Introduction

A Lunar Return is a chart cast for the moment when the transiting Moon (the Moon as it appears in the sky each day) "returns" to the same spot in the zodiac which it held at your birth. This event happens about every 29 days (almost once a month). The horoscope calculated for that moment is considered indicative of your next month. The interpretations which follow offer some of the positive (and not-so-positive) issues and choices you are likely to face in the coming month. Suggestions are made to help you make the most of your future potentials.

Section One: Major and Repeated Messages

What is most important within your Return chart is themes which are repeated. There are up to four different ways repeated messages can appear in a Return:

- (1) a stellium (three or more planets occupying the same house)
- (2) aspect configurations (three or more planets aspecting each other)
- (3) conjunctions to angles
- (4) shared planetary themes.

If any of these four occur in your Return horoscope, they are interpreted below.

Stellia

When three or more bodies occupy one house of a Return chart, they indicate you are strongly focused on the matters of that house. Satisfaction is most likely if you express the positive potentials of the emphasized house(s). Ignoring that house or not thinking about how you will manifest its potentials is more likely to invite problems. Create constructive choices.

Your return chart has a stellium in the 1st house.

Defining yourself is a focus. You may be concerned more with your physical body, your appearance, your energy, or your ability to go after what you want in the world. Issues may surface around assertion, anger, personal desires, freedom, or self-expression.

Aspect Configurations

Another form of repeated emphasis is aspect configurations. When several planets are tied together by aspects (angular relationships such as 90°, 180°, etc.), they have more significance. Both negative and positive options are discussed for any aspect configurations which are present in your Return.

Your Return Chart has no aspect configurations within orb.

Conjunctions to Angles

The angles of the horoscope (e.g., Ascendant, Midheaven) are formed by intersections of great circles (such as the celestial equator and the ecliptic or Earth's path around the Sun). These angles operate as sensitive points. A significant event or focus is likely when a planet conjuncts an angle. This section discusses the conjunctions made by Return (or natal) planets to the angles of the Return. As usual, both positive and negative alternatives are provided.

When the same planet, both natively and in your Return, conjuncts an angle, text regarding that planet is printed in boldface, to indicate extra emphasis.

Return Sun Conjunct The Ascendant

Self-esteem issues are in focus. You probably want to do something significant that will gain positive attention and feedback. Personal action may center on creativity, children, or risk-taking. Personal pride (for good or ill) takes center stage. A strong desire to give and receive love, admiration and recognition is likely. Willfulness is more marked; confidence may be higher than usual. This is your time to shine and show your specialness to the world!

Since the Sun rules your 12th house natively, shifts are possible in terms of compassion, forgiveness, psychic openness, infinite love and beauty, artistic yearnings, savior instincts, victim impulses, quest for Oneness.

Natal Venus Conjunct The Westpoint

"Love is in the air." The urge is for more pleasure from relationships. You may meet a new partner or deepen a current commitment. Shared sensuality and/or beauty and art become more important. Money matters may be affected by your involvements with other people. Gratification appeals. You prefer harmony, ease, balance and sensual indulgences.

Since Venus rules your 2nd house natally, relationships with others may change in regard to money (self-earned), physical pleasures (eating, drinking, smoking, sex), sensuality, comfort, beauty, ease, passivity, follow-through.

Since Venus rules your 9th house natally, relationships with others may change in regard to education, philosophy, religion, travel, anything mind-expansive, growth, big schemes and dreams, beliefs, values, long-term goals.

Return Mars Conjunct The MC

This can be a high-energy time for you in your work. Much drive and ambition lie at your fingertips. The urge is strong, however, to do your work in your own way, on your own terms. If you carry the willfulness too far, arguments with authority figures (possibly including the boss) could occur. You can accomplish much during this period as you have the potential to channel lots of enterprise and enthusiasm into pioneering projects. You're ready to really get things moving along! You could also change jobs, or might take steps toward self-employment.

Since Mars rules your 8th house natally, life structure changes are possible, involving intimacy, transformations, intense emotions, sexuality, shared possessions and resources, money from or through others, resentment/forgiveness.

Natal Jupiter Conjunct The Ascendant

Self-confidence is apt to be higher than usual, but so are your dreams and aspirations. Reaching for the best is the theme, and you may be impatient about getting to the heights. You may express yourself through philosophy, travel, religion, writing or spiritual quests. You could enjoy expanding your social horizons and just having a good old time. Good will from others is possible; your social image may be enhanced. You want to do everything well and have everything be wonderful!

Since Jupiter rules your 4th house natally, you may change your behavior in terms of dependency, nurturance, home, domestic environment, children, public, caretaking, emotional support, vulnerability, security, nurturing parent.

Natal Saturn Conjunct The Ascendant

You must face the issue of limits in terms of your personal action. This could be experienced literally (physically) or in terms of career demands and responsibilities. You are learning to be realistic, without falling into inhibition, self-criticism or depression. By focusing on what you can accomplish, you encourage your competent, achieving side. Your energy flows easily into getting things done. Finishing commitments, tying up loose ends, and organizing your actions lead to satisfaction. Take control where appropriate.

Since Saturn rules your 5th house natally, you may change your behavior in terms of children, lovers, fun, creativity, recreation, speculation, sexuality, risk-taking, drive for excitement, self-esteem, pride, star quality.

Natal Uranus Conjunct The Vertex

You are oriented toward opening up relationships. Ties which seem too confining may be broken (by you or others). If the people involved both have a sense of uniqueness, individuality and personal freedom, all will be well. If either party's independence is being denied, sudden changes could occur. Breaking loose or breaking free may be done consciously or unconsciously. Being best friends with partners works very well.

Since Uranus rules your 6th house natally, relationships may be affected by productivity, efficiency, health (and illness), work routines, details, competence, "fix-it" approach, flaw-finding instincts, analysis.

Themes

This report watches for commonalities between the planets making conjunctions to the angles of your Return chart. Any themes or issues held by two or more highlighted planets are listed here.

Active

This is likely to be an eventful period as learning through changes in outer circumstances is suggested. You could alter yourself (or sense of identity), your home (or change relationships to family members), your partnership(s) or your work in the world. Competition between different life areas is likely. Make a place for personal freedom and self-expression, dependency and nurturance (with pets, plants, family, etc.), equalitarian relationships, and power and achievement in the real world. Balance self, others, family and career.

Willful

Possessions and pleasures are the current focus. You may end up in power struggles around sex, money, or joint resources. Your challenge is to give, receive and share pleasures and possessions with others. Find a middle ground between your desires and theirs. Don't swing to over-indulgence in food, sex, spending, saving, etc. Also avoid excessive denial or withdrawal. Sensuality is highlighted and this could be a very gratifying period. Share good food, making love, massages, beauty, and other physically satisfying activities.

"Give Me Liberty!"

Personal independence is in strong focus. You need to feel free, and are likely to resist being pinned down, tied down, limited or restricted in any way. Eager to act, to do, to move, sports or other expressive, no-holds-barred activities could be a good outlet. Seek out ways to do your own thing which do not disrupt relationships, work, or areas of life which require compromises. Do take time to define what you want as an individual--just for yourself--and pursue it. Exploring or adventuring (physically or mentally) may appeal.

"A Thing of Beauty Is a Joy Forever."

Beauty and aesthetics are highlighted for this period. You may take up, or get more deeply into, an artistic hobby or pursuit. Possibilities run the gamut, including (but not limited to) sculpture, fabrics, pottery, architecture, design, interior decorating, sewing, photography, painting, graphics, music, landscape gardening, etc. You are also likely to want life to be pleasant and easy. Don't carry passivity, or looking for the easy way, too far. Do look for opportunities to enjoy life and to bring more beauty into your world.

Risks and Rewards

An air of adventure pervades. You are willing to risk for greater gain. You may gamble, speculate, invest, or otherwise spend money, time, resources, and energy to seek increased rewards. You could pioneer, becoming a ground breaker in a new area. You may decide to go out on your own vocationally, or seek more excitement in relationships, or take off in a totally new direction in life. Your courage is highlighted. You are attuned to future possibilities. Don't be too rash or foolhardy, but do go for all you're capable of getting.

Empowering

Dominance and a desire for personal authority and control are emphasized. Now is the time for you to call the shots in your life. You may make a major move vocationally to increase your power. Political action may beckon. You could end up in a leadership role among friends, loved ones, associations or groups. Avoid falling into power struggles with friends or loved ones. Channel your drive to win, to be on top, to make things happen into competitive sports, games, business, or fighting for worthy causes.

Transpersonal Issues

This is a period to consider the greatest good for the greatest number. You need to go beyond yourself and personal relationships. You might be drawn toward religious or spiritual activities; toward political action or social causes; toward groups and associations; toward a higher impact on the world through your work, etc. Looking at the big picture is emphasized. Consider long-range results and how you fit into--and contribute to--the wider world. Seek a sense of connection to a greater cause, power, ideal or goal in your life.

Looking Forward

You are likely to have a strong feeling for the future now. You may further develop talent for visualizing and imaging what lies ahead, for planning future goals. A progressive bent to the mind is possible. You might sometimes live more for the future than in the present (if this theme is overdone)--perhaps dreaming great dreams, but not really grounding them. When constructively applied, this theme highlights creative, groundbreaking abilities to bring the new into being, to reach for the stars. The optimistic tenor of this motif often contributes to a confident thrust into life. You are probably willing to try, to pioneer, to move ahead as you tend to trust the future, and believe that what lies ahead will be even better.

"----- The Torpedoes; Full Speed Ahead!"

Productive accomplishment is a major message. You'll feel best if you focus on what you can do during this period. Both the confidence to begin and the endurance to finish up are highlighted. You can pioneer and open up new territory for yourself, and still achieve a great deal. The current focus is one affecting the outer world. There will be other times for more introspection and inner work. Now is the moment to "seize the day" and go after your goals. Be careful what you want--you are likely to get it!

Comedian

Laughter and lightness are emphasized. Your funny bone is more accessible. Make time for fun. Skills are likely with entertainment, advertising, promotion, sales, teaching, drama, or general socializing. You may be more extraverted than usual. Able to take life more lightly, you can help others rise above their trials and tribulations. The time is appropriate to enjoy yourself. Of course you can be productive as well, but the accent is more on relaxation and seeking out new, exciting experiences.

Sensible

Rationality is emphasized. Your problem-solving skills are highlighted, with an excellent grasp of the practicalities of life. Able to combine theory and practice, you can figure out what the issues are and take sensible steps to solve them. Now is an excellent period for communicating about and at work, for business training, for any kind of mental focus about real-world tasks. Budgeting comes more easily. You can use logic well. Apply your mind to your job for best results.

Section Two: Balancing Pain and Pleasure

This section looks at the dynamics involved in your next 29 days. Planets involved in many interactions are more significant. Thus, the first portion of this section ("Most Aspected Planets") lists any planets (or points) which had a higher than average number of aspects, and provides a description of the issues those planets highlight. Its major intent is to provide helpful suggestions of pitfalls to avoid and strengths on which to build.

The second portion ("Aspects in Detail") discusses each planetary pair separately. Each pair points to drives and desires you will be working on. Both challenges and opportunities are explained. In this section, aspects involving the Sun, Moon, Mercury, Venus, or Mars are listed first as they are most likely to be personally relevant. Aspects to the outer planets (Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, Pluto) and asteroids (Ceres, Vesta, Pallas, Juno, Chiron) are listed last as they are less personally relevant (unless aspected many times).

Watch for repeated messages. If certain concepts recur, pay more attention to them. When the same pair of planets are aspected by Return to Return planets as well as by Return to natal planets, the interpretation will appear in boldface, indicating extra importance.

Most Aspected Planets

VENUS

Pleasure is the name of the game! Your "job" is to enjoy--both the world of the senses (eating, making love, collecting possessions, making money, creating beauty) and the world of other people (loving and being loved). Don't overindulge or get stuck in a materialistic viewpoint. Do be good to yourself and pamper the people closest to you as well. Affection flows more easily, and physical, tactile contact can be very rewarding. Consider sharing love lists (what you appreciate about each other) with a partner.

SATURN

This period could be like a report card. The universe is giving you feedback about your choices to date. Positive feedback means you're on the right track. Negative feedback means it's time to try alternative paths. Being grounded, responsible, and reliable is your best bet. Use your common sense. Pay attention to the rules and work within them (but don't let them make you afraid to try). Recognize realistic limits, but be willing to work beyond imaginary barriers.

PALLAS/JUNO

Beauty, balance, and bonding are in focus. You may wish to center your activities around a committed relationship: establishing one, or deepening a current connection. You might get more involved with beauty or aesthetics. You may become more concerned with issues of justice, equality, and fair play (for yourself and/or others). One-to-one interactions are an important part of your experience now; you understand yourself better through sharing with others.

VESTA

Efficient functioning is highlighted. The two most likely areas of focus are your work or your health. You may buckle down and be very dedicated toward improvement in either (or both areas). If you've ignored past warning signals, you might have to make up for some lost opportunities. You can be very productive during this period (but don't succumb to the extreme of workaholism). Analysis, discrimination, and critical judgment are stronger, but remember what's right as well as what's wrong!

Aspects in Detail

Aspects refer to angular relationships between the planets. The aspects used within this report are the conjunction (0°), square (90°), opposition (180°), and quincunx (150°). Only those four are used because they are most associated with events or an outer world focus. The nature of the aspect (square, conjunction, etc.) is less significant than the planets involved. Therefore, the delineations which follow are keyed to the planetary pair. (The same issues arise, for example, with Mars quincunx Saturn as with Mars opposite Saturn.)

Within these interpretations, you will find varied possibilities. Multiple options always exist. There are as many ways to express a given pair of planets as there are people on Earth. We can only cover some of the potentials. This report aims to provide a good overview and summary of the basic principles with which you are dealing with. The details will vary from person to person.

We also suggest some ways you may wish to express the potentials involved. Focusing on the positive alternatives and bringing them into being makes negative expressions much less likely. We will always include some positive alternatives to help you improve and enhance your life.

Return Mars square Natal Venus

Sexual attraction or excitement is possible. Sensual drives are in high focus, so you may be drawn to indulge in food, alcohol, spending money, or making love with great gusto. Your energy and enthusiasm are directed toward pleasure--which could come through material things, financial rewards, or satisfying relationships. Polarities are accented, so you may feel torn between being alone/being together; taking chances/playing it safe; active/passive, etc. Life requires a balance between opposing sides. Seek out win/win combinations which bring gratification to you and those around you.

Return Sun conjunct Natal Saturn

The down side can include limited vitality, inhibited self-esteem, inadequacy and shame. Ruthless ambition and power without compassion are other potential negative forms. Your creativity may feel blocked. The upside is exciting achievements, recognition for one's diligence, and taking the lead in practical matters. Now is the time to structure your recreation; plan for fame; pursue ambition sensibly; respect authority (and gain the respect of authorities); manifest artistic/creative talent (by taking it one step at a time); put a love relationship in order; work hard for ego gratification.

Moon opposite Return Uranus

This can be a period of emotional excitement. Surprises are possible. A new home (changes, moves, etc.) or different family members might emerge. You may feel a pull between roots and emotional safety, versus freedom and a desire for the new and different. If unresolved, emotional and nervous strain is possible. Look for ways to nurture your friends and be nurtured by them. Build a support network. Foster openness in the family. Feed everyone's individuality. Cherish and protect your inventiveness and flashes of insight. Keep a balance between a safe, protected nest and an ability to be outrageous, unusual, and innovative.

An unpredictable emotional life and emotional upsets are a down side of this combination. Your nurturing (given and received) may be erratic; friends may be moody. Surprises and sudden changes could affect your home, family, a parent, your parenting, or anyone you care for and who protects you. Strive for friendly nurturing. Keep a balance between attachment and independence. Support and be supported by friends. You may want to experiment with food; modernize your home; meet female astrologers; make friends with your mother; further equality for women; change your domestic arrangements; develop your intuition.

Return Venus opposite Natal Pluto

Pleasures are emphasized, with the question of personal versus shared pleasures in high focus. How much do you get what you want, versus satisfying a mate or partner? Who owns what? Who earns what? Who calls the shots financially? Can you give, receive, and share comfortably in terms of money and sensual/sexual experiences? Are you torn between indulging your appetites ("Eat, drink and be merry") versus demonstrating self-control? Now is the time to find a moderate middle ground that allows you to enjoy the material world and still be its master. Seek gratifying sensual contacts (massage, making love, sculpture, etc.).

Return Venus conjunct Return Juno Return Juno quincunx Natal Venus

Beauty and relationships are in high focus. You can be quite involved with appreciating--and creating--beauty in any form. Aesthetic skills are highlighted. You may be drawn to make a committed bond, or to strengthen an already existing relationship. The goal is a more equalitarian association--to share more, to truly take turns, to encourage each other's growth and development. Communication can be enhanced and awareness increased. Each of you can be more objective as well as affectionate and loving. Structure your life to provide more grace, harmony and pleasure.

Return Mars conjunct Natal Neptune

You are ready to actively pursue beauty, idealism, transcendence or escapism. This could lead to grace in action, e.g., beautiful sports. You might be spiritually energetic or fight for a worthy cause. You could be quite active in philanthropy or found your own religion (spiritual source). You may confront expectations and override idealizations, learning not to demand perfection. You might act on your dreams, pursuing plans to make a better or more beautiful world. You might run into a fantasy, a dream, drugs, or alcohol (if it seems easiest). You want to be all that you can, to become a truly spiritual, inspired entity.

Return Jupiter square Return Vesta

Expansion beckons in the area of work and health. You may want more from your job. Opportunities for advancement are possible. Also possible is demanding more than can be achieved, and feeling chronically dissatisfied with your accomplishments. You might even succumb to the lure of the "perfect job" and search endlessly for something that doesn't exist. You may want to ground your ideals in the world, turning dreams into reality. You could apply more confidence, persuasive skills, and enthusiasm toward your duties. A buoyant spirit and optimistic attitude could strengthen your physical functioning.

Return Saturn opposite Return Pallas

A serious attitude pervades your feelings about relationships and beauty. This could be a time to really get to work on artistic or aesthetic pursuits. You might make a major commitment or take on new responsibilities in a relationship. Or, you could feel very down about an association. Other people may seem like "a drag" and your inclination may be to avoid involvements. Criticism could be a problem--from you toward others or from others toward you. Sharing tasks helps to channel the fault-finding toward physical accomplishments rather than each other's personalities.

Return Saturn quincunx Return Chiron

A practical focus is brought to your visions. This can result in dashed dreams if you are overly critical, judgmental or harsh in your examination of goals, values, and hopes for the future. Another possibility is working out a sensible, step-by-step plan for achieving your ideals. You may take pragmatic action to make your dreams into reality. Insights gained through education, travel, writing, spiritual quests can now be applied in your work and in your life. You take responsibility for achieving long-range goals. You begin to practice your beliefs and live your mystical principles.

Return Pallas square Natal Uranus

Individuality is highlighted in relationships. This could point to a period of restlessness. You or a partner might pull away, feeling a need for space, wanting more independence. Issues of equality are likely to surface. You want justice and fair play and may try to alter associations which you feel are unfair. Now is the time to be friends with partners--open, tolerant, and eager for new experiences. Share things you've never done before. Try new directions. Experiment. If you enliven your relationship with occasional surprises, you can avoid disruption and keep a solid commitment. Encourage each other's uniqueness.

Section Three: Where Is It Happening in Your Life?

Each planet occupies a particular house in your Return. The houses define where and how your drives are best expressed. The needs of each planet will manifest most smoothly and helpfully if you focus on the constructive potentials of the houses occupied.

Although each body in the horoscope has its own message, watch for repeated themes. Issues which come up repeatedly in this section will be more central in your life during this Return. Suggestions will be offered to make the most of the options available to you.

Sun in the 12th

Romantic feelings may surface. You might be tempted to seek an ideal love. Fantasies could go too far, or co-dependent situations arise. Dramatic skills are excellent. The timing is good for promotional, advertising and public relations work. You can work well with illusions, magic, film, or anything involving the creative imagination.

Moon in the 7th

Nurturing and being nurtured by others is important. Family may become an issue in a relationship (to have children or not, discipline questions, in-laws, etc.). You need to feel supported and protected (and well as compassionate and caring) in your closest associations. Hugs and caresses are extra vital. Build strong bonds with a partner.

Mercury in the 1st

Your verbal expression may be easier and more flowing. Curiosity is strong and expressing yourself is essential. Increased bluntness could lead to arguments. Your mind and tongue are sharper (quicker) than usual so beware irony and sarcasm. You may be more of a comedian this year. Increased dexterity and flexibility are possible as well.

Venus in the 2nd

A laid-back lifestyle may appeal. You are ready to enjoy life and not push. Indulgence of your appetites is likely; you have a strong appreciation of life's pleasures. You may be drawn to artistic pursuits or interests. Your focus is on life's material "goodies" and beauty. Ease, comfort and aesthetics appeal.

Mars in the 9th

Faith and confidence are highlighted. You are ready to risk for thrills, excitement. You need to feel vital and alive; an adrenaline rush may appeal. Explore, adventure, travel, seek the truth. Now is the time to be active in defining your world view and in taking steps to make your dreams real. Move toward long-range goals.

Jupiter in the 4th

Examine your goals for your nest. Perhaps you wish to expand your home or enlarge your nurturing base. Ideals and ethics may become a focus with family members. Bring the world into your home (through books, people, intellectual discussions, travel). Focus on your emotional aspirations and find opportunities to make those dreams real.

Saturn in the 4th

You may be very aware of heavy family responsibilities. Don't take everyone else's troubles on your shoulders. Be willing to receive as well as give nurturing. You can bring practicality to emotional matters. Face reality about your roots, emotional support system (or lack thereof) and domestic duties. Avoid guilt or excessive burdens. Build security.

Uranus in the 1st

Personal uniqueness is vital. Be true to your inner essence. You could be erratic, rebellious, accident-prone or impulsive if you don't channel your individuality appropriately. You may wish to change your physical body or appearance, or alter your identity. You need freedom now, and can be more inventive, perceptive and brilliant.

Neptune in the 1st

You may seek infinite grace through the roles of saint, artist or victim. You could be more empathic, artistic and intuitive--or feel confused. You might overidealize self-expression or be inspired by courage, action and directness. Others may see you as more glamorous, mysterious or difficult to understand. You seek a direct, personal experience of wonder and awe.

Pluto in the 11th

An intense, probing attitude may pervade your friendships. You seek deeper understanding of the motives of people around you, in groups, and humanity at large. You may question desires, investigate obsessions. Unhealthy associations could be eliminated. Control and mastery of your world may be sought through technology, networking or the future.

Ceres in the 11th

Your urge to improve, enhance and repair may be directed toward friends, humanity, social causes, organizations, or the future. Avoid excessive nit-picking. You can put change, innovation, and inventiveness to work, combining theory and practice. Networking, new technology and flexibility strengthen your business prospects.

Pallas in the 10th

Work may flow a bit easier, with more cooperation, but relationships are apt to take more effort. A practical focus emerges for your associations with others. Be sensible, responsible, and willing to apply effort without being overly critical or judgmental. Shared tasks help bond you to another. Work together for best results.

Juno in the 2nd

Pleasure and comfort become more significant in your relationships. Material support may become more important--or just indulging and enjoying one another. Ease, grace, and a loving flow are what you want; just remember that human beings have conflicts too. Artistic energy is high as well. Teamwork flows smoothly.

Vesta in the 1st

Self-improvement is a focus. Self-discipline comes more easily and you seek ways to increase your productivity and efficiency. You may change your appearance, health habits, work procedures or everyday routines to enhance your life. Beware of excessive self-criticism. Count assets (not just flaws). Focus, accomplishment and competence are vital.

Chiron in the 11th

Get out into the world! Now is the time to be active in groups, to network with people, to socialize, to be exposed to many different ideas. Expand your mind! Consider new perspectives. Throw out old assumptions. Think about the future and start making plans for where you want to be 5, and 10 years from now. Enjoy your friends.

Conclusion

We hope that this report has helped to prepare you to make the most of your coming month. May you capitalize on your opportunities, minimize your challenges, and find your life very fulfilling.
