blend idealism and realism; visions and pragmatism.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Herat, Afghanistan.

You are learning to balance caring and hard-nosed realism in this region. You might swing from being supernurturing to ultrapragmatic. A parenting archetype is highlighted; you might tend to play the caretaking role constantly, or seek someone to look after and parent you. You might work out of your home, make your home your vocation, bounce between family and career demands, or work in a family business. Your security lies in being efficient and productive; you can be quite practical and helpful.

You may allow a need to serve to overwhelm your good sense. You could do too much for others, especially if you succumb to the feeling that no one else will do things as well as you do. (The opposite extreme is seeking someone to be totally supportive of you.) With a probable talent for repairs, improvements and fixing things up, a focus on health and healing might be quite important in your home (and in your life). You can be quite organized and thorough.

Ceres is square the Midheaven.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You may feel that family needs compete with vocational demands. You might fall into the "indispensability trap," overworked and underpaid. Colleagues may clash with you over standards and the "proper" course. Your desire to have things RIGHT (just so) may create clashes on the job. Your common sense may not be appreciated by authorities. Nurturing figures may seem unsupportive of your ambitions. You want to do things well (perhaps too well on occasion).

A dearth or excess of practicality could be a challenge. You may feel torn between being a taskmaster and a nurturer. Career demands might affect your health. You may have to learn when to delegate and when to handle details yourself. You may feel torn between humble service versus executive power. You are learning to do enough (but not too much) and to balance emotional concerns with real-world duties and demands.

Ceres is trine the Midheaven.

Your willingness to work hard can be a vocational asset. Your family might assist your career. A feelings for plants, protection, nurturance or sustenance could contribute to your work. You can be of service through your work. Your concern for accuracy can enhance your accomplishments. Your good craftsmanship and determination to do things RIGHT are vocational aids. You probably have skills at organization. You are likely to be responsible and a good worker. You can be sensible about vocational planning in this area.

A mentoring figure might enhance your career. You can get along well with colleagues. You are probably practical and realistic, yet have a good balance between caring and common sense.

Pallas is opposite the Midheaven.

You are learning to balance love and work needs. You might feel that emotional commitments compete with your career aspirations (or vice versa). You are learning to integrate equalitarian instincts and executive drives. You may feel torn between the role of peer and the role of parent. You need a sense of partnership with family members. Emotional commitments are particularly important for you now. Sometimes authorities or your own power needs may seem incompatible with justice. You seek balance and fair play for anyone within your circle of caring.

You are also working on the integration of hard work and relaxation, of theory and practice. You may compare, contrast, and weigh alternatives a lot in your home life. You might be quite artistic in your domestic environment, but could feel that aesthetic activities pull you away from worldly success. You are likely to seek grace, equality and evenhandedness in your home and may value emotional connections over vocational attainments.

Pallas is trine the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Mashhad, Iran.

You know when to be an equal and when to take charge. Partners may contribute to your work. Authorities may help you to share resources and/or finances. You know when to be sensible and when to deal with intense emotions. Your intimacy instincts can help you be successful in the working world. Joint financial involvements may help you to be more practical. You can balance love needs and work duties.

Vesta is conjunct the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Kabul, Afghanistan; Hyderabad, Pakistan; Karachi, Pakistan.

You have the capacity for single-minded focus on success, but could also succumb to tunnel vision, sacrificing too much for desired end results. This area highlights responsibility, hard work, and a desire for tangible results from what you do.

Your career might involve health or healing. You could have skills in science, business or any detail-oriented work. You may have organizational abilities. You can be more efficient, productive and practical here. You could fall into nitpicking or supercritical tendencies as you are oriented to fix, repair, and improve situations and people. You may do more than your share on the job, feeling you "need" to work, or not trusting others to do things correctly or well enough.

Your health is closely connected to your work here. If you feel like a good craftsman, taking pride in what you do and how you do it, you are likely to be healthy. If you are frustrated by your work, or feel you cannot do a good enough job, the stress is likely to affect your health. It is imperative that you feel you can make a useful contribution to the world. You will be healthiest when feeling productive.

Vesta is square the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Dakar, Senegal.

Colleagues or authorities may clash with you over standards at work and the "proper" course. Tunnel vision might sometimes block your success. Practicality (too much or too little) could be an issue on the job. Your desire to have things RIGHT may create clashes on the job. You might overwork (even workaholic tendencies) or try to avoid labor completely; seek a balance. You want to do things well (perhaps too well on occasion).

Criticism or nitpicking could inhibit your accomplishments. You may feel torn between delegating and doing things yourself. Career demands might affect your health. Authorities may disagree with what you see as common sense. You could succumb to feeling indispensable and end up overworked. You may feel torn between humble service versus executive power. Your desire to improve and/or repair might be over (or under-) done. You are learning to be efficient (without trying to be indispensable), to be helpful (without carrying the whole load), and to improve without succumbing to excessive criticism or judgment. You can be quite sensible and dedicated.

Vesta is sextile the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city:
Yaounde, Cameroon.

Your willingness to work hard is a vocational asset. Your single-minded focus helps you to do things RIGHT. Careful analysis and discriminating judgment can aid you vocationally. You may be of service through your work and could have a feeling for health fields or anything which fixes, repairs or enhances things or people. Your concern for accuracy enhances your accomplishments. Your flaw-finding instincts may assist you in your work, as long as you do not go to extremes of criticizing yourself or others. You are likely to be responsible and efficient. You are probably a good organizer with analytical skills contributing to your success. You can be sensible about vocational planning or breaking any process into bite-sized steps.

Common sense is one of your likely strengths in this area. If you take on too much professionally, your health might suffer. It is important to pace yourself; by taking good care of yourself, you can accomplish more. Your ethic of craftsmanship (drive to do things RIGHT) is a vocational aid. You take great satisfaction in achieving tangible, measurable results.

The Sun is opposite the IC.

Your self-esteem is tied to your sense of authority and your handling of reality and responsibilities here. You may take pride in (or be ashamed of) your authority, power role or practicality. You will feel most energized when in charge, authoritative, realistic and sensible. Your need to shine may pull you away from domestic duties. You may feel "buried" in the home with a strong urge to get out and be noticed in the world. Although love is important, you want recognition or the opportunity to be creative in this area.

Your sense of drama, magnetism and charisma is highlighted here, but you may find it challenging to get the kind of excitement you desire within the family environment. You may be tempted to try to dominate loved ones, or sway them with your dynamism and flair. You can play with power (be fun-loving as an authority), and are working on the balance between frolic and focused effort. You may also feel torn between security drives and your desire to take risks for a greater gain.

You are more sensitive to your status. You want to be proud of your place in society and look to your family to support your ambitions. Mutual encouragement among family members is particularly vital here. You need to be convinced you are behind one another 100%. With loving praise and encouragement, you can help each other achieve greater heights.

The Sun is square the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Nouakchott, Mauritania; Banjul, Gambia.

Your family obligations may conflict with your self-esteem. Nurturing figures may challenge your need to shine. Perhaps you feel parents or your role as a parent block your capacity to play. Your domestic duties may compete with your inner child. Your dependency relationships may conflict with your creativity. Your nurturing needs may challenge your drive for excitement. Your caretaking instincts may compete with your need for recreation until you create space in your life for both. Your desire for safety may vie with your speculative, risk-taking side. Choose the times each is more appropriate. You may feel ambivalent about putting a lot of energy into family matters. Your pride or need to be a star may interfere with domestic duties. Your power drives may clash with your urge to support and protect. You are learning to make sure you are appreciated and appreciative within the family matrix.

The Sun is trine the IC.

Your family may encourage and enhance your self-esteem. Family feelings may be strong and family members mutually encouraging. Your supportive qualities may augment your authority. Your willingness to provide assistance may bring you positive attention. If female, your husband may be helpful around the house. Your inner child helps you to understand your family. Your fun-loving spirit can be an asset within the family matrix. Playful activities with any children are likely to be enjoyable. Creativity assists your relationships with kinfolk. Your roots or background might contribute to your pride. Nurturing figures could encourage your zest and enthusiasm for life. Warmth, love and strong family connections are possible.

The Moon is opposite the IC.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You may find security in being an authority here, or in having power and status, yet you can feel vulnerable as an authority. (This position can denote the tendency to nurture everyone, to try to take care of everyone around you--or tremendous dependency needs.) You might take care of others as a way of taking charge. You may be receptive to authority figures or find safety in power. You are likely to be emotional in your focus on reality, or realistic about feelings. You could seek security through being grounded and pragmatic. You probably feel safest with the known, the habitual, the familiar.

You want to nurture responsibly. You can be a practical caretaker. You may make a career out of nurturing or be a "mother of the world" type in your profession. You can be sensible about dependency needs, yet could feel torn between home and career demands. Your profession could involve women, the home, land, commodities, emotions, food, shelter clothing or basic security while in this area, or you might turn domestic duties into a career by making your family your vocational priority. Working out of the home is also possible. You need your home to be organized and sensible. It is important that efforts be equally shared by family members. It would be easy for one person to carry more than their fair share of the load. Develop a sense of teamwork within the family, where everyone is willing to pitch in, help out and be mutually supportive.

You will need to face reality about your home in this area. This can include being practical about your responsibilities to family members--neither taking on everything nor avoiding it. Common sense is in everybody's best interests. You may be sensitive to your family's impact on your status, become more interested in your roots, or become more aware of family traditions. You are learning to keep the best from the past in creating a better future.

The Moon is trine the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Porto-Novu, Benin; Niamey, Niger; Lome, Togo.

Your nurturing instincts are highlighted in this area. Caretaking instincts flow easily into expression. Your habit patterns may be helpful in your home. Your need for security may accentuate your protective instincts. Women, emotions or family contribute to your domestic satisfaction. Your roots may contribute to your sense of emotional adequacy and safety in the world. Your caretaking instincts could amplify your warmth and compassion. Your receptivity may assist nurturing figures. Your dependency/nurturance needs are met by your roots and family connections. Your caretaking instincts flow easily into your home. You may make a habit of protectiveness.

Nurturing figures could contribute to your sense of safety and encourage your caretaking instincts. Parental figures may reinforce your vulnerabilities, with family connections amplifying your dependency needs. You can keep family members mutually supportive. Your habit patterns can reinforce your caring and warmth.

Mercury is opposite the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Kabul, Afghanistan; Hyderabad, Pakistan.

You may seek authority through communication, in your communications. Your ambitions could center around your mind and/or tongue. Listening or talking could become power issues in this area. There may be an imbalance in your home between who listens and who talks; work for equality. Logic or objectivity may seem to separate you, at times, from family members. Don't put your feelings at odds with your mind, but do be willing to combine rationality and emotions. Perhaps you feel torn sometimes between saying something versus protecting someone's feelings. Sensitivity is important, but keep the channels of communication open with family members.

You can be authoritatively logical (and logically authoritative). Thinking could be a form of power for you and you might be somewhat critical in your thinking or communicating. (Don't judge those you love too harshly.) You need to learn, to share information, and to perceive widely in the world. Your restless mind may sometimes pull you away from domestic duties, but then you can bring back ideas, knowledge and fascinating concepts to share with family members.

Mercury is square the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Bissau, Guinea-Bissau; Nouakchott, Mauritania.

Nurturing figures think or communicate very differently from you. Your home aspirations could be challenged through communication issues. Perhaps there is an unequal division of listening and talking in your home. Perhaps your domestic duties clash with your social needs. Perhaps you feel torn between saying what you are thinking and protecting everyone's feelings by remaining silent. Your protective instincts could conflict with your logic and rationality. Your need to feel safe might compete with your adaptability/flexibility. Your family connections could be challenged by social or casual contacts. Clashes with relatives are possible (especially in terms of thinking, communicating or nurturing issues).

Your moody, cautious side may compete with your lighthearted side; keep room for both. Your nurturing instincts could clash with your casual and flippant side until you integrate them. Your security needs may compete with your desire for variety--your need to protect competing with your restless desire to learn more. Logic may conflict with emotional needs; perhaps you feel torn between thinking and feeling.

Your perceptiveness or awareness may bother family members or what you perceive may differ considerably from what other family members observe. Logic may not offer the best route to family connections. Learning and knowledge-seeking may pull you away from family. Transportation snafus could affect your home. Paperwork, commerce or media may seem an impediment to your family matrix. Keeping a balance between objectivity and warmth toward your family is the challenge.

Mercury is trine the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Walvis Bay, South Africa; Lobito, Angola; Matadi, Zaire; Luanda, Angola; Maiduguri, Nigeria.

Your nurturing instinct supports your urge to communicate. Social contacts could contribute to your home. Your family aspirations can be aided by your communication skills. Your information-gathering skills aid your caretaking. Your adaptability and flexibility can enhance your home. Your logic assists your parental relations. Your willingness to learn aids and abets your family connections. You can be objective about emotional ties. Your communicative abilities help you get along with family members. Dexterity/listening/talking may enhance your family ties. You can be realistic and logical about domestic issues. Your emotional foundation can be strengthened through objective thinking. The media, business or finger dexterity could enhance your home. Your mind can help you protect and look after others. Your family may encourage you to learn, study, teach and use your mind. Relatives might make a contribution to your home. Your protective instincts probably reinforce your seeking of knowledge. Your skill at comparing and contrasting may enhance your dealings with nurturing figures. Your perceptiveness and awareness of everything around you can contribute to your family connections. Your thinking and mental skills can strengthen your family ties. Your eagerness to learn will increase your degree of caring and warmth.

Venus is square the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities:

Porto-Novo, Benin; Niamey, Niger; Lome, Togo.

Nurturing instincts may conflict with sweetness. Women may challenge you domestically. Family demands may compete with being sweet and affectionate. Kinfolk may make financial demands upon you. Domestic duties may compete with your desire for pleasure. Family needs may compete with personal sensual indulgences. Nurturing figures may seem at odds with your urge for comfort or ease. Parents or parenting urges may clash with your beauty needs.

You may feel torn between your role as a parent and your role as a partner, or there may be tension between your partner and your parent. Women, indulgence, or the urge for ease could challenge your domestic satisfaction. Your protective instincts may seem incompatible with sweetness and affection. Financial strains and adjustments may be necessary in your home. Financial fluctuation is possible in your family. Predictability and stability may be a challenge to achieve in your home.

Venus is trine the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Al-ubayyid, Sudan; Kigali, Rwanda; Alexandria, Egypt; Bujumbura, Burundi; Umtata, Transkei.

Your urge for comfort or ease may support nurturing figures. You can be affectionate toward parental figures and be pleasant in the parental role yourself. Your family is likely to contribute to your pleasure in life; sweetness may pervade interactions with family members. Your nurturing instincts may aid a drive for stability or predictability. Parental figures may assist you financially (or vice versa). You are likely to seek security in terms of money. Your home (or land, real estate, women, the public) may contribute to your financial base.

Your desire for pleasure may enhance your home environment. Beauty skills may enhance your home. Your protective instincts may strengthen your sensuality. Women may assist you in establishing a home. Pleasure-seeking could contribute to your home. Material goods and resources may enhance your home efforts. You can be moody in regard to pleasure-seeking. You are likely to enjoy family connections and seek to create more beauty and grace through and in your home.

Mars is opposite the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Mecca, Saudi Arabia; Mombasa, Kenya; Medina, Saudi Arabia; Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania; Asmera, Ethiopia.

You can assert your authority directly and forthrightly, and probably feel a drive for power here. You may confront or anger authorities. You are apt to be ambitious in this area and may be impatient with regard to power issues. Irritation or temper could be an issue, especially with parents or with your own parenting instincts. Your need for action and self-assertion may pull you away from domestic duties and responsibilities. You have an urge to get "out of the house." You will tend to express yourself quite directly where issues of responsibility and reality-testing are concerned. You expect people to "take care of business."

You can be instinctively realistic and practical here, but are working on the blend between self-will, societal demands and domestic duties. One extreme is feeling blocked, frustrated or trapped by nurturing needs. You might feel inhibited, afraid to try for fear of frustration or not measuring up. The other extreme is trying to take everything on your shoulders, attempting to handle anything that comes up, or believing that you have a right to whatever you want. A happy medium is assertive accomplishment, where you confidently seek what you want within the "rules of the game" and balance your personal needs and desires with those of family members. Rather than feeling torn between independence and attachment, you allow both in your life. You form close emotional ties, but encourage freedom and individuality in those you love (and they in you).

Mars is trine the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Nouakchott, Mauritania; Banjul, Gambia.

Nurturing figures may feed your self-assertion and expression. Your spontaneous instincts incline toward taking care of others. Assertion may be an asset in your family matrix. Independence may be helpful with your family members. Your immediate impulses may enhance your connection to your roots. Self-expression aids your emotional connections. You can be yourself (meeting your own needs) and still relate well to parents and handle parenting duties yourself.

Men may contribute to your home. Owning your own power will enhance your home. Your energy and enthusiasm pour easily into family-centered activities. You can be quite confident about family needs, yet your independence aids your capacity to care for others. You can blend spontaneity and safety instincts. You can balance independence and attachments. You can get along with nurturing figures. Your courage, pioneering spirit and spontaneity enhance your family connections. Emotional attachments feed your self-expression and willingness to take action. Your nurturing quotient may reinforce your assertive instincts.

Jupiter is opposite the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Agra, India; Bangalore, India; Delhi, India.

You can be quite authoritative about ideals, goals and ethics. Authorities may influence your philosophy, religion or world view. You may place your faith in authority (power), or idealize status, control or expertise. You will have an instinct for making the most of your opportunities in this area. Your urge for expanded horizons may pull you away from home; you could feel torn between roots and adventure. You need space and openness within your family matrix.

You are learning to balance the ideal with the real, and optimism with pessimism. The challenge is neither to expect the impossible, nor to give up too soon on your dreams, especially where family and career are concerned. Reach for the best, but remember that everyone is human. Don't expect parenting figures to be perfect--nor demand too much of yourself as a parent. Breaking your goals into smaller steps can help you to actualize your visions in a practical form.

Jupiter is square the IC.

Nurturing figures may conflict with you over ideals and goals. Parents may be at odds with your philosophy or religion; moral or ethical issues may challenge your home environment. Expectations may clash with the reality of emotional needs. Faith (too much or too little) could affect your family relations. Your beliefs and values may clash with your family. Home duties may compete with your quest for meaning in life. Your drive for the truth may seem at odds with your need for roots and emotional ties. Family ties may feel at odds with your hopes, dreams or visions; your protective instincts may compete with your philosophy or religion until you create room for both. Family needs may challenge your faith.

Your drive for expanded horizons may feel at odds with your need for safety, or perhaps your domestic duties compete with your drive for expanded horizons (travel, searching, seeking). You may need to integrate optimism and caution. Faith could clash with fear until you build a firm sense of (enough but not too much) trust and confidence in family.

Jupiter is trine the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Banghazi, Libya.

Nurturing figures may support your ideals and goals. You and your parent(s) may agree in terms of morality, beliefs and principles. Your family may be in harmony with your world view. Your beliefs and values may enhance your home. Your faith and optimism may contribute to your family sharing. Your enlarged perspective may enhance your family ties. Your faith may advance your aspirations for your home or family. Your philosophy and religion could contribute to your roots. Your quest for the truth could be a family asset. A desire for emotional closeness may fuel your seeking, exploring side. Family members may encourage education, spiritual quests, or anything which seeks more understanding of life's meaning. Your roots offer a safe foundation from which to adventure, exploring the world and seeking the best.

You can blend optimism and caution. A willingness to risk can enhance your family connections. You are able to blend security and risk, safety and variety. Your ideals and goals may reinforce your nurturing spirit. Your philosophy or religion may feed your caretaking instincts. Faith and optimism may enhance your home. A drive for truth and meaning may contribute to your family. Your ideals and goals may feed a sense of protection. Your capacity to visualize the best and focus on the positive can aid good relations with family members. Optimism and a willingness to explore can enhance your family ties. Your caretaking quotient feeds your faith (and vice versa). Your searching and seeking can contribute to your family matrix.

Saturn is conjunct the IC.

This suggests meeting reality rather than nurturing. You are likely to rework old, familial (and familiar) issues about competence, support, and responsibility that go back to your family's attitudes when you were young.

The emotional tone is very serious and cautious here. Emotional and physical security are important. You may hold back emotionally for fear of not getting the support you feel you need. This combination emphasizes a parenting theme and it is essential for you to be able to BE taken care of as well as caring for others (taking turns nurturing and being nurtured).

Your emotional foundation and sense of adequacy are tied to a career or position in the community. Your professional role may affect your family situation (or you could work from your home, in a family business, with real estate, the land, the public, nurturing, etc.). You might feel pulled in two different career directions, or be unsure what profession you are willing to settle into. Perhaps you are ambivalent about taking an executive role or feel at odds with authorities. You might overdo or underdo your desire to solidify gains. Time management and responsibility (taking on too much or too little) could be career challenges. You may swing between too much and too little effort until you learn to balance.

You are apt to be very responsible toward family members now and may sometimes carry more than your share of the load. Your challenge is to balance work and home, dominance and dependency, compassion and realism, protecting and being protected.

Saturn is square the IC.

You may clash with nurturing figures over issues of control or discipline. Disagreements about responsibilities could affect your home. Pessimism or critical judgment could affect your domestic environment. The wisdom of the past is not always appropriate in your home. Over or underdoing sensible limits could affect your family relationships. You may have to work at being practical about home demands. You may have to learn patience in your handling of family issues. Too much or too little effort may threaten your emotional foundation. Domestically, you may feel torn in regard to how much responsibility to take on. You may feel ambivalent about your home commitments. Family members may challenge you around issues of control or authority.

Your desire for safety and solidity may be at odds with your family's needs. You could be at odds with parents (or your parental role). Discipline/effort issues may create disagreements within your home. You may feel restricted by family connections needs or protective instincts. You might feel pulled in two different directions regarding emotional ties. Your experience may feel opposite to what your family wants. You may feel ambivalent about taking charge domestically. Career ambitions may pull you away from home requirements (or vice versa). You might overdo or undo contracting instincts and the desire to solidify gains. You may experience conflicts with nurturing figures. Time management and responsibility could be home challenges. You might feel ambivalent about the handling of power in your home. Issues of effort and discipline could affect your family relations. You may swing between too much and too little effort at home until you learn to balance.

Uranus is opposite the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Antananarivo, Madagascar; Riyadh, Saudi Arabia; Mahajanga, Madagascar; Mogadishu, Somalia; Aden, Yemen; Hargeysa, Somalia.

Authorities with whom you deal may seem eccentric or erratic. You can be unconventional in your approach to the outer world and societal rules and regulations. You might be detached or objective about your responsibilities. Your status may be different or unusual in some way. For you, in this place, power lies in freedom and independence.

Your drive for freedom and independence may pull you away from the home, toward the wider world. A transpersonal focus may seem appropriate. Perhaps your roots feel at odds with the pull of the future. Perhaps you are torn between nurturing needs and the desire to be unattached. Your intellect may vie with your emotions until you integrate them. Your individuality or uniqueness may not seem to fit easily into the family matrix, yet it is a great, creative gift that can enable you to discover alternative approaches to family clashes. You can demonstrate objectivity and encourage a broader viewpoint among those you love.

Neptune is square the IC.

Your family needs may compete with your urge to transcend and seek a Higher Power. Your imaginative, dreamy side may clash with parents (or your parental role). Rose-colored glasses or escapism could challenge your domestic accomplishments. Your desire for family connections may clash with your quest for infinite love and beauty. Your romantic, dreamy side may compete with your need to make emotional ties. Idealism could war with caring and warmth in your home, or you might bounce between too much idealism and too much caring and warmth. Parents or nurturing figures may challenge your faith or trust. Intuition could war with safety instincts within you. Savior/victim entanglements could complicate your family ties.

Your quest for infinite love and beauty may pull you away from your home. Family demands may not easily combine with your imaginative, romantic images. Your intuition may be at odds with domestic practicalities. Your magical, mystical, visualizing capacity may not fit your family matrix. You are learning to integrate imagination, aspirations and inspirations into your hope, without excessive fantasy, escapism or passivity. Spiritual activities, nature, art or healing roles build your sense of emotional adequacy, reaffirming life's basic goodness.

Neptune is trine the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Amman, Jordan; Beirut, Lebanon; Jerusalem, Israel; Blantyre, Malawi; Beira, Mozambique; Tel Aviv, Israel.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Amman, Jordan; Beirut, Lebanon; Jerusalem, Israel; Blantyre, Malawi; Beira, Mozambique; Tel Aviv, Israel; Mwanza, Tanzania; Khartoum, Sudan; Kampala, Uganda; Port Said, Egypt.

You are likely to exhibit an intense drive for power, and being in control (of self and/or others) may be very important here. Your forceful, competitive side could be constructively channeled into business, law enforcement, the military, sports, games, politics or professions involving physical manipulation (e.g., chiropractic, massage). Do not channel your drive for power into your home. Family members will not appreciate having a dictator in the house. Find an outer world arena to focus your ambitious, driving side.

If you are uncomfortable with your power-oriented side, you may unconsciously attract authorities who are dominating, manipulative and dictatorial--until you reclaim your own power, mastery, and control in constructive uses.

You are capable of tremendous self-discipline and self-control and might limit your sensuality to gain a sense of self-mastery. You can be practical about sensual and sexual needs. You are working on the challenge of having enough control without too much. Addictions, excessive self-denial, or emotional manipulations could emerge with family members until a healthy level of sharing and equality is reached. Learning to let go might be a challenge. Obsessions or compulsions could emerge to be faced and mastered. You can be quite strong, enduring and resourceful here.

Pluto is trine the IC.

Your intensity may contribute to your home environment. Your desire for power may strengthen your emotional foundation. Your organizational skills could aid your family connections. You have good endurance and followthrough for family matters. Children and mates may cooperate well together. Your self-discipline and self-control enhance your protectiveness. Your probing instincts could enhance your handling of family matters. Parents may encourage your confrontational skills. Compassion might enhance your dealing with shared resources and pleasures. You can be fiercely loyal to family (and vice versa).

Your mate may be supportive of your home. Nurturing figures may encourage your yen to dig beneath the surface. You are apt to value discipline and self-control within the home. You want to build things to LAST in the domestic arena. You may cope well in intensely emotional situations. You can be quite thorough, purposeful and organized when dealing with feelings. Your sensitivity can enhance your dealing with shared resources and pleasures. A mate could help out other family members.

Chiron is conjunct the IC.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You may place a high value on home and family, yet simultaneously have the urge to leave home periodically for far horizons. You could take trips regularly, live on the road, have a communal household with many different people coming and going, or live in a foreign country. Your domestic environment is apt to be very mentally stimulating with lots of books, unusual people, or provocative discussions. It may be a challenge to fit your beliefs and principles into society's demands. You are likely to feel freedom versus closeness tugs around your nest. You may expect too much from your family members (and/or they from you). Shared goals, values and dreams help you to accept each other as human, while working toward a broader vision.

The urge to go beyond known boundaries may pull you away from conventional success, or your desire to take risks could separate you from authorities and positions of authority. It may seem difficult to get enough variety and mental challenges at work. Your idealistic visions may seem to work better in the home than in the vocational world; the challenge is to integrate your aspirations in both arenas.

Chiron is sextile the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Bissau, Guinea-Bissau.

Your willingness to take risks can enhance your emotional connections. Your idealism and belief in doing MORE may add to your family ties. Your intellectual openness could enhance your family feelings. Your urge to know more may help expand your family matrix. Your quest for truth and meaning may strengthen your nurturing instincts. Mentors may assist your ability to seek spiritual, metaphysical, religious answers. Further training or education may augment your sense of protectiveness and urge to care for others.

Your high standards and quest for the best can enhance your domestic environment. Your attraction to far horizons may enrich your home. Books, travel, people from other cultures, discussions, study groups or spiritual ideals could contribute significantly to your nest.

Ceres is conjunct the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Herat, Afghanistan.

You are learning to balance caring and hard-nosed realism in this region. You might swing from being supernurturing to ultrapractical. A parenting archetype is highlighted; you might tend to play the caretaking role constantly, or seek someone to look after and parent you. You might work out of your home, make your home your vocation, bounce between family and career demands, or work in a family business. Your security lies in being efficient and productive; you can be quite practical and helpful.

You may allow a need to serve to overwhelm your good sense. You could do too much for others, especially if you succumb to the feeling that no one else will do things as well as you do. (The opposite extreme is seeking the support you feel you never got as a child--looking for a mothering type to protect and cherish you.) With a probable talent for repairs, improvements and fixing things up, a focus on health and healing might be quite important in your home (and in your life).

You can be quite organized and thorough in the home environment and may take on more than your share of family responsibilities. You are able to nurture in sensible ways.

Ceres is square the IC.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You may feel that family needs (and members) compete with one another. You might fall into the "indispensability trap," trying to take care of everyone. Family members may clash with you over standards and the "proper" course. Practicality (too much or too little) could be an issue in your home. Your desire to have things RIGHT may create clashes with family. Your common sense may not be appreciated by parental figures. Nurturing figures may seem nonsupportive of your compassionate side. You want to do things well (perhaps too well on occasion) in the home.

You may find that emotional vulnerabilities trigger family conflicts. You may feel torn between being a taskmaster and a nurturer. You may be too focused on having things JUST SO at home. Familial demands might affect your health. Nurturing figures may disagree with what you see as common sense. Clashes with family might occur over what you see as the RIGHT way. You could succumb to feeling indispensable and end up overworked.

Your security lies in being efficient and productive. You may bounce between family and work demands (or work in a family business). You are likely to be practical and helpful within the family matrix. A focus on health and healing may be important in your home. You may allow a need to serve to overwhelm your good sense. Vesta is opposite the IC.

You have the capacity for single-minded focus on success, but could also succumb to tunnel vision, sacrificing too much for desired end results. This area highlights responsibility, hard work, and a desire for tangible results from what you do. Some kind of productive work is important for your personal satisfaction here, but you may feel it pulls you away from domestic duties.

You could focus on health or healing. You might develop skills in science, business or any detail-oriented work. You may use organizational abilities. You can be more efficient, productive and practical here. You could fall into nitpicking or supercritical tendencies as you are oriented to fix, repair, and improve situations and people. Direct any flaw-finding tendencies toward physical chores--not family members. You may do more than your share, feeling you "have" to work, or not trusting others to do things correctly or well enough. If you push too hard, you might have health problems as the body's message to slow down and take a break. Don't fall into an indispensability trap. Let others do some of the work!

Vesta is square the IC.

Nitpicking or criticism could be a challenge in your home. You might fall into the "indispensability trap." Family may clash with you over standards and the "proper" course. Your tunnel vision might sometimes block emotional ties. Practicality (too much or too little) could be an issue in your home. Your service side may be over or underdone. Your desire to have things RIGHT may create clashes within the family matrix. Your common sense may not be appreciated by nurturing figures. Work demands may be at odds with domestic urges (emotional needs).

Tunnel vision or nitpicking could inhibit your domestic accomplishments. A dearth or excess of practicality could be a challenge in your home. You may be too focused on having things JUST SO at home. Family or career demands might affect your health. Nurturing figures may disagree with what you see as common sense. Clashes with family might occur over what you see as the RIGHT way. The desire to improve/repair might be over (or under-) done.

Your work might involve basic security, food, shelter, clothing, land. You are apt to seek security through efficiency and productivity. You may bounce between family and home demands (or work in a family business). You are probably practical and helpful, especially to family. A focus on health and healing may be important in your home (and life). You might prefer to work out of your home (or make your home into your job). You could do too much for others. You can be quite organized and precise in your home environment. Criticism or nitpicking might be an issue with family members. Your need to improve and repair may be home-centered.

Your self-esteem is on the line in almost everything you do in this region. You may find it easy to shine, to play, and be creative--or you may feel self-conscious as if everything reflects back on you. You may be too proud (or too ashamed) of yourself.

You are likely to have good physical vitality and may be in touch with your inner child. You need excitement and could be a risk-taker here. You might be drawn to speculate.

Your leadership abilities are accentuated, and you might play a starring role, taking center stage through charisma, humor, or creative, expressive qualities.

The Sun is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Hyderabad, India; Bangalore, India.

You may face a challenge around self-esteem (too much or too little) here. A healthy sense of pride in yourself may be lacking (or too much egotism and arrogance might exist).

You could inhibit (or overdo) your funloving spirit, speculative or risk-taking side. You are learning to express your inner child in a constructive manner. You need positive excitement in your life now. You can be quite creative, but may hold back on your talents. You can be quite playful, joyful and confident, but may go overboard with your fiery impulses, or inhibit and "dampen down" your self-expression. Your challenge here is to be naturally expressive, constructively confident, and instinctively dramatic in ways which will add zest to your life.

You are apt to have good vitality. Your leadership skills may increase; you find it easy to gain the respect of others. You can be magnetic and charismatic.

Your creative, funloving spirit is in focus. You may be attracted to excitement, speculation, risk-taking or play. You appreciate your inner child. You have good inner resources of confidence and enthusiasm.

The Moon is conjunct the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Your emotional nature is in focus here, but you may sometimes feel torn between spontaneous expression, versus holding back until you feel safe. You could come across as moody if you swing between letting it all hang out and protecting your vulnerabilities.

You are also working on the balance between independence and closeness. You are likely to identify with nurturing, caretaking, security or protection. Home and family will probably be important to you here. However, you may choose to nurture only in your own way, on your own terms. This might mean sometimes you are alone in your parenting role. Another option is dependency, where you directly look for others to care for you. Generally, you will seek situations where you can be independent as well as emotionally involved.

You need a sense of security (emotional and physical) and may respond more to habit patterns and homing instincts. You can be receptive, gentle, caring and supportive while still maintaining your individuality.

The Moon is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Lahore, Pakistan.

Your personal needs may conflict with your drive to nurture in this region. You need to be yourself, yet still make caring connections to others. You may feel torn between independence and dependence, or between spontaneity and protectiveness. You might experience emotional swings, with a strong urge to express and pour out sometimes, and an urgent need to hold in and play it safe other times. You are capable of a great deal of emotional warmth here.

Some personal clashes with mother, mother figure or women are possible until you reach a balance between your liberty-loving and vulnerable sides. You can be active and receptive, physical and emotional, impulsive and a creature of habit. You need to establish close, caring ties without giving up your pioneering instincts, desire to be first and to express yourself.

The Moon is trine the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You want very much to act in harmony with the needs of your family and people who depend upon you. You are instinctively seeking balance between self-assertion, dependency and nurturance. You probably appreciate your need for security and look for ways to further your attachments without sacrificing your independence.

You may be naturally receptive, concerned with issues of vulnerability, caretaking and emotional support in this region. You may seem moody as you can be cautious and inward, as well as direct and spontaneous. Many of your actions could be based on habit patterns; be sure you have built in positive habits. You are likely to feel strongly about protecting yourself and others.

Mercury is conjunct the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Nouakchott, Mauritania; Dakar, Senegal; Banjul, Gambia.

You are likely to focus on your mind, with an instinctive need to communicate. Talking comes naturally to you here, as well gathering and disseminating information. You can be quite logical, adaptable and flexible. Insatiably curious, you are ever-eager to learn. Because your mind works more quickly in this area, you can debate well (and may leap to conclusions or make rash statements). You can also use words as weapons with irony, sarcasm and satire.

You are apt to be quite perceptive and observant. You may be dextrous, and able to do skilled work with your hands. You will probably be restless and may seek variety and constant stimulation and new input (especially mental) in your life. You can be scattered, because you will be interested in everything and everyone. Your mind, tongue, fingers or body need to be on the go almost all the time.

Mercury is square the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You can be quite quick-tongued, thinking on your feet, and could be sharp-tongued as well in this region. You might speak impulsively, blurting out what you later regret or act before thinking things through. Conflicts with others might revolve around communication: sarcasm and irony are possible, or an imbalance between listening and talking.

You are likely to be quite perceptive, flexible and adaptable here. Your personal desires may pull you away from logic and rational analysis, yet you can use them well when you choose. You may feel torn between learning through personal experience and activity, versus learning vicariously through conversation, books, media, etc. Both sources can add to your life. You are apt to seek stimulation from a variety of sources and need to constantly exercise your mind.

Mercury is sextile the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania; Blantyre, Malawi; Beira, Mozambique; Mbabane, Swaziland; Maseru, Lesotho; Bisho, Ciskei; Port Elizabeth, South Africa.

You are apt to encourage communication. Thinking, talking, listening and exchanging information are in high focus for you here. You can be bright, witty and expressive. Curiosity is accentuated, with a restless drive to keep on learning.

You may be more perceptive, analytical and keenly aware of what is going on around you. You could be dextrous, flexible or good at working with your hands. You might become more ingenious, clever and adaptable.

You could be skilled at debate because your mental processes work more quickly. You can think on your feet, blending logic and action. You have the capacity to be objective about yourself as well as others.

Venus is conjunct the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Tunis, Tunisia; Niamey, Niger; Tamale, Ghana; Kumasi, Ghana; Accra, Ghana; Sekondi-Takoradi, Ghana.

You have the capacity to truly like yourself here. Natural sensuality is accented; you appreciate the good things in life, particularly food, drink and sexual or sensual pleasures. You might even be self-indulgent. You are likely to pursue comfort and ease and may prefer a life of stability. You not only know how to enjoy life, you can bring gratification to others as well. Love is more of a priority.

You can be sweet as well as passionate, energetic as well as charming. Controlling your own resources is important to you. What you have and get in life is part of how you define yourself. (Do not tie your self-worth too closely to monetary success.) Love is also vital in your life, and you probably want to share pleasures with others as well. Your affections are nearer the surface here; you are ready for love.

You may have a strong appreciation for beauty and talent in the arts. You may increase your physical attractiveness or grace. Perhaps you will put beauty in motion through dancing, skating, skiing, diving, etc. An active form of aesthetics or a personal artistic outlet can be quite satisfying to you here. Or, you may give more weight to partnerships and close, emotional ties with others.

Venus is square the Ascendant.

Conflicts may arise with others around the handling of pleasure in your life. You might feel ambivalent about the degree of indulgence to allow yourself and others. You may be at odds with people close to you regarding comfort, ease, stability, resources, finances and possessions. Ownership might be a bone of contention.

Sensual pleasures could present challenges. You may not be able to gratify your immediate impulses. You might face challenges in handling your pursuit of pleasure from food, drink, possessions, money, etc. (either too much or not enough is possible).

You may feel torn between assertion and accommodation. You could feel caught between meeting your own needs versus pleasing others. Sweetness and diplomacy may vie with doing things YOUR way. A bit of both is advisable.

Venus is sextile the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Lahore, Pakistan.

Your immediate impulses tend toward pleasure-seeking in this region. You may be more sensual and attracted to material gratification. You probably appreciate stability and predictability, looking for a smooth, easy flow in life. You could be a bit indulgent (of self and/or others).

You might express yourself through tangible forms of beauty, making money, or collecting possessions. Your instincts flow toward physical resources and pleasures. You might beautify your personal appearance.

You can be charming, diplomatic and sweet. You are able to put people at ease and tend to focus on the positive in interactions. With peacemaking capacities highlighted, you could be easygoing and prefer to avoid any unpleasantness. You might compromise too much on occasion, but will be oriented toward creating harmony and balance.

Mars is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Mashhad, Iran; Mombasa, Kenya; Tanga, Tanzania; Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania; Morogoro, Tanzania; Blantyre, Malawi; Thohoyandou, Venda; Maseru, Lesotho; Port Elizabeth, South Africa.

You are likely to feel ambivalent regarding assertion, anger, and self-expression in this region. You could have flashes of temper, or hold back excessively from meeting your own needs. You may sabotage yourself, inhibiting natural reactions. Developing a healthy sense of personal power may be a challenge.

If you block or fight against your spontaneous instincts and needs, you could end up feeling drained and tired. You might battle your own desires. You could feel torn about how to express yourself, but having an avenue to channel your energy, vitality and independence is vital. Sports, games, business and competitive outlets could help you be strong, direct and face life in constructive ways. Your fighting spirit needs a positive channel lest it hit others or rebound internally against you. With an active, independent focus, you can be forthright, courageous and pioneering.

Mars is trine the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Bangalore, India.

You are probably willing to assert yourself in this region. You can act on your own needs and pursue your desires in life. You may be quite spontaneous, direct, courageous and independent. You operate well on your own in this area.

You might be a bit impatient, rash or easily irritated. Your fiery spirit needs a constructive physical outlet and competitive activities could also help channel your energy and drive. Because you know what you want, you are willing to act immediately to get it. You can be quite centered in the NOW. Enthusiastic, eager and lively, you are likely to be full of energy here.

Mars is sextile the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: N'djamena, Chad; Maiduguri, Nigeria; Bafoussam, Cameroon; Yaounde, Cameroon; Douala, Cameroon; Libreville, Gabon.

See previous aspect for interpretation

Jupiter is conjunct the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Oran, Algeria; Bamako, Mali; Kankan, Guinea; Monrovia, Liberia.

Your beliefs, values and confidence are in high focus in this area. You may be energetic, enthusiastic, and optimistic. You might believe wholly in yourself, and could overreach, wanting more than is possible. Your ideals and goals could be vast and larger than life, with a tendency to constantly seek more, better or higher in some fashion. You may overextend yourself, promising more than you can deliver, trying to do everything and do it all in a grand style.

An alternate possibility is feeling frustrated by life because your ideals and goals are set too high. You may opt not to even try, rather than fall short of your ideal images. An attitude of "perfect or not at all" might hamstring your efforts.

You need a religion, philosophy or world view which is personal, derived from your own experience. You can be quite ethical and moral, but may also slip into self-righteousness, convinced your way is the only way. Your willingness to fight for your beliefs could lead to minor "religious wars." You want to act on the basis of principles.

You can be quite restless and may go "where angels fear to tread," trusting you can manage whatever comes up. You are likely to be open, frank, generous, and philosophical. You probably have a drive for expanded horizons and may seek the truth everywhere. You will have a knack for making the most of your opportunities here.

Jupiter is square the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You may feel torn between conflicting ideals, goals, values or beliefs. You might sometimes act against your better judgment while living here. By establishing a clear value hierarchy, you can sort out what matters most to you. By deciding what is more important, you can commit to some projects and drop others, rather than getting overextended by trying to do everything.

The expectations you hold for yourself could be a challenge; they might be too high (looking for the impossible dream) or too low ("perfect or nothing at all"). You may be too optimistic and rash, or afraid to trust and put your faith in the future. You are learning, through personal experience, to have enough faith to risk, try, and explore--but not so much faith as to expect everything to fall into your lap.

Conflicts with others around religion, philosophy, spirituality, morality and ethics are possible until you have a clear vision of your personal truth, values and basic assumptions about life.

Jupiter is sextile the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

This region accentuates your desire to act in support of your ideals and goals. Your personal action may further a philosophy, religion or spiritual quest. Your ideals affect what you do and how you see yourself. Moral probity and a high standard of ethics are probably important to you here. You may expect a lot of yourself, wanting to measure up to a high standard (but sometimes afraid your standard is TOO high). You truly want to be THE BEST, to do your best.

You are likely to be optimistic, confident and outgoing. Because you trust in the future, you are willing to take risks in seeking truth, wisdom and broadened horizons. You may view the world as an arena for growth and larger than life experiences. You can be quite generous, cheerful and possess a wide range of knowledge. You may instinctively make the most of your opportunities in this area.

Saturn is opposite the Ascendant.

This area emphasizes issues of authority, power, limits, anxiety, control, fear, time, responsibility and competence in relationships. One option is avoiding relationships for fear of being controlled, hurt, put-down or rejected. Another choice is to attract a "father figure"--someone who seems strong, responsible, stable, dependable and usually ends up dominating, dictatorial and demanding. Or, you may unconsciously adopt the "father" role and attract people who want to lay all their burdens on your shoulder and hand the responsibility for their lives over to you.

The key issue is SHARED responsibility and competence. You may work with people--either a people-oriented profession (e.g., counseling, consulting, personnel, etc.) or literally sharing a job or tasks with a partner. This helps to channel the judgmental, flaw-finding focus into the physical tasks, rather than into picking one another apart as people. You may also work AT your relationships, seeking to constantly improve, strengthen and lengthen your commitments. As long as both people are motivated in this direction, it works well. You can be quite willing to be practical and realistic about relationship issues, facing facts squarely and willing to work at making things better. This area highlights your sense of responsibility within interpersonal exchanges.

Saturn is square the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Clashes are possible in this area regarding issues of responsibility, power, practicality and control. You may feel torn between being a loner and taking charge. Your personal needs and desires may seem at odds with the demands of the world (especially authority figures) until you figure out a way to get what you want within the structure of society. You need to personally grasp the "rules of the game" and work practically within them.

You may experience periodic self-doubts and insecurities in this region, with a tendency to be too hard on yourself, measuring everything in terms of performance and tangible results. You are working on the balance between initiation and followthrough, between impulsivity and caution. A middle ground allow you to sidestep excessive inhibition as well as flying in the face of reality.

By backing your natural instincts with discipline and experience, you can accomplish a great deal, moving toward more status, authority and power in the world.

Saturn is trine the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Rawalpindi, Pakistan; Multan, Pakistan; Hyderabad, Pakistan; Karachi, Pakistan; Toamasina, Madagascar.

You are likely to direct your efforts toward a career and material success while living here. You are willing to "make it" the hard way, putting effort and discipline into making things real. You will tend to take yourself seriously and want to act with integrity and reliability. Responsibility is highlighted; you will seek long-term security.

You can direct energy conscientiously, with a sensible grasp of the "rules of the game." By working constructively within the limits of society and authorities, you can accomplish a great deal. You may receive assistance from a mentor, parent or authority figure. Time is on your side, as you truly get better and better with age now. You appreciate the wisdom of experience and learn through doing.

Uranus is square the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Your innovative, inventive, freedom-loving streak is in high focus in this area. You might carry eccentricity or self-will too far, or you could be unsure how and where to express your individuality. Perhaps you feel that being independent clashes with your friendships, or your personal needs conflict with your humanitarian instincts. You may be torn between expressing your uniqueness through action or through the mind.

If you try to stifle your creative, expressive, restless side, you might unconsciously set yourself up for accidents from pent-up frustration and impatience. You need a constructive outlet for your desire for excitement, change, activity and stimulation.

Uranus is trine the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

This region highlights freedom, individuality, and inventiveness. You may encourage that in others as well as yourself. With an innovative bent accented, you can bring fresh perspectives to stale problems or situations. You may contact a wide variety of people, perhaps through groups, networking social causes, or a circle of very different friends.

You will be attracted by the future, with an optimistic tendency to believe that the best is yet to come. You appreciate novelty and variety more and are likely to seek much stimulation and excitement in this region. The new has more appeal than the old; you thrive on growth and change.

Uranus is sextile the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Alexandria, Egypt; Pointe-Noire, Congo; Matadi, Zaire.

Neptune is conjunct the Ascendant.

You are likely to personally identify with idealism in this area. You can be quite compassionate, romantic, and drawn to helping or healing activities. If your desire to believe the best of people and life is overdone, others might take advantage of your good nature or desire to trust that everyone means well. You could be trapped by the role of savior, martyr or victim.

Alternately, you may idealize freedom and personal action, believing that the most important thing in life is being true to yourself. You could rationalize bluntness as honesty and proselytizing as eagerness to share inspiration.

You may increase your physical attractiveness or grace, and could exhibit beauty in motion (gymnastics, dancing, skiing, etc.). Your physical body may be extra sensitive (to drugs, allergies, etc.) and you probably need more purity in your environment than before. Escapist paths could provide tempting lures when life is less than ideal, or ugly rather than beautiful.

You are apt to seek infinite love and beauty through direct, personal action. You may fight for worthy causes (especially for the underdog). You could identify with spiritual or religious themes, seeking to provide an example of grace, harmony and forgiveness. You may be intuitive, and could sometimes do the right thing instinctively, without knowing why.

Neptune is sextile the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Agra, India.

This area highlights acting on behalf of your visions, imagination, idealism or aesthetic creativity. You may literally move with beauty or strive to be compassionate, empathic, or gentle in your self-expression.

Your faith or capacity to merge with something Higher in life nourishes your sense of identity and willingness to be who you are. You can appreciate Union, while retaining personal individuality. Your yearning for infinite love and beauty may tempt you toward escapism if the "real world" seems imperfect or ugly. Or, you might fall into savior/victim (rescuer/enabler) scripts, seeking to be everything to someone, or expecting another to bring you "heaven on earth."

You can be quite sensitive, intuitive, and graceful here. Music, art, nature, and spiritual activities increase your physical vitality and nourish your ability to take direct, expressive action.

Pluto is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Tehran, Iran; Abadan, Iran; Addis Ababa, Ethiopia; Jima, Ethiopia; Mwanza, Tanzania; Ndola, Zambia; Kitwe, Zambia; Lusaka, Zambia.

You are likely to face issues of self-mastery and the handling of power in this region. You may feel torn between asserting your own personal power and sharing the power with others, especially in intimate contexts. This area highlights intense emotions, but you may feel unsure of how much you are willing to reveal to the world.

You are working on the balance between independence and intimacy--expressing yourself as a loner and making a deep, emotional commitment to someone else. Anger, resentment, control issues and manipulation may have to be faced with others, particularly if you do not have a constructive channel (e.g., sports, games, business, military, law enforcement) for your own forceful, driving side.

Probing instincts are in high focus; you need to look beneath the surface, to uncover what is hidden. This could lead to self-analysis as well as a desire to understand other people's motives and drives. You could sometimes feel pulled between a spontaneous, free, open, flow and a controlled, disciplined focus. You are capable of being quite loyal, dedicated, disciplined, resourceful and thorough.

Pluto is trine the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Delhi, India; Agra, India; Bombay, India.

Your emotions are apt to be more intense in this region. Self-mastery probably appeals to you, but you may experience extremes (feast versus famine) in your handling of food, alcohol, money, and pleasures. Sexual and sensual drives are likely to be marked, yet you wish control as well as indulgence.

You will be drawn toward an intimate connection with a mate, and have the ability to share well. By acknowledging your independence and need for control as well as your mate's, you can work out reasonable compromises and opportunities to take turns taking charge.

You will want your personal actions to probe, to dig out secrets, to uncover what is hidden, to get to the bottom of things. This region highlights investigative urges, so you may wish to illuminate, clarify and transform your own inner motives as well as those of other people.

Pluto is sextile the Ascendant.

Chiron is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania; Blantyre, Malawi; Beira, Mozambique; Mbabane, Swaziland; Umtata, Transkei; Bisho, Ciskei; Oos-Londen, South Africa; Port Elizabeth, South Africa.

The urge to know and do MORE in life is in high personal focus in this region. If carried to an extreme, you may constantly seek new knowledge, new stimulation and new adventures. You could overdo risk-taking and the quest for ultimate answers. No matter what you do, you might want more, or better, or faster. Perhaps you are impossible to please, aiming for an infinitely high standard of behavior. Who you feel you ARE may be at odds with who you feel you SHOULD BE. Expectations could be overdone.

The other extreme is to deny this restless, curious side of your nature, refusing it an outlet. Rather than questioning, or studying, or wondering, or searching, you try to tie things down, establish absolutes, settle for the known and secure.

By blending the best of both, you can live with change, enjoy new experiences, learn lifelong and constantly seek to expand your base of understanding, while still able to enjoy the process and to appreciate perfection as a goal rather than as an end result.

Chiron is trine the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: N'djamena, Chad; Yaounde, Cameroon.

This region accentuates your desire to seek the truth, and an urge to expand your horizons. Whether drawn toward religion, education, travel or other adventurous, exploratory activities, you will thrive in an atmosphere of intellectual stimulation and going beyond traditional limits.

You need to act on behalf of high ideals and may be seeking perfection (perhaps demanding too much from yourself, other people or life in general). You can enjoy experimenting and taking risks; you are eager to increase freedom on many levels.

Chiron is sextile the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Madras, India.

See previous aspect for interpretation

Ceres is opposite the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Themes of nurturing, competence, support and productivity are highlighted within your relationships here. You are likely to face old feelings about your mother (or mother figure). Whether she was a positive or a negative role model for peer relationships, you will be dealing with her influence and example of how TO share (or how NOT to share) with others. Capability is a significant theme. If these motifs are not shared, you may end up playing Earth Mother in relationships (taking care of everything, doing all the work, constantly being supportive). Alternately, you may seek someone else to be a permanent Earth Mother in your life.

If you share these themes with a partner, you both likely to emphasize competence, dedication and responsibility. You will enjoy "being there" for one another. Family and nurturing may be a strong bond between you. You might work together and raise one another's productivity. You are able to take turns caring for another and genuinely enjoy being supportive of each other. Through your connections to other people, you are further developing your own competence, focus, organizational skills and practical nurturing.

Ceres is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Agra, India.

You are capable of being dedicated and helpful, but may feel torn between immediate desires and work routines. You might flip between doing your own thing and being productive. You might overdo or underdo competence urges. Perhaps you feel there is not room for you to express yourself and still be competent in your work. Perhaps your desire for spontaneity conflicts with work routines, or impatience competes with your capacity for analysis.

If you overdo a focus on performance and getting things "right," health issues are possible, especially in regard to your energy level. You need to function efficiently in your work and health, but could be too hard on yourself.

Conflicts with nurturing figures or with children are possible until you achieve a balance between personal needs and your caretaking instincts. You might sometimes feel a "forced choice" between doing what you want and taking care of the needs of others. You can be highly effective as well as warm and supportive.

Ceres is trine the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Esfahan, Iran; Riyadh, Saudi Arabia; Addis Ababa, Ethiopia; Mwanza, Tanzania; Ndola, Zambia; Lusaka, Zambia; Cape Town, South Africa.

You may personally support nurturing, caretaking activities in this region. You could express through a "mother earth" role, or receive assistance and support from family members. A mothering figure might help you get what you want in life.

Your energy goes toward productivity and getting the job done. You may become active in supporting health, improvement, efficiency and competence. Your immediate impulses probably sway toward being practical and helpful. You may be more skilled at analysis or handling details and could increase your talent for nutrition, healing or craftsmanship.

Pallas is conjunct the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Your drive for equality is in high focus here. You may be willing to fight for fair play, for justice, and for balance and even-handedness. This could include a competitive streak that is best directed to sports, games, business or fighting for causes. (It is not advisable to compete in relationships intended to be cooperative.)

You may get very personally involved with aesthetic or artistic endeavors. You could develop a talent for art or for creating beauty. You may be more sensitive to line, form, balance and harmony--particularly visual or graphic arts such as photography, design, decorating, architecture, painting, etc. You may increase your physical grace or attractiveness.

You are apt to identify with relationships, to learn about yourself through interactions with others. Having a partner is more important to you here; you make it a priority. You are working on the balance between personal and interpersonal needs. The challenge is to share the power equally with someone else, neither demanding everything on your terms, nor giving in totally to someone else's preferences. Taking turns will help to keep a balance.

Pallas is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Catania, Italy; Tripoli, Libya; Porto-Novo, Benin; Lome, Togo.

Issues of justice, fair play and balance are apt to resonate personally with you in this region. You may feel at odds with others due to a lack of equality, or problems in sharing. Balancing personal needs with partnership demands is likely to take time and energy; freedom may compete with closeness and attachment with separation. Assertion could be an issue in your relationships (too much or too little). Yet your instinctive drive is to seek evenhandedness.

You may become more personally drawn toward beauty and grace, perhaps even expressing it through your own body. You could develop talent for active forms of aesthetic expression (dance, skiing, skating, diving, gymnastics, etc.). Conflicts over beauty or fairness are possible. You might also compete in a field involving grace or harmony.

You may sometimes compete when you should cooperate and vice versa. Gaining clarity on your rights in respect to the rights of others is part of your task. Balance personal desires with empathy for others.

Pallas is trine the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You are likely to act on behalf of balance, justice, harmony or beauty. You could become more physically graceful or involved in active forms of aesthetics. You might fight for fair play or equal opportunity in this area.

You can relate well to people, having an instinctive appreciation of other people's viewpoints. You enjoy the give-and-take in relationships. Cooperation as well as competition offer forums for you to express yourself and interact with others. You can be quite just, equalitarian and objective in this region.

Pallas is sextile the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Asmera, Ethiopia; Gonder, Ethiopia; Kampala, Uganda; Kigali, Rwanda; Bujumbura, Burundi; Likasi, Zaire.

See previous aspect for interpretation

Juno is opposite the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Niamey, Niger; Accra, Ghana; Sekondi-Takoradi, Ghana.

You are working with issues of intimacy, emotional commitment, beauty, competition, cooperation and sharing in your relationships. You could attract partners who are very attractive physically, partners who have artistic talent, or partner who themselves want beauty or grace. You might become enveloped in highly competitive interactions, although cooperation is also possible. Appearances are apt to matter, so "looking good" to the outside world may be very important to you or your partner. Power struggles in regard to shared resources are possible until you and your partner learn to comfortably share possessions. You might get involved with people who want more of a commitment (a legal bond) than you do. Emotional intensity and depth of caring could be issues between you.

If these issues are shared, you are likely to relate to someone who is eager to meet you on the same level. You may jointly be involved with beauty or art. You may enjoy each other's looks, skills and generally want to do things together. You probably will take pleasure in satisfying one another and naturally incline toward sharing your resources. You could feel a deep desire to bond with one another, to "pledge your troth" in the most intense, committed manner possible. You want a deep, emotional connection with another. You may face intense emotional issues in this region.

Juno is square the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Some tension in relationships is likely here, as you work toward balance with others. You may feel torn between your drive for independence and your desire for marriage or some kind of partnership. What you want may be at odds with a partner's desires and needs. Being able to share sensually, sexually and financially with a mate is suggested as a primary field of learning and growth.

Incorporating beauty into your life may be difficult. You need an aesthetic or artistic outlet, but may clash with others over issues of appearance, harmony or balance. Self-assertion may compete with grace and charm. Putting beauty into motion (dancing, diving, skiing, etc.) or being personally active in creating beauty is affirming for you.

You need people contacts, but must practice sharing the power with a mate--neither giving away all the power nor demanding all control be in your own hands. Joint efforts work best.

Juno is trine the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Ahmadabad, India.

You are likely to seek interactions with others, and harmony with a partner (e.g., spouse) is quite possible. Your instinctive grasp of the ebb-and-flow in relationships is highlighted; you understand the need for compromise and taking turns with each other. You have a knack for maintaining independence within the context of a deep, emotional tie. Intimacy nourishes you.

Your energy flows easily into aesthetic activities (especially on the visual level). Your eye for line, form, color or balance may become increasingly skilled. Grace and charm are accentuated here.

Vesta is conjunct the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Dakar, Senegal.

You need to function efficiently here. You may identify with your accomplishments, and downgrade yourself when feeling unproductive. You need tangible results from your efforts--measurable references of your dedication and discipline. Remember to pat yourself on the back for what you have done already (not just noticing what remains to be done).

Health could become a significant issues in this region. You may be very focused on improving your diet, exercise regime or other bodily disciplines. You may deal with a health challenge, but your primary goal is a sense of efficiency in your physical being as well as on the job.

You may instinctively find flaws. You could fall into a "fix-it" approach. If self-directed, you could be too critical of yourself. Remember to note your assets as well as your flaws. A focus on what is wrong can help you to make it right, but is best directed at physical projects--not at yourself or at other people.

You could be quite pragmatic here. Your organizational skills are highlighted, and you may be quite good at handling details. On occasion, you could exhibit tunnel vision, getting too caught up in the nitty-gritty. Generally, you are able to be hardworking, conscientious, and competent here.

Vesta is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Nagpur, India; Hyderabad, India; Bangalore, India.

You can be quite hardworking, efficient and productive here, but might be too concerned with finding flaws or with personal performance. You may fall into nitpicking (at yourself and/or others) or be overly critical, demanding that everything be "just so."

You can initiate as well as carry through, but may sometimes feel torn between an urge for immediate action versus your desire to analyze, organize and deal with myriad details. If you put too much pressure on yourself to perform "properly," health challenges are possible. You are working toward optimal functioning in your body and on the job, constantly striving toward improvement. You could have talent for repairs with a "fix-it" attitude in many areas.

Tension with colleagues is possible if your drive to enhance things leads to excessive judgment or criticism--or if you feel only you can do things right. An alternative is being unwilling to work, except on your own terms--when, where and how you wish! Generally, you can be quite dedicated, efficient, and thorough, applying personal concentration, effort and competence.

Vesta is sextile the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Mashhad, Iran; Aden, Yemen; Hargeysa, Somalia; Mombasa, Kenya; Tanga, Tanzania; Morogoro, Tanzania; Thohoyandou, Venda; Pretoria, South Africa; Johannesburg, South Africa; Klerksdorp, South Africa; Welkom, South Africa; Bloemfontein, South Africa; Maseru, Lesotho.

Your personal action flows into efficient functioning--on the body and in the job. You are motivated to do things well, to achieve tangible results in the world. You can be dedicated, hardworking, sensible and painstaking in this region.

You may be drawn to regimes which improve your health, or could be active in fields of nutrition, healing, crafts, repairs, etc. Your instinct for finding flaws is accented and may help you to decide what will enhance the situation. You can act with thoroughness and planning.

The Sun is opposite the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Nouakchott, Mauritania; Dakar, Senegal; Banjul, Gambia.

Your self-esteem is on the line in almost everything you do in this region. You may find it easy to shine, to play, and be creative--or you may feel self-conscious as if everything reflects back on you. You may be too proud (or too ashamed) of yourself.

Your leadership abilities are accentuated, and you might play a starring role, taking center stage through charisma, humor, or creative, expressive qualities. Sharing will be more of a challenge, as your tendency is to be the central focus, rather than participate in the give-and-take of relationships. Love, attention, recognition and admiration are important to you. The thrill of courtship will appeal, but you are more likely to want the adulation for yourself. Your challenge is to give encouragement, respect and applause to others as well as seeking it for yourself.

The Sun is square the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Hyderabad, India; Bangalore, India.

You may face a challenge around self-esteem (too much or too little) in your associations. You may compete for attention with a partner. You might inhibit your inner child (or let him/her run wild) in relationships. Your partner may seem to block your creativity. Pride (too much or too little) could affect your ability to share. You may face a challenge around generating positive excitement in partnerships. You may play (recreate) too much or too little with those you love. Your speculative side may threaten the people closest to you. You might inhibit (or overdo) a funloving spirit when relating to others. Your risk-taking side may conflict with your desire for commitment. You need a balanced exchange of recognition and ego support with others.

The Sun is trine the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Mashhad, Iran; Mombasa, Kenya; Tanga, Tanzania; Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania; Morogoro, Tanzania; Blantyre, Malawi; Thohoyandou, Venda; Johannesburg, South Africa; Maseru, Lesotho; Port Elizabeth, South Africa.

Your relationships support your self-esteem. Partners may feed your need to shine. Your life force/vitality and energy flow easily into sharing. Others appreciate your inner child. Your relationships may augment your creativity. Your coupling instinct is revitalized by your star quality. Partners may feed your drive for excitement. You enjoy recreation with partners. You may speculate with a partner or in relationships. You are drawn to funloving individuals. Others appreciate your risk-taking instincts.

The Moon is opposite the Descendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Your emotional nature is in focus here, but you may sometimes feel torn between spontaneous expression, versus holding back until you feel safe. You could come across as moody if you swing between letting it all hang out and protecting your vulnerabilities.

You are also working on the balance between independence and closeness. You are likely to identify with nurturing, caretaking, security or protection. Home and family may be more important in this area, or simply the desire for an emotional attachment. You may feel torn between dependency versus nurturing in relationships; a bit of both is advisable. Generally, you need associations in which you can be independent as well as emotionally involved.

You need a sense of security (emotional and physical) and may respond more to habit patterns and homing instincts. Your relationships should feed your receptive, gentle, caring and supportive side, while still affirming your individuality.

The Moon is square the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Lahore, Pakistan.

Emotions or sensitivities may be difficult to resolve in your associations. Your desire to share may compete with security needs. Your drive for equality could conflict with your caretaking instincts. Ingrained habit patterns could be a source of friction in relationships. Your urge for balance may compete with dependency needs. You may be torn between relating as a parent versus relating as an equal. Your partner's vulnerabilities may present a relating challenge. Achieving a comfortable level of interdependency is a challenge. You may feel unsure about how receptive others are to you. You and your partner may seem to have opposite moods. Women, mother (figure) or nurturing needs may generate friction between you and a partner. You are learning to face and resolve emotional needs fairly and openly in your associations.

The Moon is trine the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Medina, Saudi Arabia; Mecca, Saudi Arabia; Port Sudan, Sudan.

Partners may feed your emotions. Others appreciate/further your security needs. Your caretaking instincts assist your relationship choices. Your relationships feed your dependency needs. You can nurture and be nurtured by a partner. You can balance assertion and assistance in relationships. Your associates may compensate for your vulnerabilities. Others appreciate your homing instincts. Your relationships support your receptivity. Intuition and sensitivity are important relating tools for you here.

Mercury is opposite the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Nouakchott, Mauritania; Dakar, Senegal; Banjul, Gambia.

You are likely to focus on your mind, with an instinctive need to communicate. Talking comes naturally to you here, and you may have to work a bit on listening equally in relationships. Gathering and disseminating information will appeal to you. You can be logical, adaptable and flexible and might be capable of more objectivity about your relationships than usual.

Your curiosity is in high focus in this area; you will be ever-eager to learn and may relate to a wide variety of people socially. Because your mind works more quickly in this area, you can debate well (and may leap to conclusions or make rash statements). You can also use words as weapons with irony, sarcasm and satire. You will be most attracted to people who are interesting and bring you new input. Your mind, tongue, fingers or body need to be on the go almost all the time here.

Mercury is square the Descendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You may have some communication blocks or gaps in your relationships. Quick-tongued and sharp-tongued exchanges are possible with those you love. You may have a different view of "the facts" than your peers. The balance between listening and talking may be out of whack in your associations. You may find it easy to scatter in relating to others. Logic can be a useful tool in your associations with others. Adaptability/flexibility may be a challenge for you or those you love. Relatives (or in-laws) may create some conflict in your partnership. Curiosity may bring up uncomfortable issues for you or a partner. Emotional needs may compete with rational thinking; keep a balance. You are learning objectivity and positive detachment within a caring matrix.

Mercury is trine the Descendant.

Your partner(s) support communication. Your significant other favors gathering information. Your coupling instincts are fed through listening/talking. Your partners may promote logic. Your desire for equality promotes adaptability and flexibility. You enjoy learning with others. Your coupling instincts are fed through awareness and perceptiveness. Your partner may be dextrous. You enjoy observant, discerning people. Others appreciate your thinking or verbal skills.

Venus is opposite the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Tunis, Tunisia; Niamey, Niger; Tamale, Ghana; Kumasi, Ghana; Accra, Ghana; Sekondi-Takoradi, Ghana.

You have the capacity to truly like yourself here. Natural sensuality is accented; you appreciate the good things in life, particularly food, drink and sexual or sensual pleasures. Material gratifications will be important in your relationships. You might, however, be a bit self-indulgent here. You are likely to pursue comfort and ease and may prefer a life of stability. You not only know how to enjoy life, you can bring gratification to others as well. Love is more of a priority. You want relationships--pleasure from people as well as the physical senses.

You can be sweet as well as passionate, energetic as well as charming. Your affections are nearer the surface here; you are ready for love. You could get quite active in seeking a relationship or in a focus on equality, balance or justice. You may define yourself more in material terms here; do not tie your self-worth too closely to monetary success.

You may increase your appreciation for beauty and talent in the arts, or focus on increasing your personal attractiveness or grace. You and a partner could enjoy dancing, skating, skiing or other forms of grace in motion. You will want to give more weight to partnerships and close, emotional ties with others as well as general pleasure in life.

Venus is square the Descendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You may feel that your partner inhibits your capacity for pleasure. Relationship needs may compete with your urge to indulge sensually. Your relationships are unlikely to be easy and harmonious as you would like. Your partner might be opposed to your desire for stability/predictability. Sweetness (too much or too little) is a likely issue in your relationships. Financial clashes with a partner are possible. You and your associates may disagree about what is enjoyable in life. Bullheadedness (by you or others) could create challenges in your interpersonal exchanges. You are learning to use grace and charm wisely with those you love.

Venus is trine the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city:

Lahore, Pakistan.

A partner may feed your desire for pleasure. Your relating needs promote sensuality. Your attachments support the urge for comfort/ease. Your significant other may be attracted to involvement with tangible beauty, hedonism, money or grace and harmony. People close to you may appreciate your stability/predictability. You savor/favor sweetness in others. You prefer pleasantness--seeking to establish a smooth, easy flow within your relationships. You enjoy material gratification with partners.

Mars is square the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Mashhad, Iran; Mombasa, Kenya; Tanga, Tanzania; Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania; Morogoro, Tanzania; Blantyre, Malawi; Thohoyandou, Venda; Maseru, Lesotho; Port Elizabeth, South Africa.

You may feel inner tension between doing what you want and satisfying a partner. You could feel torn between assertion and accommodation. You may feel ambivalent regarding your rights in a relationship. You may experience conflicts around independence versus dependence. Temper flashes (by you or by a partner) are possible in your associations. You may face challenges in developing a healthy sense of personal power while still sharing your life with someone. You and/or a partner may feel torn between spontaneity and safety. You could end up competing with those you love. You may struggle with your own desires, unsure of what you have a right to, and when you should give in to the other person. You are learning to balance personal needs and interpersonal drives for mutual satisfaction.

Mars is trine the Descendant.

Assertion helps you get what you want in relationships. Being yourself promotes more understanding in your associations. Your significant other may aid independence. Expressing anger and dealing with it constructively keep your associations healthy. You need a sense of personal power within any partnership. Others appreciate your spontaneity. Satisfying immediate needs could be a focus with those you love. Your associates enjoy/appreciate your desires.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Bangalore, India.

See previous aspect for interpretation

Jupiter is opposite the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Oran, Algeria; Bamako, Mali; Kankan, Guinea; Monrovia, Liberia.

Your beliefs, values and confidence are in high focus in this area. You may be energetic, enthusiastic, and optimistic. You might believe wholly in yourself, and could overreach, wanting more than is possible. You may be insatiable in relationships as well as other areas. Your ideals and goals could be vast and larger than life, with a tendency to constantly seek more, better or higher in some fashion. You may overextend yourself, promise more than you can deliver to others, and try to do everything in a grand style. Or, your urge to travel and seek broadened horizons could take you away from partners or partnership. (Share the quest.)

An alternate possibility is feeling frustrated by life because your ideals and goals are set too high. You may opt not to even try, rather than fall short of your ideal images. An attitude of "perfect or not at all" might hamstring your efforts. In such a case, you may give up on associations, feeling you cannot get what you really want anyway. (Keep reasonable aspirations for yourself and others.)

You can be quite restless and need associations which support your courage, confidence, independence and desire for adventure and excitement. You can sometimes go "where angels fear to tread," and may believe you handle almost anything that comes up. You will deal best with people who feed your open, frank, generous, and philosophical side.

Jupiter is square the Descendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Ideals and goals could be an arena of conflict in your relationships. You and a partner may clash over philosophy/religion. Your beliefs may differ from those you love. You may need to learn to compromise with others in regard to values. You or a partner could sometimes act against your better judgment. Your partnership may deal with moral or ethical issues. You may expect too much (or too little) of a partner--or s/he of you. Your partner may face challenges around optimism (rash or overly cautious). Relating needs may compete with a quest for the truth. Your desire for emotional closeness may feel at odds with your drive for expanded horizons. You or a partner may want (seek) the impossible dream (more than is possible) in relationships. Your challenge is to visualize the best, encourage the highest in each other, and recognize that relationships are constantly in process.

Jupiter is trine the Descendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Your partner may support your ideals and goals.

Your associations may contribute to philosophy/religion/spiritual quests. Those you love need to support your beliefs. Your partner may feed your values. Morality/ethics contribute to positive flow in your associations. Your significant other favors optimism. A quest for the truth helps you build better relationships. Partners may feed your drive for expanded horizons. Humor enhances your exchanges with other people. You can make the most of interpersonal opportunities.

Saturn is conjunct the Descendant.

This area emphasizes issues of authority, power, limits, anxiety, control, fear, time, responsibility and competence in relationships. One option is avoiding relationships for fear of being controlled, hurt, put-down or rejected. Another choice is to marry a "father figure"--someone who seems strong, responsible, stable, dependable and usually ends up dominating, dictatorial and demanding. Or, you may unconsciously adopt the "father" role and attract people who want to lay all their burdens on your shoulder and hand the responsibility for their lives over to you.

The key issue is SHARED responsibility and competence. You may work with people--either a people-oriented profession (e.g., counseling, consulting, personnel, etc.) or literally sharing a job or tasks with a partner. This helps to channel the judgmental, flaw-finding focus into the physical tasks, rather than into picking one another apart as people. You may also work AT your relationships, seeking to constantly improve, strengthen and lengthen your commitments. As long as both people are motivated in this direction, it works well. You can be quite willing to be practical and realistic about relationship issues, facing facts squarely and willing to work at making things better.

Saturn is square the Descendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You and a partner may clash over views of responsibility. Realism may be a challenge in your relationships. You could feel torn between the role of peer and the role of authority. You may not always be practical where partners are concerned. You are learning to work within life's rules where other people are involved. Love needs may seem to conflict with career drives. Feeding your people associations may compete with status ambitions. You may attract people that try to dominate you (or expect you to dominate them). Much of your learning about people will come through direct experience. Discipline and effort may be essential ingredients in your interpersonal exchanges. Self-doubts and insecurities could hinder your creation of a successful partnership. You are learning to build on your strengths with others, to take practical, step-by-step approaches to improving your emotional ties.

Saturn is sextile the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Rawalpindi, Pakistan; Multan, Pakistan; Hyderabad, Pakistan; Karachi, Pakistan; Toamasina, Madagascar.

Others appreciate your sense of responsibility. Your relationships are able to face reality. You can be strong and still share the power. Your partner may promote practicality. You can deal constructively with limits in your associations. You are able to balance love and work drives. Your partner may assist your status ambitions. Your significant other supports the wisdom of experience. Your relating instincts favor discipline/effort.

Uranus is square the Descendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Feelings of closeness may conflict with intellectual distance in your associations. Freedom instincts may compete with needs for attachment. You may sometimes feel torn between friends and loved ones. Your partner's needs may conflict with your humanitarian instincts. A desire for change or variety might threaten your emotional commitments. Your partner may sometimes seem erratic, unpredictable or even strange. Eccentricity may be carried too far by you or your partner. You are learning to be best friends with a partner, open to and tolerant of one another's individuality.

Uranus is trine the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Alexandria, Egypt; Pointe-Noire, Congo; Matadi, Zaire.

You support individuality within a committed matrix. You aid/assist freedom drives in yourself and others. Your partner may enjoy/appreciate your inventiveness. You like originality in your partner. Your coupling instincts are fed through humanitarian acts. You assist detachment in sharing interactions. You may share an interest in the future with a partner. Your associates enjoy/appreciate your eccentricity. You can be open and tolerant in interpersonal exchanges.

Neptune is opposite the Descendant.

You are likely to personally identify with idealism in this area. You can be quite compassionate, romantic, and drawn to helping or healing activities. If your desire to believe the best of people and life is overdone, others might take advantage of your good nature or desire to trust that everyone means well. You could be trapped by the role of savior, martyr or victim.

Alternately, you may idealize freedom and personal action, believing that the most important thing in life is being true to yourself. You could rationalize bluntness as honesty and proselytizing as eagerness to share inspiration. In such a case, making a commitment with anyone else could be a true challenge. Your ideals are vital to your now, but keep them somewhat in tune with reality.

You may increase your physical attractiveness or grace, and could exhibit beauty in motion (gymnastics, dancing, skiing, etc.). A focus on art or aesthetics may be very rewarding in your interpersonal interactions. You may fight for worthy causes (especially for the underdog) and need to be sure that your mystical, magical, rescuing side does not set up escapist or co-dependent traps in your committed relationships. spiritual or religious themes can provide an example of grace, harmony and forgiveness that you share with another, without one person expecting the other to provide "happily ever after." You may be quite intuitive, empathic and tuned in to others. You could sometimes do the right thing instinctively, without knowing why.

Neptune is trine the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Agra, India.

You support idealism in relating. Your quest for infinite love and beauty seeks a shared outlet with another. Intuition may assist understanding in your interpersonal exchanges. You may be attracted to savior/victim entanglements. Others may appreciate or enjoy your compassion. Partners might feed your quest for Oneness/Union. Teamwork can enhance your visualization skills and imagination may be a helpful tool within your associations with others.

Pluto is square the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Tehran, Iran; Abadan, Iran; Addis Ababa, Ethiopia; Jima, Ethiopia; Mwanza, Tanzania; Ndola, Zambia; Kitwe, Zambia; Lusaka, Zambia.

Sharing the power with a mate (particularly over money and sex) may be a challenge. Self-mastery might be overdone by you or a partner (to the point of withdrawal). You may feel torn between intimacy instincts and a desire to be alone. Inner understanding and deep analysis must be a part of your social exchanges. Anger, resentment or violence might be important issues to face with partners. Your tendency is to probe very deeply at the motives or yourself and others. You can be quite strong and forceful (sometimes too much) and may choose partners who accentuate those qualities. You and a mate are learning self-control out of respect of the rights of the other person, and practicing giving, receiving, and sharing pleasures and possessions with one another.

Pluto is trine the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Ibadan, Nigeria; Abeokuta, Nigeria; Lagos, Nigeria.

You support intensity in relating. You aid/assist the drive for self-mastery within yourself and your partner. You can enjoy intimacy with others. Your desire to share can feed your sexual needs/drives. You are eager to transform within relationships. Knowing when to forgive and forget is important for you and your partner. You may attract someone probing, intense and emotional.

Pluto is sextile the Descendant.

Chiron is square the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania; Blantyre, Malawi; Beira, Mozambique; Mbabane, Swaziland; Umtata, Transkei; Bisho, Ciskei; Oos-Londen, South Africa; Port Elizabeth, South Africa.

An urge to know MORE (yours or your partner's) may compete with time to share. Ideals and aspirations may seem to separate you from other people. A committed relationship may not combine easily with your urge to go beyond known boundaries. You or a partner may wish to experiment/take risks in relationships. How your partnership IS may conflict with expectations (yours or your mate's) of how it SHOULD be. Your challenge is to seek the ultimate in relationships, while still enjoying the journey TOWARD perfection.

Chiron is trine the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Madras, India.

You are attracted to people who always want to know MORE. You support the quest for perfection in partnership. You can go beyond known boundaries in interpersonal exchanges. You enjoy/appreciate experimenting and taking risks in relationships. Your relating needs promote freedom within commitment.

Ceres is conjunct the Descendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Themes of nurturing, competence, support and productivity are highlighted within your relationships here. You are likely to face old feelings about your mother (or mother figure). Whether she was a positive or a negative role model for peer relationships, you will be dealing with her influence and example of how TO share (or how NOT to share) with others. Capability is a significant theme. If these motifs are not shared, you may end up playing Earth Mother in relationships (taking care of everything, doing all the work, constantly being supportive). Alternately, you may seek someone else to be a permanent Earth Mother in your life.

If you share these themes with a partner, you both likely to emphasize competence, dedication and responsibility. You will enjoy "being there" for one another. Family and nurturing may be a strong bond between you. You might work together and raise one another's productivity. You are able to take turns caring for another and genuinely enjoy being supportive of each other.

Ceres is square the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city:
Agra, India.

Unequal nurturing could be an issue between you and a partner. Work demands may seem to take you away from sharing with a spouse (or vice versa). Tensions in your committed relationship could affect your health. Domestic duties may seem unfairly divided. You are learning to be dedicated and helpful to others, without doing too much, and still able to receive assistance as well.

Ceres is sextile the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities:
Esfahan, Iran; Riyadh, Saudi Arabia; Addis Ababa, Ethiopia; Mwanza, Tanzania; Ndola, Zambia; Lusaka, Zambia; Cape Town, South Africa.

Your partner may feed your nurturing instincts. You seek to handle relationships with quiet competence. Your relationships may contribute to your health (positively or negatively). Your associates may feed your drive for productivity. You can balance love and work, ease and effort. You can enjoy/appreciate your partner's analytical capacities. A nurturing or parental figure may assist your relationships, or a partner may be helpful to you in sharing caretaking tasks or protective activities.

Pallas is opposite the Descendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Your drive for equality is in high focus here. You may be willing to fight for fair play, for justice, and for balance and even-handedness. This could include a competitive streak that is best directed to sports, games, business or fighting for causes. (It is not advisable to compete in relationships intended to be cooperative.)

You are apt to identify with relationships, to learn about yourself through interactions with others. Having a partner is more important to you here; you make it a priority. You are working on the balance between personal and interpersonal needs. The challenge is to share the power equally with someone else, neither demanding everything on your terms, nor giving in totally to someone else's preferences. Taking turns will help to keep a balance.

Pallas is square the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities:
Catania, Italy; Tripoli, Libya; Porto-Novo, Benin; Lome, Togo.

Independence may compete with equality/sharing in your life. You may be unsure how to handle your aesthetic instincts and desires. A lack of equality could create strife in your associations. You need to seek a sense of justice with others. A lack of balance discomforts you; you must keep room for personal needs as well as those of a partner. You are learning to love with an open hand, to have freedom within a commitment.

Pallas is trine the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities:
Asmera, Ethiopia; Gonder, Ethiopia; Kampala, Uganda; Kigali, Rwanda; Bujumbura, Burundi; Likasi, Zaire.

You relate best on an equal level. Your partner may be aesthetically talented. You can enjoy/appreciate your competition. Justice could be highlighted in your associations with others. You support balance and harmony in relationships. This placement highlights a desire for sharing and an orientation toward fair play. Partnership is a priority. You may enjoy comparing and contrasting people, or weighing pros and cons with those you love.

Juno is conjunct the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Niamey, Niger; Accra, Ghana; Sekondi-Takoradi, Ghana.

You are working with issues of intimacy, emotional commitment, beauty, competition, cooperation and sharing in your relationships. You could attract partners who are very attractive physically, partners who have artistic talent, or partner who themselves want beauty or grace. You might become enveloped in highly competitive interactions, although cooperation is also possible. Appearances are apt to matter, so "looking good" to the outside world may be very important to you or your partner. Power struggles in regard to shared resources are possible until you and your partner learn to comfortably share possessions. You might get involved with people who want more of a commitment (a legal bond) than you do. Emotional intensity and depth of caring could be issues between you.

If these issues are shared, you are likely to choose someone who is eager to meet you on the same level. You may jointly be involved with beauty or art. You may enjoy each other's looks, skills and generally want to do things together. You are likely to take pleasure in satisfying one another and naturally incline toward sharing your resources. You will feel a deep desire to bond with one another, to "pledge your troth" in the most intense, committed manner possible. You want a deep, emotional connection with another.

Juno is square the Descendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Clashing ideas about marriage/partnership are likely between you and others. Differing visions of beauty, equality and grace may arise. Opposing viewpoints in regarding to handling money, possessions and pleasures are possible. You may fall into power struggles or confrontations over finances or sex. You and a partner may have different opinions of what love is (and how to express it). Learn to speak each other's language of love! Intense emotional reactions are likely in your close associations; don't brood. Do strive to work things out and release negativity. You are capable of a passionate commitment, and need equal fervor from the other.

Juno is sextile the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Ahmadabad, India.

Marriage/partnership is likely to appeal to you. You are probably more focused on the positive potential of committed relationships. You may also feel a need to add to the beauty (especially visual) in the world. Other people may appreciate or enjoy sharing with you. You can be quite charming or graceful in people exchanges. Your relating needs promote intimacy.

Vesta is opposite the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Dakar, Senegal.

You need to function efficiently here. You may identify with your accomplishments, and downgrade yourself when feeling unproductive. You need tangible results from your efforts--measurable references of your dedication and discipline. Remember to pat yourself on the back for what you have done already (not just noticing what remains to be done). Your work may pull you away from relationship needs because feeling useful is very important. You can, however, be practical and sensible in your associations, and work on improving any relationships.

You may instinctively find flaws. You could fall into a "fix-it" approach. If self-directed, you could be too critical of yourself. If you are too judgmental and harsh, you might inhibit yourself from forming emotional bonds. Remember to note your assets as well as your flaws. A focus on what is wrong can help you to make it right, but is best directed at physical projects--not at yourself or at other people.

You could be quite pragmatic here. Your organizational skills are highlighted, and you may be quite good at handling details. Put some of those skills into improving your interpersonal interactions.

Vesta is square the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Nagpur, India; Hyderabad, India; Bangalore, India.

You may look for efficiency in your interpersonal associations. Tensions in your committed relationship could affect your health. Flaw-finding (by you or a partner) could inhibit the easy flow of love. Pragmatism might be overdone (or lacking) within your relationships. Work and love may compete for energy and time in your life. A "fix-it" approach can help you build better relationships--if not overdone. Sometimes you (or those you love) get stuck in tunnel vision; cultivate flexibility. Your willingness to work on improvement can be a real asset in your relationships.

Vesta is trine the Descendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Mashhad, Iran; Aden, Yemen; Hargeysa, Somalia; Mombasa, Kenya; Tanga, Tanzania; Morogoro, Tanzania; Thohoyandou, Venda; Pretoria, South Africa; Johannesburg, South Africa; Klerksdorp, South Africa; Welkom, South Africa; Bloemfontein, South Africa; Maseru, Lesotho.

Efficient functioning with other people matters to you. Your relationship may affect your health (pro or con). Your flaw-finding instincts can help your enhance your interpersonal exchanges. Partners may feed your pragmatism. Your partner may exhibit organizational skills. You can enjoy/appreciate a "fix-it" approach to relationships. You may sometimes exhibit tunnel vision in regard to other people. You need ways to measure progress in your associations, to see tangible evidence of improvement.
